CROWDED TRAIN HIT IN REAR BY AN EXPRESS

Victims Pinned Under Wreckage in Accident Near Corning, N. Y.

FOUR DIE IN PULLMAN

Babies Among Sufferers on Train Taking Holiday Crowd for Outing

Corning, N. Y., July 4.—Thirty-nine passengers were killed and 50 injured at 5:25 a. m. today when an express train crashed into the west-bound Lackawanna passenger train, No. 9, two miles east of this city.

The passenger train, which runs from New York to Buffalo, had been standing on the track a few minutes when the express train, which carried no passengers struck it in the rear at full speed. The two day coaches attached to the rear of No. 9 were hurled down an embankment and the express plunged half way through the rear Pullman of the standing train before it stopped.

Pinned Under Wreckage.

A number of the injured were pinned under the wreckage and their cries could be heard clearly. The bodies of the dead were laid on the top of the embankment along the tracks and at the roadside and were covered with blankets from the Pullman.

Every undertaker in Corning was called to help care for the dead, but their wagons first were pressed into service to carry the injured to the hospital. Many of the injured also were taken away in automobiles.

The place where the wreck occurred was a straight stretch of track. So far as can be ascertained, William Shaver, the engineer of the express train, which is said to have been traveling at a 60-mile an hour rate, had no warning that the passenger train was in his way. One theory is that there was a fog. It is believed that when he first saw it he thought the train was standing on a parallel track.

The crowded passenger train was held up by a break in a freight train on the track ahead.

Most of the dead and injured were strangers to this section and this made identification difficult.

Scranton, Pa., July 4.—Only meager details had been received at division headquarters of the Lackawanna Railroad here at 11 a. m. of the wreck at Corning. According to this information, 20 persons were killed and about 25 injured. Telegraph wires are down.

MRS. DARROW ILL; SHATTERED NERVES.

Los Angeles, Calif., July 4.—Mrs. Clarence Darrow, who has been in constant attendance at the trial of her husband for alleged jury bribing since it began May 15, is confined to her home by illness. Shattered nerves, due to the long strain of the trial, are attributed by her physicians as the cause of her condition.

There was no session of the trial today and most of the jurors spent the holiday visiting their families. District Attorney Fredericks expressed disappointment because the prosecution was unable to conclude its case yesterday. But three more witnesses for the state remain to be examined, and it is believed the prosecution will rest some time tomorrow. In that event the defense probably will ask for an adjournment until Monday before opening its case.
