GOLD EATING WATER

SPARKLING LIQUID CHARGED WITH CYANIDE OF POTASSIUM.

Millions in the Yellow Metal Recovered by Percolation—A Simple but Interesting Process, With Results Which Are Nothing Less Than Marvelous.

It is not generally known, even in California, that millions of dollars in glittering gold are annually taken from rude heaps of base looking quartz by the gentle flowing of crystal water over huge piles of broken rocks that contain the precious metal, but such is the fact. "The process of robbing the earth of its gold has now been reduced to such a fine point," said Professor Price, "that the gentle flowing of water over the ore cleans it of its golden treasures, and this works well in cases where the old chloride and other methods are not so useful."

But the water of which Professor Price spoke is not so pure as it looks, though the eye could never distinguish it from that which is dipped by the old oaken bucket from a well in the deep tangled wildwood. The water used by miners in bringing gold from piles of mineral bearing quartz is charged with a simple chemical which has the potency to dissolve gold and hold it in solution.

In truth, the sparkling liquid which flows over hundreds of tons of quartz, trickles through the mines and seeks its level, laden with gold, is charged with a deadly poison, cyanide of potassium, a drug which ferrets out the minutest particles of the yellow metal, dissolves them and brings the precious burden to the vats for conversion into refined gold again.

The cyanide process is as noiseless and unerring as the laws of gravitation, doing its work as quietly as "the majestic dance of the hours," unimpeded by darkness or weather, by disasters of field or flood.

The state mining bureau of California was one of the first in the United States to investigate the merits of the cyanide process, and since the earliest investigations the method has found extensive application. It is so interesting that its results are nothing less than marvelous. This method of extracting both gold and silver from ores is based on the fact that even a very weak solution of cyanide of potassium dissolves gold and silver, forming respectively "auro-potassic cyanide" and "argento-potassic cyanide," in the language of the chemists.

This interesting process consists of treating the ores with a weak solution of potassium cyanide, usually by allowing the solution to percolate through the ore, or by agitating a mixture of the ore and solution. When this part of the operation is completed, the solution is separated from the solid material, and the gold and silver are precipitated in a metallic form. The process is modern in its application, though it has long been known that cyanide of potassium would "eat gold." During the last five years, however, the process has been introduced into almost every goldfield in California and elsewhere, and more than $20,000,000 have been recovered by the gentle flowing of waters charged with the magical chemical over heaps of ore. Aside from the thoroughness of the permeating water method, its economy is a marked feature in mining. It is in great favor with the gold mining companies of New Zealand and at Johannesburg, Africa, as well as in California.

One of the most advantageous features of the cyanide method is that it can be applied to many gold and silver ores generally called "rebellious" or "refractory." The rebellious ore is placed in a vat for percolation, and the solution is run preferably from the bottom by a pipe, rising slowly through the ore. The solution containing gold is carried through precipitating appliances into the final reservoir, where, robbed of its wealth of metal, it may be repumped into ore vats and again used for searching out the coveted metal.

One of the curious things about the solution is that a total percentage not stronger than an eighth of 1 per cent will carry away the gold almost as well as fluid of greater strength.

Precipitation is effected by the use of fine pieces of zinc, so arranged that when the rich waters flow over them the fine gold clusters in rich deposits over the zinc, for which it has an affinity. The gold which thus deserts the waters of cyanide deposits itself in the form of fine dust on the plates of zinc. The percentage of gold extracted by this process is very large. A large parcel of fine sulphurets from the Utica mines yielded an average of 93.18 per cent of the gold value under the cyanide treatment, and similar results have been experienced elsewhere in the state. The cyanide plants are being extended, and the noiseless process is everywhere becoming popular.—San Francisco Chronicle.

BRIEF MENTION.

M. E. concert Nov. 15.

Mrs. Melchert is visiting Chicago relatives.

Mrs. C. C. Copp and son, Stiles, have gone to Chicago to spend the winter.

Mrs. S. M. Stoddard and children returned home to Mionok, Ill., this morning after a visit with her sister, Mrs. W. S. Marquis.

Mr. and Mrs. Hudson Haley are having a month's visit from Mr. Haley's sister, Mrs. George Heath and son, Harry, of Annawan.

All lovers of music will miss a treat if they fail to attend the grand concert given by the First M. E. choir at the church Nov. 15. Admission 25 cents.

The Joliet branch of the National Letter Carriers' association has issued an invitation, a copy of which has been received in Rock Island, for the first annual ball Thanksgiving.

The Christian church congregation contemplates the erection of a new $15,000 edifice, this being necessary owing to the inadequacy of the present structure. Sunday the matter was finally shaped in the appointment of a building committee composed of M. A. Patterson, Mrs. M. H. Wadsworth, Virgil Warren, A. M. Parker and Rev. T. W. Grafton.

The Tri-City Railway company will hereafter run a through car from Davenport to Moline every Saturday and Sunday night. The car will leave Davenport at 12 o'clock, and has been christened the "Owl" car by the wayfarers who hunt for street cars at that hour of the night. It will start from Davenport promptly at the hour named and will be distinct from the cars which start immediately after the theatre.

The Rock Island County Christian Endeavor union will hold its sixth semi-annual convention at the Central Presbyterian church Friday afternoon and evening of this week. This union has now a membership of nearly 500 members, which are divided up into 13 societies, including the two local societies. All afternoon delegates will be served to supper in the basement free of charge. A fine program has been arranged.

A New Feature.

THE ANGUS publishes today the first of a series of articles on famous mysteries of crime. While this feature is not of the sensational order to the extent that it is repugnant to good taste, yet it is believed to be of timely importance and will be received by the patrons at certain intervals with interest. The articles are prepared with great care and are properly illustrated.

Rheumatism Runs Riot

When there is lactic acid in the blood. Liniments and lotions will be of no permanent benefit. A cure can be accomplished only by neutralizing this acid and for this purpose Hood's Sarsaparilla is the best medicine because Hood's Sarsaparilla is the only true blood purifier prominently in the public eye.

Hood's Pills act easily, yet promptly and effectively, on the liver and bowels. 25 cents.
