Dr. J. A. Campbell, newly appointed superintendent of the Watertown hospital, arrived in the city from Marissa, Ill., Sunday, accompanied by Mrs. Campbell, and today took up his work at the state institution. Dr. W. A. Crooks, the retiring superintendent, will leave tomorrow, returning to his former home in Chicago.

Dr. Campbell put in the day going over the institution and familiarizing himself with his new duties. Dr. Crooks assisting him in every way possible. To an Argus representative the new superintendent expressed himself as well pleased with conditions at the hospital.

NO CHANGE OF POLICY.
"There will be no change, at least for the present, under my management," he said. "I will take some time for me to fully acquaint myself with the routine. If any changes of policy are made it will only be after careful consideration."

Before coming here Dr. Campbell spent a couple of weeks making a tour of state institutions gathering pointers to be used in his work at Watertown.

Back Coming Pitcher.

George Beck has returned from the south after pitching for Nashville in the Southern league during the season. Though he was with a losing club, Nashville finishing next to the bottom, he won 29 games and lost but 11. Probabilities are that he will be

USE CEMETERY AS HUNTING GROUNDS

Foreigners Indignant When They Are Arrested—Had Taken Out Licenses.

Supposing that hunting licenses gave them the right to shoot anywhere and at anything found roaming at large Edmon Veveand and B. Gasperine, recent arrivals from Europe, Saturday took out licenses and early Sunday morning started out with their guns bent on getting the chief ingredient for a potpie. The first promising spot for game they reached was Riverside cemetery, where the birds preparing for the annual journey south, were plentiful.

It was but a short time after daylight when the residents of the vicinity were disturbed by the popping of guns in the cemetery. The attention of a policeman was attracted and he took charge of the two nimrods.

In police court the pair were indignant at their arrest. They explained over and over that they had licenses and could not understand in what manner they had offended.

In view of the ignorance of the men it was decided to make the case a city one and not to press the charge of killing song birds, so a fine of $12.95 in each case was imposed.

Three old offenders were fined for disorderly conduct today after a Saturday night spree. They paid $3.05 apiece. Their names were entered as Spirias Kakikas, M. J. Berglund and Gus Hegglund.

Ex-Governor Hadley of Missouri also has notified the entertainment committee that he cannot come in October, and it is likely that an effort will be made to secure him later in the season. No speaker for the opening meeting Oct. 13 has yet been announced, though the committee is confident of securing one who will be worth hearing.
