The sympathetic heart goes out to the people who see on the trains nowadays going away for extended kin visits! If people must visit they should visit in the winter time but the majority choose the hottest season of the year for this formidable undertaking. See a tired mother with her one, two, three or more babies starting off on a boiling July day for a visit. Think of the trip, alone—the worry and fuss of taking care of the children in a stuffy, crowded Pullman car! In order to keep them half way presentable or even a short trip the mother must take a quantity of luggage and in spite of all her fussing they arrive at their destination with soiled clothes, sticky fingers and unkempt hair. And the mother's troubles are only begun. The change in climate, water, diet and habits unsettles the children physically and morally. Children are always ill when they are visiting and they get so much petting and so much attention from in-laws that when they return home spoiled that it takes six months of home discipline to restore them to their natural condition of sweetness and cheer. A woman visiting in her own town is allowed to feed her children what she wants them to have, their naps are interrupted and their whole routine of life is thrown into confusion. She is well and happy at home is disturbed. As for the mother, herself, who went away for rest and recreation, little does she care what her children are doing. She is sitting by herself, trying to keep them always dressed immaculate and herself presentable and running around to the neighbors to see what they are doing. Those who have to visit who are inevitable incidents of a kin visit her vacation is a nightmare. When she has time to think at all she thinks with regret of the weeks she has had in some boiling July day with two suit cases and a bag, an alcohol lamp and a collection of bottles for preserving, washing, and a mother who is clean, healthy and happy children to crowd into one drawing room for a long railway journey—and for what? Just in order to give to the mother-in-law a glimpse of a summer vacation for every member of the family but the husband and father.

Mrs. Frank Squires will entertain Wednesday evening for Miss Martha Parker, who is the guest of her aunt, Mrs. Harry Larimer, and the state of Conway of Cottonwood Falls who is visiting Mrs. E. W. Ellis.

The Owls will give a picnic tomorrow afternoon at Cedarcrest for Miss Ethel Stone of Emporia, who is the guest of Miss Una Lytle.

Here is Mrs. John J. Ingalls' celebrated recipe for blackberry jam: Look over a gallon of blackberries, wash and drain. Pour in a preserving kettle, pour in a pint of water and cook until soft, stirring and mashing with a wooden spoon to break up the fruit. Stir that it does not scorch. Then from the fire and press through a wire sieve into a stone jar. Do not use tin. Stir this pulp thoroughly. Take a quart of the pulp and put in a kettle with a quart of sugar measure, eight and previously heated in the oven. Bring to a boil, cook rapidly for 15 or 20 minutes, until it jellies when dropped in a cold saucer. Pour into small jars and when cold seal. Repeat the cooking with another quart of the pulp until all has been used. The jam is easier to put in jars at that time. It is a good plan in hot weather to prepare the berries one day, set away in the cellar and make the jam in the cool of the next morning.

Mrs. L. H. Greenwood will entertain informally this evening for Miss Irene De Vere of Okonosa, Iowa.

When do you need one?
—When your Tongue is coated
—When you have Heartburn, Belching, Acid Risings in Throat
—When Pimples begin to peep out.
—When your stomach Gnavs and Burns.

That's the time to check coming Constipation, Indigestion and Dyspepsia.
That's the time to take a Cascaret.

One tablet taken whenever you suspect you need it will insure you against 90 per cent of all other ills likely to attack you.

Cascarets don't purge, don't weaken, don't irritate, nor upset your stomach. They stimulate the Bowel Muscles to contract and propel the Food naturally past the little valves that mix Digestive Juices with Food.

This stronger action produces greater nutrition from food and perfect elimination of useless materials.

It makes the blood purer, healthier and more reconstructive, insuring a fine, clear color and complexion.

Then carry the little ten-cent box constantly with you in your purse, and take a Cascaret whenever you suspect you need it.

All Druggists sell them—over ten million boxes a year, for six years.

Be very careful to get the genuine, made only by the Sterling Remedy Company and never sold in bulk. Every tablet stamped "G.C.C."

of his older sisters wearing on his nerves, decided to come to Topeka as a position for the summer. The morning he left he had a quarrel with "the girls" which finally involved the whole family, so in his anxiety he ignored everybody except the milk oflice milk to only member of the household with whom he was on friendly terms. He found a position in Topeka and was told to report for duty at seven o'clock next morning. He was so afraid that he would oversleep and be late for work the first day that he put his watch under his pillow and lay awake most of the night. He awoke every fifteen minutes to see what time it was and he was up at five o'clock wandering around the streets waiting for the place where he was to work to open up.

A mother took her four children on a long railway journey. The first day she sent the two older girls into the dining room where they were to wait until she had finished and the water brought her their check she found that they had eaten three dollars' worth of cereals and cream.

"Your hair," said one of her grown-up friends to little Betty. "Histed the other day, 'twas like the next morning." "Well," said Betty, "I can't take it off and comb it like you do yours."

In a Kansas town a woman issued invitation to a "White Elephant Party." Every guest was to bring something that she could find no use for, and which was too good to throw away. The party would be given in the next room but for an unlooked development, which broke it up: Eleven of the nineteen women brought their husbands.

The onion game is a late fad. One of the girls takes a bite out of a raw onion. The boys pay ten cents apiece for the chance to see who can eat it. Those who guess correctly get to kiss all the other girls, while those who guess incorrectly must kiss the girl who bit the onion.

Mrs. A. who is one of the busiest of the V. G.'s, having heard a choice bit of scandal went to see Mrs. B. the other day and impart her information. "Oh, Mrs. B. exclaimed, 'I can't believe it. 'Yes, indeed,'" insisted Mrs. A. "I know it's true." "Well," said Mrs. B. "It seem too terrible to do go on and tell me about it." "But Mrs. A. was in the next room had stood for about all he could and he appeared in the door and said: "Marla, I am ashamed of you and I am surprised at you, Mrs. A. What are you thinking of to spread such scandal. The girls you are talking about are good and innocent I am sure and if they were not you have daughters of your own and if you look after them you can see that you will have no time to be slandering other girls."

There is some talk of a Carnegie medal for Mr. B. and it is a safe bet that the other man at the state who would show an equal amount of courage in a similar situation.

Mrs. Nellie R. Dunning left today for a several weeks' visit in Topeka, Lawrence, Kansas City and Chicago.—Concordia Kansasan.

When a big, fat, healthy woman goes away for a summer trip leaving her husband toiling at home she will apologize for it by saying, "Well, I declared that I wouldn't get a step without him but He couldn't get away and I was in such condition I would have gone All to Pieces if I hadn't."

Since that time the smelters have ruined this and they claim it is impossible now to raise enough on the land to pay for the labor.
