CHICAGO ANARCHISTS

Still Making Trouble With the Police—Three More Arrests.

Geronimo Again Monkeying With Gen. Miles—Says He'll Surrender.

An Explosion of Fire Damp in a Pennsylvania Coal Mine Kills Seven Persons.

Another Sensation Reported from Mexico—An Alleged Indignity to Gen. Sedgwick.

Capital Budget—Concerning the Payment of Bonds—Treasury Officials in a Quandary.

Weather Report.

More Anarchists Arrested.

NOBLES. 30.—Geronimo has sent word to Gen. Miles he will meet him at San Bernardino ranch to arrange terms of surrender.

Terrible Mine Explosion.

Later—Jno. H. Hosie, and J. Gallagher were standing at the head of the slope at the time of the explosion and felt the force of the explosion as the rush of air came out of the mouth of the mine. They at once started to gain and ascertain the extent of the damage. The August quota of coal had been mined last week and as men were employed in the mines. Word came however, that a party of five or six men had gone into the mines to clear up their chambers. Inspector Blewitt happened to come along about this time and he and Gallagher with a party entered the mines, going down to the third and lower vein and followed the air course, stopping to repair damages to the brattice, etc., as they went along. Their progress was necessarily slow and the course they followed took them to the right hand side of the mine.

When they learned that groans had been heard in the east gangway they worked over that way and found the party who had gone in the mines before the accident near or about the entrance of one of the chambers, a short distance from the inside plate, about fifteen feet from where the heading branches off. Three of them were alive and three were dead.

The killed were Hugh Connors, of Bellevue, Edward Gagnam, Michael Prill. The first man brought to the surface was John Nafin, who is badly burned about the face and arms.

John Kerrigan was alive when found and talked the strongest of all, but he died before being brought to the surface.

The next was John Connor, he has two large scalp wounds, a bad cut on the knee and another on the arm. His face and hands are badly burned and bruised. He was taken to the hospital.

The body of Edward Pierce, the fire boss was found about one hundred and fifty feet from the others.

Patrick Connor says that he and the others waited for some time at the mouth of the mine for the fire boss, but at last he came from another vein. He said he had not been in the lower vein, but told them to come on and he would see if everything was all right.

They went to the foot of the new road when Pierce went ahead of where he had a box with some lamps and oil in it. He carried a safety lamp and they had naked lamps.

They stood there waiting for him when suddenly there was a flash and the explosion followed quickly. He fell flat on his face; he felt he was in a too exposed position and leaped to the side of a pillar. To this action he probably owes his life. When the explosion was over he called out to the men in total darkness. Kerrigan, Nafin and Prill answered, but no word came from Gagnam or Connor.

Kerrigan wanted him to go with him to the foot and he rose on his feet to do so, but he felt so sick that he could not go and had to lie down again. They waited there in the blackness of night, sick, wounded and helpless, with their dead comrades lying near them. At last they heard voices and Connor called. Presently the voices came nearer; then they saw lights approaching, and soon the rescuing party were with them.

How the fire originated is a mystery.

Lawrence Exposition.

With them went Col. Belo, of the Galveston News, and Henry M. Brown, of Philadelphia. It is not yet determined whether Mrs. Cleveland and her mother will go into the woods or await the return of the party at one of the hotels on the edge of the wilderness. In all probability they will make the venture.

CAPITAL BUDGET.

IN A QUANDARY.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 30.—The Capital says: Accounting officers of the treasury department are in some doubt as to what they will do with the accounts of certain public officers who have been appointed by the president since congress adjourned.

They are those whose nominations were not acted on by the senate. It is understood to be held by a Republican senator that section 69 of the tenure of office act prevents the reappointment of an officer appointed to fill a vacancy before the late session of the senate, whose nomination was not acted upon.

The president has, however, appointed, reappointed and reappointed in that condition. It is understood he examined the law in that case carefully before doing so and rests his rights to make these appointments on the last clause of the second section of the second article of the constitution, namely:

"The president shall have power to fill all vacancies that may happen during the recess of the senate by granting commissions which shall expire at the end of their next session."

The construction put upon the words "may happen" by the president is understood to give them the effect of the words "may happen to exist." This has been held to be their real meaning by the department of justice under several administrations since the tenure of office act was passed; but some of the accounting officers of the treasury are not certain it would be safe or then approve the accounts of officers of the class under section 1, 672, revised statutes, which provides an imprisonment of not more than ten years, or fine of not more than $10,000, or both, for allowing accounts of persons appointed contrary to the provisions of the tenure of office law.

AS TO BOND PAYMENT.

The following circular was issued by the treasury department this afternoon: Notice is hereby given that on the 15th day of September, 1886, or at any time prior thereto, the department will redeem at the treasury of the United States in the city of Washington, D. C., or at the office of the assistant treasurer at New York, paying par and accrued interest to date of redemption, any unexpired United States three per cent bonds to an amount not to exceed $10,000,000. Bonds forwarded to Washington for redemption should be addressed to the secretary of the treasury, division of loans, etc., Washington, D. C., and all the bonds should be assigned to the secretary of the treasury for redemption. The assignment must be properly dated and properly acknowledged as proscribed in the note printed on the back of the bonds. When checks in payment are desired in favor of anyone but the payee, the bonds should be assigned to the secretary of the treasury for redemption for the account of the person or persons to whose order the check should be drawn.

Well, What of It?

CITY OF MEXICO, Aug. 30.—Reports have been received here Friday night regarding the treatment of Mr. Sedgwick, the American special agent in the Cutting case, who was on that evening one of the guests at a ball given by one of the clubs of the city. The club in question is one of the most aristocratic in Mexico, among its members being government officials of the highest class, and representatives of the oldest and most distinguished families. The members of the club gave Mr. Sedgwick an invitation as a special honor to an American representative.

He was received with marked tokens of respect and reverence, and was treated with the most honored guest. Toward the small hours of the morning there was the usual flow of champagne and numerous toasts were drunk in one of the rooms set apart for gentlemen, a careful investigation was made by Mr. Sedgwick, who was actively participating in the convivial enjoyment of the hour was in no way treated insolently. The members of the club and its managers strenuously deny that any discourtesy was intended or practiced toward Mr. Sedgwick who made an excellent impression.

To set at rest the injurious reports regarding Mr. Sedgwick, it is proposed leading representatives of the highest society of Mexico to give him a series of dinners and receptions in order to make it evident that he has the esteem of the Mexicans. Since the rumors have been circulating, a large number of entirely ridiculous and unfounded reports have been in circulation, but no person of reputation or standing in the community supports them. Last evening Mr. Sedgwick was a guest at a private house where the rumors have been circulating, and he was introduced to the department of foreign relations, and Minister Boninio Raballo, of the interior department.

Mr. Sedgwick is conferring with Minister Jackson and investigating the laws of Mexico bearing on the Cutting case. He is having translations of the laws made and when through he will go to Chihuahua, and then to Paso del Norte.

In an interview this afternoon Mr. Sedgwick, the American special agent, emphatically denied the stories against him in circulation in the United States. Leading representatives of the Jolly club who have been interviewed on the subject express the rumors as being entirely unfounded. The club had been called in question. They said that Mr. Sedgwick was a conspicuous guest at their ball and that he behaved as a gentleman should.

British Grain Trade.

LONDON, Aug. 30.—The Mark Lane Express, in its weekly review of the British grain trade, says: The week's splendid weather has materially altered the position. Much grain has been secured. The old English wheats were neglected; prices were 1s lower; foreign wheats were 6d cheaper. Beans, peas, and barley were steady; oats were weaker and the demand was slow. Foreign flour was 6d cheaper. Round corn was 3d lower; flat corn was very scarce. The market closed dull and weaker. The crop in early sown districts is in fine condition, while late sown crops are rapidly maturing. Another week's sunshine will probably cause a big drop in prices. The sales of English wheat during the last week were 36,362 quarters at 32 s, 3d, against 37,000 quarters at 33s, 3d, during the corresponding week last year. The lower grades of flour are 1s, higher. The fervid summer has depressed foreign wheats 6d. There are no buyers. There were three arrivals of wheat cargoes; one cargo of Oregon was sold, 3 cargoes were chartered and one remained. Today sunshine overpowered the markets.

C. & St. L. did the same yesterday and this two days brought into this city upwards of two thousand people. In the first heat Neil Matterson, of Australia, and Wallace Ross were the contestants. The course was from Battersea to Hammer Smith. Matterson got an advantage of a few feet in the first half minute, but before the first furlong had been covered, Ross drew up level with him. At the end of the next furlong Ross led by a length, and when a mile and a half (or almost half the distance) had been rowed he was two lengths in advance. Directly after reaching this point Ross almost stopped and Matterson went ahead and led by three lengths. After this the race was over, Matterson running leisurely in 18 minutes. At the start Ross rowed rather over the course scoring a bye.

The course for the second heat was from Hammersmith to Kew. The contestants were John Teemer, of the United States, and George J. Perkins, of England. Teemer was the favorite, five to one being offered on him. Teemer at the start rowed rather a snappy stroke, enabling Perkins, who had the best water, to gain a slight lead in the first few hundred yards. Teemer then settled down to a longer and steadier stroke and soon got a level with Perkins. He drew steadily ahead and when Barnes' bridge was reached he had the Englishman by four lengths. Teemer won eventually without effort, finishing three lengths ahead; time, 18:40.

The third heat was between Wm. Beach, of Australia, champion of the world, and George Lee, of the United States. The course was from Kew to Hammersmith. Lee led by a couple of lengths for the first quarter of a mile, but after that was beaten. At Barnes' bridge Beach drew away and won the heat easily by three lengths.

The betting was two to one in favor of Beach. Twice during the heat Lee got over into Beach's water and the second time he fouled him. Beach claimed the foul and it was allowed.
