

OUTBURSTS OF EVERETT TRUE

A teacher was giving her boys a lesson in geology, and asked: "What are the two chief minerals obtained in England?" A boy readily answered: "Ginger beer and soda water."

Theodore Hook once bragged that he could make a pun on any subject. "Well, then," said a friend, "make one on the king." "The king is no subject," replied the wit.