ONE-NIGHT-ONE

Keep it Dark,

The Funniest Musical Show on the road.

Seats on sale Saturday at Crumline & Stewart's drug store.

LOCAL.

The dance given by the band boys at the rink Friday night was quite well attended.

G. J. Stouth, a leading republican of Concord township, was a caller at our sanctum Saturday.

Hon. M. W. Sutton has been absent from the city the major portion of the week on legal business.

First snow of the season Thursday, October 31st. Master Charley Heinz was the first boy to the front with a sled.

F. B. York, of St. Louis, head of the York-Draper Mercantile Company, of this city, was here during the week.

Rain, snow, slush, and last but not least mud, have been particularly noticeable to the pedestrian for the past week.

Capt. J. B. Rowley, the genial correspondent of the Kansas City Journal, loafed at this office between trains Thursday.

C. M. Beeson sold a bunch of twenty-eight head of choice steers this week to a feeder near Salina, realizing a good profit.

C. M. Beeson left for his ranch in the Cherokee Strip yesterday, to superintend the fall round-up, and cut out such beaves as are in shape for shipment.

To make a good newspaper, all that are interested should help the news-gatherer and editor to the many little items of interest that are not brought to the notice of either.

The opera house attractions for this month are numerous. Two plays a week are booked, and with the local odds and ends our people will have quite enough amusement for one month.

Send us or bring to the office the little local notices that you would like to see in print and you will be sure to see in the newspaper the name of your friends that are partaking of your hospitality.

Now is the time to do your breaking of new ground. The thorough wetting the soil has received within the past two weeks has put the ground in excellent condition for fall plowing. So keep the plow going.

If western Kansas does not produce an abundant crop next year it will not be on account of the lack of a thorough saturation of the ground, such as the late rains gave it. An abundance of rain in the fall for this section means prolific crops the following season.

Messrs. Finlay and Milton, of the Pioneer Loan and Trust Company, returned home from their trip to Pueblo and Denver, Colorado, Friday morning, well satisfied with their trip and the investigations they made with a view of extending the business of the company to the cities named.

What a blessing was the drifting snow and the bitter cold north wind Thursday night. It was All Hollow'een night, and the small boy whose mind is ever bent on mischief, sought comfort at the family fireside, rather than rejoicing at seeing sign boards, loose gates, and what not, dancing to his music.

Theo. Vosburgh, of Ford, manager of the California Washing Fluid Company, was here on business Saturday, and left an order for work at the leading printing house. The California washing fluid is fast gaining a reputation as one of the leading articles on the market. R. M. Wright & Co. are sole agents for this fluid.

Mr. A. H. Niess, who recently located in Springfield, has prospered greatly. He began business here single-handed and alone. Now he has a partner who tips the beam at eleven pounds. Doubtless the populace will soon read the sign, Niess & Son, over the front door of the Little Buffalo shoe store.—Springfield, (Illinois,) State Journal.

Hereafter the price of subscription to the GLOBE-REPUBLICAN will be $1.50 for one year, seventy-five cents for six months and fifty cents for four months. $1.50 paid in advance, before January 1st next, will secure the GLOBE-REPUBLICAN until January 1st, 1891. It has been found advisable to make this change to conform with the reduced prices in other lines of trade, and no one can now plead "too much," as an excuse for not reading our paper. Bring or send in your subscription and you will get the worth of your money.

Keep it dark. Another squall of snow Monday. Masquerade Ball Thanksgiving evening. The students at the college are increasing. Keep it dark, at the opera house, Friday night. Now is the time to lay in your winter supply of fuel. Every business man ought to have a small advertisement in his home paper. Mrs. J. W. Gilbert will give a musicale at her residence to-morrow evening. There is feed enough in this county to winter 10,000 head more stock than we now possess. Applications for admission to the new soldiers' home at old Fort Dodge are daily increasing. Otto Zeise, the tailor, went to Gray county yesterday to cast his ballot for the winning ticket. J. F. Frankey and L. K. Soper are at Topeka this week, arguing a case or two in the supreme court. Election day was a daisy, and if the vote was a little light it was certainly not the fault of the weather. F. T. M. Wenie arrived home Saturday night and remained long enough to cast his ballot on election day. Give your poultry a little more attention and you will find that you have added materially to your income. Mrs. Hannah Heustis returned Monday from Pueblo where she has been visiting with her daughter, Mrs. Harry Hart. Harvey Evans, son of Mayor Evans, left Tuesday night for Washington Territory to which far off country he goes to seek his fortune. Our city officials ought to look after defective and in some places impassable sidewalks and street crossings in our city and see to it that they are properly repaired. Edward W. Cooley came down from Pueblo, Sunday, on a brief visit to his family, and to resume his acquaintance with friends here. Mr. Cooley is employed in the St. James hotel at Pueblo. Don't neglect plowing fire-guards around your premises as the vegetation is very rank and as soon as the weather becomes more settled and the grass dry, fires are liable to occur and destroy your winter range for stock. Our farmers should pay a little more attention to stock-raising if they desire to thrive and prosper as they ought. The live stock crop is an indispensable one on the farm. It grows the year round and should not be neglected. Grand masquerade ball at McCarty's opera house on Thanksgiving night, under the supervision of the orchestra boys. Two hundred couples can be accommodated and all our citizens, old and young want to make it a point to come out and have a good old fashioned time. A special meeting of the Ford County Agricultural Society will be held at the court house, November 9th, at 1 o'clock p. m., all interested are requested to be present as business of importance is to be attended to. JOHN GOODWINE, J. L. FINLAY, Secretary, President. C. M. Beeson brought in a load of corn Monday, which cannot be beaten anywhere in the world. We stole an ear from the wagon, which was no more than an average one, that measured eight inches around and eleven and a half inches long. The grain was plump and even in size to the end of the cob. We call this pretty good corn even for Kansas. W. S. Pagan and family left this week for Salina, Kansas. Mr. Pagan is one of the foremost examiners of the Kansas Mortgage Company, and as business matters of importance will require his presence there the greater part of the winter, the company deemed it advisable for him to temporarily change his headquarters. Mr. Pagan thinks he will again be stationed in this city in the spring. Fred Martin has opened a shop in this city and will engage in the exclusive manufacture of sausages. Mr. Martin has been in this business his whole lifetime and understands it thoroughly. He is prepared to supply the demand in this line for hundreds of miles, and as he does his own slaughtering, you can rest assured that you will always get an article made of the choicest meats. Mail orders will receive prompt attention. The Masons of this city are preparing for a grand time on St. Johns day, which comes the 27th of December. An elaborate programme of speaking, music, etc., will be given during the day, and in the evening will take place a public installation of officers, after which the guests will be banqueted. Many visiting Masons will be present and participate in the ceremonies. As this is the first celebration of St. John's day, and also the first public installation of officers by the Masonic order in this city, we feel safe in saying that it will eclipse anything we have had for a long time.

The "old timers" got there. We met the enemy and we are their. Ex-mayor Tarbox is at home from Guthrie, I. T. The democrats cleaned the platter yesterday. But not by themselves, they had republican assistance. Apollo Lodge, K. of P., will work in the Esquire and Knights rank next Tuesday night. A full attendance of members is desired. Visiting brothers are cordially invited. Committees will wait on our citizens in a few days soliciting contributions for the Thanksgiving dinner to be given by the Ladies Aid Society of the M. E. church. We trust all who are called on will respond liberally. We made an honorable fight, democratic brethren, and lost. The day is yours, may you so attend to the affairs of the county that when your labors are ended the people can proclaim from the bottom of their hearts, "well done, good and faithful servants."

It would seem that men who went to Oklahoma last April, and who are holding homesteads in the territory, would be disfranchised from voting at an election in this county, but such was a case brought to our notice yesterday; the gentleman coming all the way from that territory for the express purpose of voting, and did vote at the North Dodge polls. Miss Lizzie Richmond, the accomplished and beautiful leading lady of the "Keep It Dark" company, is the possessor of a rich soprano voice. She has a large and expensive wardrobe, and her dresses are marvels of beauty and elegance, and never fail to prove an interesting feature to the ladies. At Kelly's Friday night. Tickets at Crumline and Stewarts. OBITUARY. Died, at the residence of his son-in-law, Mr. T. B. Rice, in this city Monday morning, November 4th, 1889, G. W. Wallace, aged seventy-one years. The deceased was in his usual health up to Sunday morning, the 3d inst., when he was suddenly taken with severe spells of vomiting, caused by an acute attack of indigestion, after which congestion of the bowels and kidneys set in, resulting in his death the following morning. G. W. Wallace was born in Old Franklin, Howard county, Missouri, November 20th, 1818. He was married May 1st, 1839, to Lucinda Jamison, who preceded him to the grave about fourteen years, dying in 1875. He was the father of eight children, one of whom died in infancy another at the age of fifteen years. Six are still living, married and with families; two reside in Saline county, Missouri, one near Olathe, Kansas; one in Bates county, Missouri; one in Dallas, Texas, and the other, Mrs. Mary L. Rice, in Dodge City. He was converted and joined the Baptist church in this city in 1836. The funeral services were held at the residence Monday evening, at eight o'clock, conducted by the Masonic fraternity, who attended in a body to do reverence and pay tribute to their departed brother. The remains were shipped to Saline county, Missouri, where they will be laid beside those of his wife. Rev. W. H. Rose, of the M. E. church, made a short and beautiful address, of which the following is an outline: "The presence of the dead always makes us sad. When we stand by the open grave or at the casket where lies the lifeless form of a friend or neighbor a feeling of deep solemnity takes hold of us. Our hearts are troubled with our bereavement or we sympathize with the bereaved. But whatever may be our relation to the dead our thought and feelings should be influenced by the circumstances of the life and death of the dead, the age attained, the suffering relieved, the spiritual condition and preparation, and the condition in which the bereaved ones are left for life's struggles, are important factors in the makeup of our thoughts on such occasions. It always seems better to us that one should reach a ripe old age than to be cut off in the prime of life, when its responsibilities are heaviest upon them. It seems better, too, that one should die a natural death with their friends than meet with an accident. And further, we recognize it as far better for their eternal good that our dead should have made their peace with God and stand so related to His Divine Justice that there would be no fear of the judgment. The sorrow must come to us in bereavement. But these conditions as well as our own trust in God are helpful in allaying our grief. We are happy to point the sorrowing ones to these conditions as having been met in the case of our brother. He had lived a life beyond the allotted 'three score and ten.' He had reached this mature age without being compelled to give up active life. Naturally fond of outdoor exercise and sports he had been able to continue them to within less than two days of his death. "He had seen his children grow up to maturity and to be blessed with families of their own. He had witnessed the death of the wife of his young manhood some fourteen years before his own decease. Life's responsibilities had been very largely removed from him. Moreover, he had committed himself to the mercy of God and exercised faith in Christ as his Savior and was able to trust Him. Should not all these considera-
