Mayor May Be Cleared of Charges in Report Leaked Out Today. Pete Foley, mayor of Parsons, has seemingly added another notch to his string of victories in his own home town. It was charged that Foley was instrumental in making city printing contracts which contributed to his personal gain and that he acted with the police judge in ignoring a provision of the statutes relative to reports of liquor prosecutions. The Parent-Teachers' association are planning to repeat the entertainment given at Quince school last Friday evening. The entertainment to be given in the Community house. The North side of Topeka will join with the association on expenses and the proceeds will be equally divided.

The Children's Welfare booth on the North side not only helped to advertise the work done by the various Sunday schools, but also served to further the acquaintance of neighbors. Miss A. was passing the booth one morning last week and stopped to speak to a friend who was examining the literature displayed at Quince school. Mrs. B. and Mrs. C. asked the friend, indicating the women in the booth. "I have never met you, but I know her from seeing her go in and out of her house. I'm her next door neighbor." And some people think North Topeka is "country."

One way to beat the high cost of living is to raise chickens. More especially is this true if your neighbors are raising chickens. The division of labor in two North side families of late. One family has a flock of Barred Plymouth Rocks, while a neighbor's vacant chicken house has been chosen by one of the pullets for a laying place. The chicken has an entrance thru or over a ten-foot fence and left her daily offering, proving that where there is a will there is a way. To find a nest with a dozen eggs is like finding money, these days.

He has a bad case of jaundice," said Doctor Hammond today, "and I have recommended a parole sufficiently long to give him an opportunity to recuperate and get on his feet. The county jail is no place for an only as in the Lewis case."

Doctor Hammond stated that he had asked Dr. C. C. Lull, county physician, to call and see the sick man, hoping that Doctor Lull would use his influence with the county commissioners to get the boy a temporary parole.

Sheriff Hugh Larimer refuses to touch the case because of the big row started by automobile dealers when Larimer recommended that Lewis be given a sentence for "joy riding," while the automobile dealers clamored for a felony sentence which would have forced the youth to serve time in Lansing. Larimer won his point in the court of Topeka.
