

JOY RIDERS' TRIP ENDS IN ARREST

Four Muscatine Men in Machine Drive Recklessly on Sidewalks and Streets.

STRIKE BIG COAL WAGON

Coal Spilled on Second Avenue This Morning When Auto Collides With Vehicle.

After a long auto joy ride, lasting during last night and early this morning, in which they endangered the lives of many, by driving in a reckless fashion on sidewalks and streets in the business section of the city, four Muscatine men, highly intoxicated, were this morning arrested by the police.

A wagon of the Empire Coal company was struck by the machine at Second avenue, between Eighteenth and Nineteenth streets, at 8:30 o'clock this morning, and the rear axle of the wagon was broken near the wheel, the body of the vehicle falling to the ground and spilling the coal.

The joy riders were subsequently arrested and gave their names as follows: C. J. Beltman, Fred Fuller, Ollie Freeman and Albert Scholten.

The accident to the coal wagon followed several hours of very reckless driving. The auto was traveling west on Second avenue and was in charge of a drunken driver. The machine was driven from side to side of the avenue in reckless fashion. The auto was a single seated one, of the runabout type.

The coal wagon was traveling east and was in charge of Moad Davis, colored. As the two vehicles neared each other the machine took a sudden dart towards the wagon. Eye-witnesses say that it appeared as though the driver of the car had intended frightening the horses.

DRIVER HOLDS SEAT.
The machine, however, struck the rear wheel of the big wagon, breaking the axle and the side of the vehicle fell to the ground, but the colored driver was not thrown from his seat. The driver of the car did not stop, but continued on. The machine was not damaged very much and the speed of the car was increased, the four apparently wishing to keep their identity secret.

The police located the car and driver a short time afterwards and arrested three of the men. The fourth, Albert Scholten, made a getaway, but later in the morning appeared at the police station and inquired for his companions. He was arrested and the four will be given a hearing as soon as they sober up.

Washington—President Wilson's first veto message was a short statement that while he sympathized with young men "who seek in spite of difficulties to show their mettle," he would not sign a joint resolution by which Adolph Unger of Mansfield, Ohio, who had failed in West Point examinations, was to be reinstated. The president held the student's preparation had been inadequate and to reinstate him would be "subversive of the proper discipline of the academy."

POLICE NEWS

A gray-headed old man, 70 years of age, was arrested last night for insulting two young women on the streets. He gave his name as John Harper and this morning was given a 20-day sentence to the county jail on a disorderly conduct charge.

Charged with stealing a rain coat from John Erquert at Walcott, Iowa, Pete Saunehar was arrested here last night. Both principals are Mexicans. Inasmuch as the offense was committed in Iowa the case was referred to the Davenport police.

Miss Jessie Motley, 526 Thirteenth street, was arrested on a disorderly conduct charge preferred by Lucille Loutz. The case proved to be a neighborhood squabble and was dismissed.

UNIQUE EXHIBIT IS ON DISPLAY

Elements Used in Making Linoleum Arranged Neatly at Young & McCombs.

Unusual interest attaches to a linoleum exhibit opened in the department store of Young & McCombs today. The exhibit is unique in that it is the first display of its kind in the history of the linoleum business. By means of an ingenious arrangement of boxes and bottles, containing the elements used in making the product, the progress of the process, from raw materials to the finished goods, is shown.

The display is from the firm of Joseph Wild & Co., of New York City, the first company to manufacture linoleum. For the present the exhibit has been placed in the central show window of the quality store.

Accompanying the display is a large card carrying a description of the process of linoleum manufacture. Bottle No. 1 contains the linseed oil, which forms the basis of the linoleum mixture. The oil is boiled to thicken it and the mixture is poured over suspended cloth sheets. Thus through its contact with the air, the oil becomes oxidized.

The oxidized oil is next ground up with gums, thus giving linoleum its elasticity. In the next grinding, it is mixed with cork, coloring matter and rosin, thus giving the finished product its hardness. Thence it passes into the hopper of a machine which distributes the raw linoleum on burlap. The next step is the rollers, where the linoleum is pressed firmly and securely upon the burlap.

This is plain linoleum and every step in its preparation is shown in the exhibit. Irlaid linoleum is made by a cutting of various colors of plain linoleum and inserting them into a pattern in much the same manner as inlaid wood. Printed linoleum is finished by passing the plain linoleum over painted drums.

Six samples of the finished product turned out by the Wild company accompany the exhibit. There is a sample of battleship linoleum, the heaviest made, another of printed linoleum and pieces of plain linoleum.

On a display card the history of the Wild company is given in brief. This concern began the manufacture of linoleum in the town of Linoleumville, on Staten Island, N. Y., in 1874, this concern being the first in the field.

POULTRY PRIZES TO REACH $1,517

Directors Total Amount of the Awards at Meeting Last Night.

RECEIVE MANY INQUIRIES

Secretary of Show Answers 890 Letters and as Many More Are Expected.

Cash prizes totaling $1,517 will be paid as premiums to the owners of birds winning prizes at the first annual show, held under the auspices of the Mississippi Valley Fanciers' association in the Trevor and Snyder garage building, 2016 Third avenue, November 24 to 30.

This statement was made by an official of the association this morning, and was disclosed at a meeting of the directors held in the office of the president, Dr. O. M. Myers, 228 Eighteenth street, last evening.

At first the premium list indicated that but $500 would be paid for prizes and at a later meeting the sum climbed to $800, but at last evening's session various awards were tallied and it was found that the directors had underestimated the amount.

MANY CUPS.
Besides the cash premiums there will be a number of cups and ribbons and promises are that the show will be the most successful one ever held in the tri-city and officials say that it will be as big as any ever held in the state.

The most enthusiastic meeting held thus far by the directors was that of last evening and while there was very little done in the way of planning for the show, the time was spent in talking of the prospects of the big event.

O. F. Freeman, Moline, secretary of the association, reported that to date he has answered letters from 890 breeders in this and adjoining states. As many more are expected to be received and answered and a premium list will be sent to each.

These letters were from poultry raisers, recognized as the leading ones in their respective communities and the directors of the association are planning upon having about 1,500 exhibits.

Judge O. L. McCord of Danville and Judge Falkner of Ohio have been secured to award the prizes, and as they are recognized as authorities on birds and animals exhibited at poultry shows, the breeders will receive a square deal.

Walter Coloff, a traveling salesman, whose home is in this city, and who was one of the directors of the show, at last evening's meeting tendered his resignation as he would be unable to attend the meetings on account of his work. He recommended Phillip Sherer, this city, to succeed him and the directors voted accordingly.

PRESIDENT PROCLAIMS DAY OF THANKSGIVING

The season is at hand in which it has been our long respected custom as a people to turn in praise and thanksgiving to Almighty God for His manifold mercies and blessings to us as a nation. The year that has just passed has been marked in a peculiar degree by manifestation of His gracious and beneficent providence.

We have not only had peace throughout our own borders and with the nations of the world, but that peace has been brightened by constantly multiplying evidences of genuine friendship, of mutual sympathy and understanding, and of the happy operation of many elevating influences both of ideals and of practice.

The national has been prosperous not only but has proved its capacity to take calm counsel amidst the rapid movement of affairs and deal with its own life in a spirit of candor, righteousness and comity. We have seen the practical completion of a great work at the Isthmus of Panama which not only exemplifies the nation's abundant resources to accomplish what it will, and the distinguished skill and capacity of its public servants, but also promises the beginning of a new age, of new contacts, new neighborhoods, new sympathies, new bonds, and new achievements of cooperation and peace.

"Righteousness exalteth a nation" and "peace on earth, good will toward men" furnish the only foundations upon which can be built the lasting achievements of the human spirit. The year has brought us the satisfaction of work well done and fresh visions of our duty which will make the work of the future better still.

Now, therefore, I, Woodrow Wilson, president of the United States of America, do hereby designate Thursday, the 27th of November next, as a day of thanksgiving and prayer and invite the people throughout the land to cease from their wonted occupations and in their several homes and places of worship render thanks to Almighty God.

In witness whereof I have hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of the United States to be affixed.

Done at the city of Washington this 23rd day of October, in the year of our Lord one thousand nine hundred and thirteen and of the independence of the United States of America the one hundred and thirty-eighth.

WOODROW WILSON,
By the President:
W. J. Bryan, Secretary of State,
(Seal.)
