

ONE CENT—LAST EDITION—ONE CENT

U. S. WILL NOT INTERVENE IN MEXICO
FEWER TOTS WORKING ON STATE ST.

THE DAY BOOK

An Adless Newspaper, Daily Except Sunday

VOL. 5, NO. 91

Chicago, Friday, January 14, 1916

398

IS OG. ARMOUR GOING TO STARVE? HARDLY!

He and Swift Should Worry—Big Coin Has Rolled in to Them in the Pig, Cow and Sheep
Killing Game

Chicago's slaughter houses are more than ever the world's greatest. Every report from the stock yards district shows the Swifts and Armours piling their personal fortunes higher and cinching more strongly every year their places among the world's families richest in personal command of cash and property.

Matching the Swift & Co. report two weeks ago of 18 per cent profits, Armour & Co.'s annual report yesterday show a business topping all past records. J. Ogden Armour can now write with perfect accuracy after his name: The World's Greatest Butcher of Beef, Sheep and Hogs. Reading the annual report, it is easy to understand why Armour could afford to build last year a fence or high stone wall on his Melody farm, near Lake Forest, at a cost of $60,000.

For the year ending Oct. 30, 1915, Armour & Co. sales were $425,000,000. This beats 1914 by $50,000,000.