Hiram B. Miller.

Hiram B. Miller, of Osage City, died at the home of his son, Clyde W. Miller at 811 Buchanan street, this morning after an illness of 40 days. He was one of the best known men in the state generally and locally and otherwise. He served two terms in the state senate and was elected for the Republican nomination as governor by W. J. Bailey.

Mr. Miller has always been interested in public affairs and was a tireless worker. In fact, his persistent labor is thought to be responsible for his death at this time. He was born in Cuyahoga county, Ohio, in 1848. His early days were spent on the farm where he early came in close sympathy with the farmers of the soil.

When the war broke out he was too young to go, but as the great struggle progressed between the contending forces of the country and the nation's life hung in the balance, he could not resist the temptation to get into the fray and do his part for his country.

He remained with his company until the close of the war, when he returned to his native state. Farming and teaching school were his occupations for four years. It was in 1869 that his determination to find a greater and better field of activity led him to Topeka.

Old Soldiers in Coffeyville Say They're for Stubbs. Moving Picture Houses Also Are Patronized Liberally.

In a circular sent to every member of their organization, the Sedgwick county Republican league has urged the members to oppose every Bull Moose candidate on the Republican ticket from legislative candidate to United States senator.

One of the big fights of the next two weeks in Kansas will be the fight for the control of the legislature. It is generally conceded that the ordinary voter has settled the problem as to whom he will support for president.

Washington, Oct. 23.—Thomas Ryan of Muskogee, Okla., formerly of Topeka, Kan., assistant secretary of the Interior under Hitchcock; a member of the house of representatives from Kansas for eleven terms and once minister to Mexico, has resigned from government service and will retire from public life.

Mr. Ryan for several years has been advisory counsel to the secretary of the Interior. His resignation will be effective November 25 when he will be 75 years old.

Wilson Is a Strong Favorite in the Election Betting. The odds of four to one, at which bets are being placed in Wall street on Wilson for president, were more formally established than ever today.

New York, Oct. 23.—The odds of four to one, at which bets are being placed in Wall street on Wilson for president, were more formally established than ever today. An unusually large amount of Tammany money was offered during the day on the Democratic candidate at this quotation.

Large sums were also wagered on William Taft, the Democratic candidate for governor at 8 to 5.

The long odds on Wilson indicate strong confidence on the part of his supporters in his election but has not prevented many of the Roosevelt enthusiasts accepting them. The Bull Moose has also offered to bet 4 to 5 that Roosevelt will get more votes than Taft in the Democratic primary.

Republicans are holding back, however, for even money. Many bets have been placed at even money on the popular votes of Roosevelt and Taft.

New York, Oct. 23.—Around Mrs. Frank J. Gould's three diamond necklaces for the first time, the famous "Rope of Pearls," three strands of lustrous gems, a Paris dealer in precious stones, commissioned by Mr. Gould has been perfecting the "Rope of Pearls" for three years.

The necklace, with its delicate setting, wrapped thrice around Mrs. Gould's neck, yet the last strand fell to her waist, where it was fastened by a rare diamond clasp.

Mrs. Gould has two or three other pearl necklaces. A complete system of financial records and cards under accounting systems were installed in the Democratic headquarters before the expenditure of money began. It is stated that as the result of close application of business methods in the campaign, the contract for the printing of Wilson and Marshall lithographs was given to the lowest bidder, irrespective of party affiliations.

St. Paul, Minn., Oct. 23.—Transcontinental traffic and even United States mail was delayed for five minutes in the union depot here because Miss Alice Nielsen and Mlle. Jaska Swartz, stars of the Boston grand opera company, chose to dance the turkey trot, the grizzly bear and Gaby glide on the station platform.

Conductors with right hands raised to give the "highball" sign, stood rigidly on their stations as downy porters dropped arm loads of mail cases, and all stared and smiled while the two song birds tripped as daintily as the modern dances will allow through a maze of baggage trucks and mail boxes.

Lexington, Oct. 23.—Five noted brood mares, the last of J. R. Keene's famous stock farm holding here were purchased today by Frank J. Gould for $50,000, the highest price ever paid for similar lot at one time.

The mares will be taken to Gould's stock farm in France.

New York, Oct. 23.—J. P. Morgan and company received 165,000 shares of stock for services in connection with the formation of the Harvester company. This stock on August 14, 1912, was valued at $13,500,000.

San Francisco, Oct. 23.—If a polo pony unseats its rider and then rolls over him three times, as he lies prostrate on a muddy field, the rider may resent the indignity by striking the pony with the mallet. This was the momentous finding of the San Mateo Polo club today, in the case of George Garritt, clubman and financier, accused of having broken rule 24 of the American Polo association, which forbids a player striking an adversary or pony with his hands or mallet.

The board of governors of the club found that "said pony did then and there roll over said Garritt three times on the muddy field." Justifying a liberal construction of rule 24 on Garritt's part in rebuking the pony.

Charles E. Erbstein, counsel for Mrs. Cameron-Falconett, received many offers of fresh evidence against Johnson in connection with his escapades with women. He also received letters of commendation, mostly from the south and one telegram, dated Cambria, Va., read: "Get busy; send that negro to Virginia."

(Signed) "THE ALLENS." Cambria is the home of some of the Allen feudists.

Dr. Anna Shaw, president of the National American Woman Suffrage association, will deliver a humorous discourse on woman suffrage at the auditorium, Saturday evening Oct. 27, at 8 o'clock. Moving picture films, special band, organ and vocal music. The public is cordially invited. Admission free.
