PLEURO-PNEUMONIA.

The Prevalence of the Plague at Chicago Still Causing Deep Concern.

CHICAGO, Ill., Sept. 27.—The important question of pleuro-pneumonia was the subject of general discussion in all the various places among cattle owners, stock dealers and butchers, as well as veterinarians, during Sunday. As the members of the live stock commission were all away from the city there were no new developments regarding the disposition to be made of quarantined cattle when slaughtered.

Whether this would serve any good purpose was a question of grave doubt among many. The penalty for the offense of moving cattle was considered severe enough to cause hesitation about breaking the quarantine, and yet in spite of all precautions taken, the quarantine was broken.

nished by the bureau of animal industry of the department of agriculture.

Second—That properly constituted inspectors of the bureau of animal industry which are assigned to the respective states are to be authorized by the proper state authorities to make inspections of cattle under the law of the states; they to receive such protection and assistance as would be given to state officers engaged in similar work, and shall be permitted to examine quarantined herds whenever so directed by the commissioner of agriculture or the chief of the bureau of animal industry.

Third—All reports of inspection shall be made to the bureau of animal industry and a copy of these will then be made and forwarded to the proper state authorities. When, however, any inspector discovers a herd infected with contagious pleuro-pneumonia he will at once report the same to the proper state authorities as well as to the bureau of animal industry.

Fourth—The inspector, while always subject to the orders of the department of agriculture, will cordially co-operate with state authorities and will follow instructions received from them.

Fifth—When contagious pleuro-pneumonia is discovered in any herd the owner or person in charge is to be at once notified by the inspector and the quarantine regulations of the state in which the herd is located are to be enforced from that time. The affected animals will be isolated when possible from the remainder of the herd till they can be properly appraised and slaughtered.

Sixth—To insure perfect and satisfactory quarantine a chain fastened with a numbered lock will be placed around the horns or, with hornless animals, around the neck, and a record will be kept showing the number of the locks placed upon each animal in the herd.

Seventh—Locks and chains for quarantining will be furnished by the department of agriculture, but they will become the property of the state in which they are used in order that any one tampering with them can be proceeded against legally for injuring or muzzling the property of the state.

Eighth—Quarantine restrictions now imposed are not to be removed by the state authorities without the consent of the proper officers of the department of agriculture.

Ninth—The period of quarantine will be at least ninety days dating from the removal of the diseased animals to the slaughter herd. During this period no animal will be allowed to enter the herd or to leave it, and all animals in the herd will be carefully isolated from other cattle. When possible, all infected herds are to be held in quarantine and not allowed to leave the infected premises except for slaughter. In this case fresh animals may be added to the herd at the owner's risk, but are to be considered as infected animals and subjected to the same quarantine regulation as the other members of the herd.

Tenth—All animals infected with contagious pleuro-pneumonia are to be slaughtered as soon after their discovery as the necessary arrangements can be made.

Eleventh—When diseased animals are reported to the state authorities they shall promptly take such steps as they desire to confirm the diagnosis of the animals found diseased and then to be appraised according to the provisions of the state law, and the proper officer of the bureau of animal industry (who will be designated by the commissioner of agriculture) notified of the appraisal. The department of agriculture will purchase the diseased animals of the owner and pay such a proportion of the appraised value as is provided for compensation in such cases by the laws of the State in which the animals are located when they are condemned and slaughtered by state authority.

All the necessary disinfection will be conducted by the employees of the bureau of animal industry.

Inoculation is not recommended by the department of agriculture, and it is believed that its adoption with animals that are to be afterwards sold to go into other herds will counteract the good results which would otherwise follow from the slaughter of the diseased animals. It may, however, be practiced by the state authorities under the following rules:

Fourteenth—No herds but those in which pleuro-pneumonia has appeared to be inoculated.

Fifteenth—Inoculated herds are to be quarantined with lock and chain on each animal. The quarantine restrictions are to remain in force as long as inoculated cattle survive, and these animals are to leave the premises only for immediate slaughter.

Sixteenth—Fresh animals are to be taken into inoculated herds only at the risk of the owners and shall be subject to the same rules as the other cattle of the inoculated herd.

Seventeenth—The chief of the bureau of animal industry is to be promptly notified by the state authorities of each herd inoculated, of the definite disposition of each member of the herd, of the post-mortem appearance and of any other facts in the history of the herd which may prove of value. The co-operation of governors, of state live stock commissioners and of other officers who may be in charge of the branch of service provided for the control of contagious disease of animal in the states where pleuro-pneumonia exists, is especially requested under these rules and regulations which have been formed with a view of securing uniformity and uniform action throughout the whole infected district.

It is hoped that with a vigorous enforcement of such regulations the disease may be prevented from extending beyond the present limits and may be in time entirely eradicated.

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Sept. 27.—Gov. Risk today issued a proclamation forbidding the importation of cattle from Illinois, except when accompanied by a certificate of health from the state veterinary of that state, or inspector of United States bureau of animal industry.

That Antinomistic Marriage.

VALLEY FALLS, Kan., Sept. 27.—E. C. Walker, one of the free love editors of Lucifer, and Lillian Harman who were arrested on the 20th inst., on a charge of illegal cohabitation had their preliminary hearing before R. D. Simpson, J. P., today and were bound over to the district court in the sum of one thousand dollars. The state was represented by County Attorney Gilety and T. A. Meyers and the defense by David Overmeyer, of Topeka. The case was substantially contested on both sides and the profound interest was manifested by the public when Justice Simpson announced his decision the unusually large audience assembled burst into loud applause. The indications at this writing are that both Walker and Harman will have to be in jail until the October term of court, as no one seems willing to go on their bond. The defendants declare it their purpose to carry the case to the United States supreme court if necessary. There is strong talk of arresting M. Harmon, the senior editor of the Lucifer, as an accomplice of the antinomistic marriage of his daughter Lillian.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept. 27.—Secretary Bayard leaves Washington at noon today for a short vacation. He goes first to Boston. He expects to be absent a week.

The president today appointed William G. Allen of South Carolina, to be United States consul at Piedras Negras, Mexico.

The new steel cruiser Boston, which suffered some damage two or three weeks ago from the falling of one of her turrets, has been repaired and it is expected she will be finished ready to go into commission within two or three weeks. The Chicago, the last and largest of the four steel cruisers authorized by congress in 1883, will probably be finished by February 1.

Lieut. Wm. Scheutz, U. S. N., who was sent to Lena Delta to distribute the presents made by the government to natives who rendered assistance to the Jeanette survivors, returned to Washington yesterday, and this morning reported in person to the secretary of state. Lieut. Scheutz found many of the natives of the Delta in a destitute condition, some of them at the point of starvation. The recipients of the presents were greatly surprised. They celebrated the event tumultuously by firing guns and otherwise. Such of the presents as were adapted to the purpose were donated at once and were thereafter worn conspicuously outside the fur garments of their bear owners. Lieut. Scheutz's official report to the secretary of state is not yet completed.

Consul Williams, at Havana, transmits a report to the secretary of state, which shows that nearly 94 per cent of all the sugar cane produced in Cuba, for the first quarter of this year, has found consuming markets in the United States.

The acting secretary of the treasury this afternoon issued the one hundred and forty-third call for the redemption of bonds. The call is for fifteen million dollars of the 3 per cent loan of 1882, to be paid on the first day of November.

Acting Secretary Mulrow has rendered a very important decision involving the constitutional amendment that "full faith and credit shall be given by each state to the acts, records and judicial proceedings of every other state," carrying out the doctrine that where a court of one state having jurisdiction, renders a judgment, that judgment is conclusive of all matters determined therein, and is binding on the courts of every other state. The secretary extends the application of the doctrine to the executive departments. The case comes up in an important land matter from Louisiana where the claimants title to scrip is founded in the courts of that state upon succession of proceedings. The decision is said to be an able one and understood to be a reversal of one rendered by ex-Secretary Schurz.

Edward Hanlon has challenged Beach to row a race on the Thames for any sum up to $25,000, and has offered to row him in America or Australia. Hanlon to give Beach $10,000 in the former case, Beach to give Hanlon $10,000 in the latter. Beach has declined all challenges.

Paris, Sept. 27.—Louis Charles Emanuel, baron of Artinal, Hanover, nephew and adopted son of Baron Hausman, and who attempted last February to assassinate M. De Montague in Hotel Louvre, was sent to an insane asylum, as escaped from the asylum. Yesterday some relatives secured permission to have the alleged lunatic visit them in charge of his keeper. His visit had hardly begun before he disappeared. As one of his keepers disappeared at the same time young Hausman's escape is believed to be the result of a plot. The city continues to furnish a singularly large number of murders and suicides. At one of the hotels yesterday one cook shot and fatally wounded his mistress, and then attempted suicide, because the woman made him jealous. A hairdresser shot and mortally wounded his mistress because she had tired of their relationship and resolved to reform. A workman, having his week's pay in his pocket, and feeling hilarious, met a pretty female organ grinder, asked her to play him a waltz so that he might dance for her amusement while she played for his. The woman's male companion instantly became incensed at the request of the workman, and shot him dead.

Washington, D. C., Sept. 27.—Vice-Congressionalist, at Turin, concluding his report to the state department upon agriculture in Italy, says grain growers in that district are reduced to a desperate condition by high rents, and above all by competition from the United States. The agrarian question in Italy, he says, is growing to be a great national problem, and as far as the last five or six years, cultivation of the soil has been conducted always without profit and just now at a dead loss. Mutterings and discontent in the rural districts is growing alarming.

The Italian peasant is ignorant, although he possesses the right of being represented in parliament and insisting upon some legislative measure of relief, such as a reduction of the heavy tax under which he specially labors, he can extend his vision beyond his field and his whole antagonism is particularly directed against the landed proprietors who are seemingly better off than himself, but who in reality has to share the same burdens. It is the old spectre of socialism, and unless a remedy be found and that quickly there is strong likelihood of trouble, not only in Piedmont, but all over the kingdom.

Constantinople, Sept. 27.—Turkey's agents abroad report that the peace of Europe, is endangered by the present temper of the English and Austrian cabinets against Russia.

The Turkish war department contemplates equipping and drilling 60,000 Turkish horsemen in the same manner that Russian Cossacks are equipped and drilled.

Vienna, Sept. 27.—The oriental congress was opened here by Archduke Kaiser.

Cairo, Sept. 27.—Today M. Lavisson, a Russian subject, acting as agent for Ismael Pasha, ex-khedive of Egypt, with the aid of a number of armed Albanians, seized Ismael Pasha's palace which the ex-khedive claims as his property. Lavisson subsequently withdrew from the palace at the instance of the Russian consul.

Sir Henry Drummond Wolf, British commissioner, hastily returned to Cairo to investigate the matter. It is understood that Lavisson's motive was to force the tribunal to take cognizance of the ex-khedive's claim.

Madame Chambers left for the East Sept. 20th. We expect her to return and open the Department again Oct. 11th. She will remain away long enough to have every advantage for visiting the late openings that occur the first part of October, and secure this season's Paris fashions. It is a loss and inconvenience to us on account of so many ladies wishing work done now, to have Madame Chambers make this late visit to the fashion centres instead of going earlier and returning early, but we believe in doing things right or not doing them at all, and those ladies that wait for her return will secure the benefits.
