

ARCHIBALD'S CASE TESTIMONY ENDS

Commerce Court Jurist Spends Four Hours in Replying to Senators.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 8.—The propriety of a federal judge's writing to an attorney on one side of a case that had been argued before him for information to clear up doubtful points became the point around which members of the senate yesterday first questioned at Judge Robert W. Archibald of the United States commerce court, under trial by impeachment.

Cross examination of the jurist, begun by Representative Sterling, one of the house managers who are conducting the prosecution, was virtually taken out of his hands when that charge was reached involving Judge Archibald's correspondence with Attorney Helm Bruce of the Louisville and Nashville railroad.

Members of the senate demanded of Judge Archibald time and again whether he did not think it improper and unfair to the other parties in a suit to request of one attorney an explanation or correction of evidence without giving like privileges to the other side. He insisted he thought there was nothing improper in his conduct.

Judge Archibald was on the stand nearly four hours. The end of all testimony in the case came before the close of the day's proceedings. There remain now only the closing arguments and the vote of the senate as to whether or not Judge Archibald is guilty of any of the charges against him.

The senate determined to give three days to the arguments, the time to be equally divided. It is expected at least five of the house managers will participate tomorrow.

The Louisville and Nashville charge centered about Judge Archibald's request of Attorney Bruce for information as to a certain point in the so-called Montgomery rate cases, which had been argued before the commerce court. Judge Archibald said he had differed with the rest of the court and in writing a dissenting opinion, he asked Mr. Bruce to clear up a controverted question about whether or not certain rate changes violated the old "Cooley arbitration" agreement, that had long operated over the south western rates.

He said the correspondence became of no consequence because later the other members of the court, excepting Judge Mack, took a view similar to his own, and Presiding Judge Knapp finally wrote an opinion favorable to the railroad.

"Was it not due to the arguments you got by writing Mr. Bruce that the court reversed its earlier position and gave a decision favorable to the Louisville and Nashville?" asked Representative Sterling.

"Absolutely not," said Judge Archibald. Senators Reed, Pomerene, Culberson, Shively, Nelson, Alike, Smith, and others plied Archibald with questions as to his intent and as to the propriety of his act.

"You set out, did you not, to write an opinion in favor of the railroad and you wanted Mr. Bruce to fortify

FERDINAND IS ALL BUT EMPEROR NOW; AUSTRIAN MONARCH, 82, NEARS END

Archduke Francis Ferdinand.

Archduke Francis Ferdinand, heir to the Austrian throne, already plays a large part in guiding the destinies of Austria. Francis Joseph has been in failing health for several years, and now at the age of 82 he is unable to discharge the many duties of his kingly office. The archduke, who is very ambitious, has taken up much of the work which the emperor has been compelled to neglect. During the emperor's long sleeping spells, which have become more frequent of late, the court flocks about the heir to the throne, who issues orders, speaks as a master and commands the generals.

"you in this?" asked Senator Nelson. "No, I don't think what I did could be characterized in that way," replied Judge Archibald.

"Why did you not give the Bruce letters to your associates on the bench?" asked Senator Culberson. "Because they practically did not enter into the case at all," said Judge Archibald.

"Did you secure Mr. Bruce's assistance in preparing a dissenting opinion?" asked Senator Hoke Smith, "and then bring the other members of the court over to your view without disclosing the correspondence?" "No, I reached my decision without Mr. Bruce's assistance and wanted his view on the one point," said Judge Archibald.

Give Skin to Save Girl's Life.
Aurora, Ill., Jan. 8.—A father and son yesterday went on the operating table at St. Charles hospital and allowed 150 square inches of skin to be grafted from their bodies to save the life of their 9-year-old daughter and sister, Emma Remmer, burned while playing near a bonfire. John Remmer, the father, and Henry Remmer, 19 years old, the brother, were under the anesthetic for 50 minutes. All of the skin on the son's left limb and nearly all on the father's right limb was grafted upon the body of the girl.

Beware of Cousins!

Cousins are not as simple as they seem. The very fact of being a cousin, or having a cousin, is complicated. The hazy state of consanguinity is both eluding and defying. Cousins will be cousins, even if you did not choose them. They can borrow money from you, visit you without being asked, tell people they belong to your family, contest your will, even fall in love with you—and a cousin once removed is twice as apt to. Never completely trust a cousin. Never depend on his not doing any of these things. Never take him for granted. The "cousinly kiss" may or may not mean what it means. And cousins always do kiss. It's part of being cousins.

(Not that cousins need necessarily prove perfidious. Once in a blue moon they invite you to Europe or leave you money, but that almost always takes an aunt or an uncle.)—Atlantic

Wagner's Summary

MORNING GRAIN LETTER.

Chicago, Jan. 8.—The bull side of wheat will be further tested today by the presence of snow over 50 per cent of the winter wheat belt.

Morning newspapers find no especial weak spots. Cash corn and wheat at Chicago are firm. No. 2 corn is nominally 48 cents and spring and hard wheat hold at their recent advances.

Corn bears are feeding for top on the 3½ bulge in May corn from 47 to 50½ cents.

No. 1 northern cash wheat at Minneapolis has gradually improved its position to the 83½ to 85 cent level.

Antwerp spot wheat is about 18 cents above No. 1 northern prices at Chicago.

Provision bears are unusually confident. They say the packers have sold heavily and that the farmers will ship hogs to avoid winter feeding.

Many figured July wheat would decline 1 to 2 cents on arrival of snow, but the net decline yesterday was merely ½.

Unless an unexpected weakening of the cash wheat position occurs, the setback in wheat will be very mild.

The effect of the severe weather will probably be to cut wheat receipts.

MORNING STOCK LETTER.

New York, Jan. 8.—The American market this morning in London is a comparatively small affair.

The copper producers' figures should come along this afternoon.

The Pujo committee seems to have reached a point where it may form a stock market standpoint to be regarded largely as academic.

BLACK HAWK'S AUTOBIOGRAPHY

Through the Interpretation of Antoine LeClaire. First Published in 1834.

A New Edition with notes Historical and Critical.

Every family in Rock Island county wants a copy of this remarkable work on their reading table. Its thrilling stories of Indian life and adventure stir the blood of every lover of good tales as few other truthful books can do; but it is far more than a volume of good Indian stories.

Historians, scholars, profound thinkers generally, give it a rank attained by no other book of its class. Nowhere else has a wild Indian unmodified directly or indirectly by strong influences of civilization, undertaken to give in detail his personal and tribal history, with the views and customs of his race on ethics, religion and politics. This vivid revelation of the mysterious Indian characters is no less charming than unique.

Black Hawk was born and lived for more than 60 years in Rock Island county, at a point which in no great time must come within the corporate limits of the city of Rock Island.

He is more widely known and his autobiography has given him a more prominent fame than any other Indian warrior in American history. Local pride as well as delight in good reading will induce every citizen of Rock Island county to procure a copy of this extraordinary book.

Can you think of a more acceptable holiday gift to those who have ever been here or contemplate coming than this delightful story?

Handsomely bound in cloth. Beautifully illustrated. Three maps. Sent prepaid on receipt of price $1.00.

FATHER AND MOTHER DEAD; BABY IN STARVING STATE

Paris, Ill., Jan. 8.—The police are unable to decide whether the deaths of William Moss, Jr., and his wife were due to murder and suicide or a double murder. The body of the woman was found in the front yard of the Moss home, six miles northeast of here. She had been shot four times to the body with a revolver.

Moss' body was discovered on a pile of grain sacks in a buggy shed. His left jaw had been torn away by a gunshot. A shotgun lay by his side. A 6-month-old child of the couple was found in the house. It was near death from cold and hunger and may die.

Moss and his wife were last seen alive last night. A farmhand and William Wallace, a brother of Mrs. Moss, discovered the bodies.

Noted Musician Is Dead.

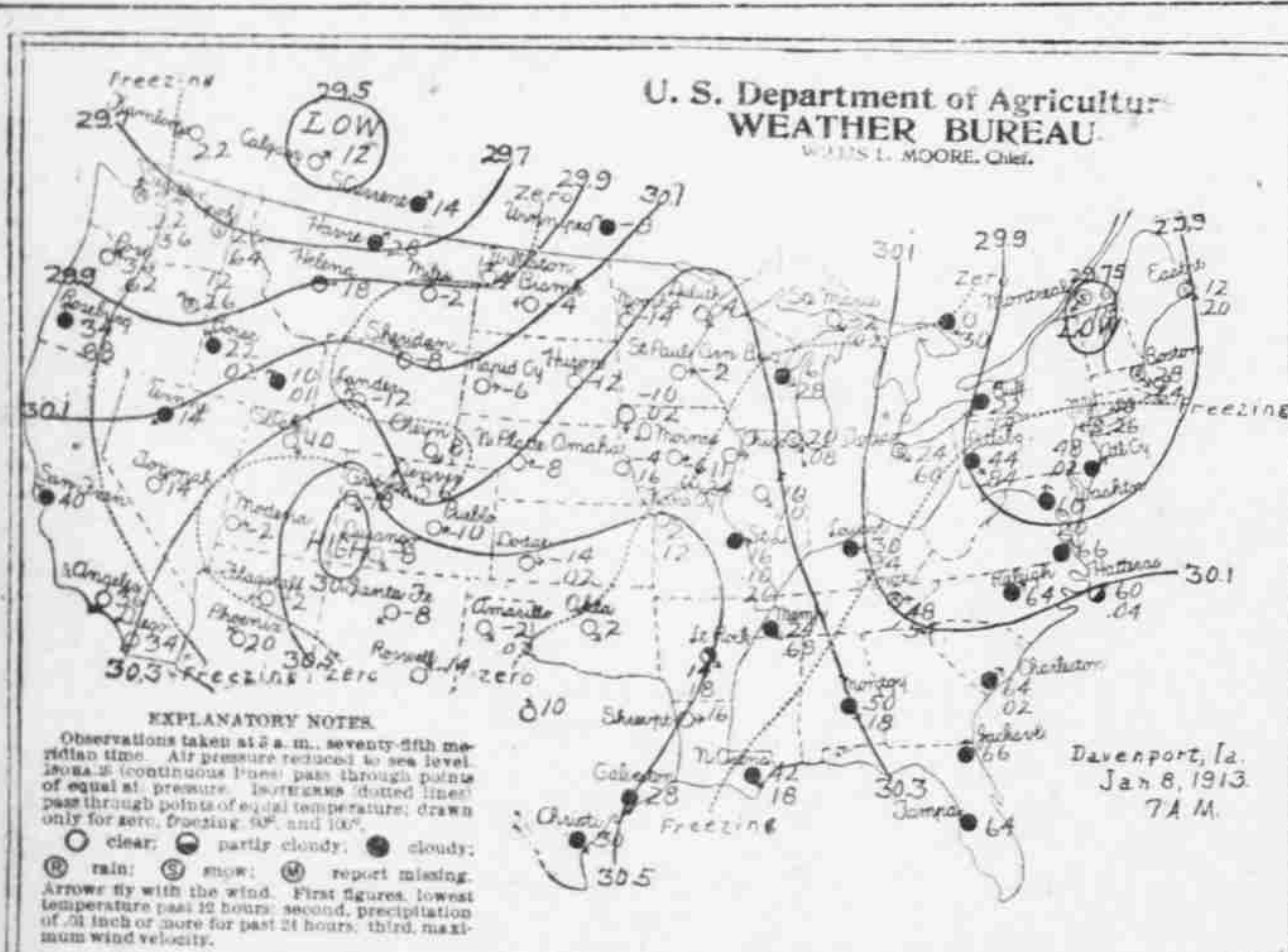

Los Angeles, Cal., Jan. 8.—Richard Watson Seager, 82 years old, a musician of national renown, died yesterday at the home of his son, F. W. Seager, 1177 East Thirty-fifth street, following an illness of only a few weeks.

Seager came to California about nine years ago. He was born in Byron, N. Y., and his father, Meach Seager, was one of the founders of Syracuse university. Professor Seager's greatest achievement was "Queen Esther," which he collaborated with William B. Bradbury in Boston more than a half century ago.

$1,000,000 in a Lumber Deal.

Couderay, Wis., Jan. 8.—A large force of timber cruisers employed by the Edward Hines Lumber company of Chicago have finished estimating the timber on 20,000 acres owned by the Mississippi River Logging company and the Chippewa River Log & Boom company, both Weyerhaeuser concerns. The purchase price is more than $1,000,000.

Daily United States Weather Map

FORECAST FOR ROCK ISLAND, DAVENPORT, MOLINE AND VICINITY.
Fair tonight and Thursday, rising temperature Thursday. The lowest temperature tonight will be about 10 degrees.

WEATHER CONDITIONS.

The southern storm which has moved from northern Kentucky to northwestern New England, has again been attended by snow or rain from the Mississippi and lower Missouri valleys to the Atlantic coast. The western area of high pressure and low temperature overlies the territory from southern California, the southern plateau sections and Texas northeastward to the upper lakes. The temperature remains below zero over most of the eastern Rocky mountain slope and in the middle and upper Missouri valley and the northwestern portion of the lake region, but a rapid rise in the thermometers in the Rocky mountain states has resulted from the northwestern low which is this morning central over southern Alberta, and rain or snow is falling on the north Pacific coast. Owing to the eastward movement of the high and the approach of the Alberta low, fair weather is indicated for this vicinity tonight and Thursday, with warmer Thursday.
