Vienna, July 25.—Special editions of the newspapers announce that Serbia has unconditionally submitted to Austria's demands.

London, July 25.—The Austro-Serbian imbroglio today occupied the attention of every chancellery of Europe. The situation is recognized as being fraught with possibilities of a general conflict. The condition of stock exchanges gave a strong indication of the fears felt by the general public and stocks of all kinds suffered a collapse. The hope was widely expressed that an armed conflict between the nations would be avoided and the Russian view of the coercion exercised on a Slav nation was watched closely, as it was felt that on the decision of St. Petersburg as to whether Russia would actively support Serbia in resisting Austria's demands depended the final outcome of the controversy.

Rumors Conflicting.

Many rumors were current, some asserting that Austria has given Serbia further time to reply, others that she has refused to do so, still others that Serbia is defiant and is preparing for the worst. Statesmen of all countries are in the meantime making endeavors to bring about a peaceable solution and all sought to restrain the movements of the war panic.

Belgrade, July 25.—Serbia, according to sources in close touch with the foreign office at Belgrade, has requested and the Russian view of the coercion exercised on a Slav nation was a delay until the Serbian parliament, which has been summoned in extraordinary session, shall have been consulted. It is also stated in authoritative circles that Serbia is ready to grant the Austrian demands as far as possible without damage to her national prestige.

TELL HOW TO END STRIKE DISPUTE

Industrial Commission Hears Views of Labor and Capital.

Chicago, Ill., July 25.—The federal commission on industrial relations will establish its principal field office in Chicago within two weeks. Chicago is to be the center for public hearings and witnesses will be brought here from all surrounding states.

The first working plan for the settlement of some of the more aggravated causes of industrial unrest that has been brought to the attention of the commission was described at yesterday's session in the Hotel La Salle.

This plan portends a comprehensive system for lessening the disputes between capital and labor. It contemplates the consolidation into a national union of all crafts incidental to one line of trade, centralization of employers' associations and a joint commission of union men and employers to pass upon the troublesome jurisdictional strikes.

Simon O'Donnell, president of the Chicago Building Trades Council; Charles W. Gindele, president of the Building Construction Employers' Association; and John O. Shedd, president of the Marshall Field & Co., were the most important witnesses of the day.

Representatives of labor unions said the attitude of the courts in Chicago in industrial disputes was "generally fair." They had no specific grievance against the judiciary, but not so with the police. Police officials, they said, frequently assume arbitrary powers, arrest strikers without warrant, and often "incite to violence."

Employers who testified did not agree with this view. They insisted the strikers were responsible for the violence, that many men were "beaten up" in recent strikes in the building trades, and that law enforcement sometimes required harsh measures.

The hearing, as on the preceding days, brought out many diversified opinions on the problems of capital and labor, and the remedies for the existing antagonisms and industrial unrest. Employers generally agreed the unrest is due largely to "agitation." The organized labor point of view attributed the unrest to inadequate wages, refusal on the part of employers to adjust grievances, lack of an authoritative medium through which complaints of the workers can be voiced and disputes adjusted, and to the ever growing demand for a higher standard of living.

PARIS TRIAL JUDGES MAY FIGHT DUEL

Albanel, Presiding Jurist, Resents Taunts of Colleague

MME. CAILLAUX FAINTS

Ordeal of Hearing Husband's Love Letters Too Much For Accused.

Paris, July 25.—The chief judge challenging one of his colleagues to a duel, the reading of the "mysterious" letters, supposed to affect the case so profoundly and the physical collapse in court of Madame Caillaux today stirred emotions in connection with the trial of Madame Caillaux for the murder of Editor Calmette.

Is Peculiarly French.

A peculiar French atmosphere was lent to the affair by the quarrel of the judges. This was added to by the piquant contents of the former premier's love letters, whose recital before the public caused the prisoner to fall unconscious and remain a long time in a swoon. Beyond the reading of the letters little progress was made and it is generally expected the trial will extend far into next week.

Judge Sends Seconds.

Paris, July 25.—A challenge to a duel was sent today by Presiding Judge Albanel to Judge Dagoury, one of the three other judges sitting on the bench with him in the Caillaux trial. Seconds were appointed by Albanel. The quarrel arose at the Palace of Justice late last night, but the nature was not ascertained.

When discussion concerning the reading of Madame Gueydan's letters seemed to be going unfavorably for the defense during yesterday's hearing, Albanel announced a recess.

The Figaro affirms today that Judge Dagoury then said in low tones, "You dishonor us, sir."

Mme. Caillaux Collapses.

Madame Caillaux soon after being brought into court today collapsed, when the reading of letters handed in by Madame Gueydan began. She was carried insensible from the court.

The two judges, after going to their private rooms during the recess, engaged in a heated discussion and eventually Dagoury admitted he said more than he meant and apologized. Maitre Henri Robert and Labori Chenu intervened as peacemakers and the incident was regarded as closed. This morning however, the Figaro published a report on the front page which left Albanel no option but to send seconds to his colleague.

Is Nothing Indecent.

As soon as the court opened, Maitre Labori began the reading of some of the Gueydan letters. He remarked when he took up the second, "In this you find burning love but nothing indecent, as common rumor has reported." In this letter, Caillaux, writing to his present wife before his divorce from Madame Gueydan, referred to the happiness he would feel when he could "press a million kisses over your dear body."

Court is Recessed.

While the reading was going on, Mme. Caillaux, with head bent low, was crying bitterly. Her sobs were heard all over the court room. Then with sighs she fell prostrate on the floor. Two republican guards carried her out of the chamber. The four judges rose from their seats and Judge Albanel announced a suspension of the hearing amid a great uproar.

Mme. Caillaux Recovers.

Madame Caillaux later recovered consciousness and said she felt strong enough to go on with the hearing. She was assisted into the prisoners' enclosure from the ante-room where she had been carried. Surgeons who had made the autopsy on Calmette were then examined.

Not the Famous Letters.

The letters read in court today were not, as was generally supposed, those which were supposed to have been in the hands of the assassinated editor and the threat of whose publication is understood to have driven Madame Caillaux to commit the crime.

RUNNING THE GAUNTLET

TROUBLE IN HAITI WILL BE SETTLED

President Will Force Restoration of Peace in West Indian Islands.

Washington, D. C., July 25.—Decision as to what steps might be taken by the United States to force the restoration of peace in San Domingo and Haiti has been postponed until next Tuesday, when President Wilson will discuss the entire situation with his cabinet.

In the meantime negotiations are under way through diplomatic channels which it is hoped will bring about a composition of affairs in Haiti.

The rebellious elements in both countries now realize that the American government by concentrating marines at Guantanamo means business, and there is a disposition at the state department to await the outcome of the diplomatic negotiations before advising drastic action.

Preparations, however, went forward at the navy department for the concentration of 1,000 marines within striking distance of the Haitian coast.

The transport Hancock is in Hampton Roads. The present plan is to send it out today or Sunday with 400 more marines now waiting at the Norfolk navy yard to be taken to Guantanamo.

Famine has added to the trouble of the Dominican city of Puerto Plata. Ten deaths from starvation are reported from there. Food supplies long have been low and suffering from privation and the diseases incident to lack of food appals the American officers on duty there.

General Bordas' federal forces are still outside the city and the federal gunboat Independencia lies off the town. There has been more sharp rifle firing southwest of Puerto Plata, with no results and no casualties.

WARSCARE CAUSE OF MARKET PANIC

London, England, July 25.—In all European capitals a grave view is taken of the Austria-Serbian situation.

Unconfirmed rumors of Russian mobilization caused panic conditions on the stock market, this forenoon. Everybody offered stocks without finding buyers. The stock market at Berlin was also demoralized. Russian and Austrian securities were hardest hit. At Paris many stocks were offered without buyers.

Chicago, Ill., July 25.—A war panic seized the wheat market today, but only for a few minutes. In some cases nearly 3 cents a bushel advance was made.

New York, July 25.—Semi-panic conditions in all foreign markets found direct reflection in numerous paid. It was not generally known until just before the opening that Serbia was reported to have given way to the Austrian demands.

A brick rally followed indications of relaxation in the foreign situation and many losses were more than retrieved.

Berlin, July 25.—Curb prices after a close of its regular market improved on reports from Vienna that Serbia intended to yield.

TRAIN ROBBERS KILL FLAGMAN

Masked Bandits Hold Up L. and N. Passenger Near New Orleans.

New Orleans, La., July 25.—Twenty dollars and twenty-five cents was secured by two masked bandits who last night shot and killed Tom Elgin, a flagman, in an attempt to hold up the New York limited passenger train of the Louisville and Nashville railroad, at Gentilly, a small station three miles east of here.

According to consider E. C. Potter, the bandits boarded the train at New Orleans. Shortly after passing Gentilly they pulled the bell cord. The train slowed down and the conductor began an investigation. One of the robbers covered him with a revolver and then riddled his pocket, obtaining $16.75. A representative of a New Orleans transfer company was robbed of $3.50. The porter approached while the bandits were at work. One of them shot at him, the bullet striking the flagman.

The highwaymen then jumped from the train. They had not been apprehended at a late hour.

A special train with officers and physicians was rushed to the scene. Reports reached here that the express and mail clerks were missing.

Later reports from Bay St. Louis stated that the clerks were found on the train at that place.

G. O. P. TROUBLE IS FAULT OF TAFT

Cannon Blames Chief for Party Woes—Ridicules Progressive Faction.

Kankakee, Ill., July 25.—In a ten minute talk to the republican county central committee yesterday Joseph G. Cannon attributed the birth of the progressive party to William Howard Taft, declared the democratic tariff a failure, and said that it is now up to the republican party to bring about the return of "the good old days."

"Taft is a great, big hearted fellow," declared Cannon, "but he is a trouble maker. Why, if Taft was made pastor of some church he would have the congregation in an uprising inside of half an hour after he was appointed."

"I'd hate to repeat what Roosevelt thinks of Beveridge," said the speaker, "but he certainly considers him a great joke. It's like this: Beveridge says, 'Away with anything republican; it is unclear, tainted, and too filthy to touch.' Yet Roosevelt returns, and says that he will not have anything to do with the progressive party unless George W. Perkins, a republican, is again taken into the fold. And all this after Pinchot and Beveridge have called Perkins impure."

After a resolution indorsing him as the republican candidate for congress from the Eighteenth district had been unanimously passed Cannon explained that he wanted to return to congress to help bring about the return of republican and prosperity times.

REPUBLICANS NOT TO FIGHT TRUST BILLS

Opposition Leaders See That Filibuster Will Be Useless.

TO ADJOURN IN MONTH

Chairmen Who Have Measures in Charge Expect Few Amendments.

Washington, D. C., July 25.—Republican leaders have informed the democratic senators that there will be no filibuster against the trust bills.

Senator Smoot also told newspaper men that he intended to use his senatorial prerogatives to keep the senate at its task on trust legislation until the bills were disposed of. He believes the country expects the administration to legislate and under the circumstances he is willing they should have the responsibility.

"I intend to object to the introduction of any bills or resolutions or the transaction of any business in the senate except necessary appropriations and conference reports until the trust bills are passed," Senator Smoot said. "There shall be no filibuster."

May Adjourn Sept. 1.

The democratic leaders are trying to induce democratic senators to remain silent as far as possible in the trust debate. With seven hours each day given solely to trust legislation debate, the democrats think they can soon end the discussion, in view of the assurances from the republican side that they will cooperate to speed up the legislation. Under the circumstances there are predictions of an adjournment not later than Sept. 1, and perhaps as early as Aug. 25.

To Avoid Amendments.

Senator Newlands, chairman of the interstate commerce committee, who is in charge of the trade/commission and railroad securities measures, says it is his purpose to forge the bills through the senate without substantial amendments, and to make such changes in conference as may seem expedient.

Senator Culberson, chairman of the judiciary committee, who will control the debate on the anti-monopoly bill, does not see any reason why there should be extended debate upon his measure.

DEADLOCK OVER 1915 FAIR RATE

Santa Fe Demands $4 on Every Ticket to California Exposition.

Chicago, Ill., July 25.—The officers of the railroads operating between Chicago and California are in a deadlock over rates to the San Francisco Panama exposition.

The Santa Fe company has demanded that on every ticket sold from any part of the country to California during the exposition San Diego be included with the coupon.

Under such arrangements the Santa Fe railroad would receive $4, which is the rate from Los Angeles to San Diego and return, on every ticket sold to California during the period of the exposition.

While no official announcement of rates for the fair has been made, the railroad men had concluded among themselves to sell tickets from Chicago to California points and return for $62.50, and $50 from Missouri river points. As planned, every passenger requesting a coupon good to San Diego would be given such ticket. In the absence of such request, however, the ticket would read only to the points intended to go.

The Santa Fe company desires that the San Diego coupon be attached to every ticket sold, regardless of any request made by the passenger. This would mean that on every ticket sold to California during the exposition period the Santa Fe would receive from every road $4 whether the passenger went to San Diego or not. The other roads are willing to allow the $4, but only when the passenger requests such ticket and coupon.

Figuring that 100,000 people go to California from east of the Rocky mountains during the exposition, the Santa Fe would receive $400,000, regardless of the people who visited San Diego.

Officers of the other roads will not agree to the Santa Fe proposition. At yesterday's meeting the entire affair was referred to the executive officers of the railroads for settlement.

In the meantime official announcement of rates for the California exposition is withheld.
