

shaped brim and a black taffeta tam o'shanter crown. This has bunches of forget-me-nots at the back and side.

One of the very flat shapes is of cream colored leghorn braid. Across the front is a broad band of pale lavender uncut velvet, the same velvet forming a bow at the back, where the shape turns up abruptly. Long wheat ears and field flowers are placed at both sides of the crown, and a couple of wheat ears are unturned with the bow at the back.

A beautiful summer lingerie hat has already made its appearance and it is striking in many ways. It is made of white or black net, with a wired ruffle forming the brim. White roses with black hearts make the whole crown, while white leaves are used instead of green.

A light tan straw hat covered with cream chiffon and pushed up on one side to disclose yellow flowers, a bow with streaming ends and an ostrich feather in brown does not sound as fetching as it looks when worn perched over the left eye of a pretty girl.

FEMININE FACTS

Ohio has a woman tax assessor.

Japan contains 500,000 factory girls.

In Singapore women are employed as road builders.

There are four women who are now members of the Chinese parliament.

It is said that a woman has drawn the design for Canberra, the new capital of federated Australia.

In Sweden, where women have always had many rights, there is a law being urged which provides that women propose marriage, when disposed.

Women's clubs in Arkansas will take an active part in assisting, by the initiative, to secure an advanced child labor law for the state.

NOT CREDULOUS

"Seeing is believing," quoted the sage.

"Oh, I don't know. I see men every day whom I wouldn't believe under oath."—Cincinnati Enquirer.