CHURCH CELEBRATION.

Two Hundredth Anniversary of the Establishment in Connecticut.

Stratford, Conn., June 12.—Commemoration of the 200th anniversary of the establishment in Connecticut of the church of England was held today in Christ church here in the presence of one of the most distinguished bodies of churchmen that has been seen in the state.

This was the first parish in the state and its history is closely interwoven with the story of the English church in all New England. The book of common prayer was adopted by the parish in 1702 and the church edifice put up on the present site of which, in architecture the existing structure is a modern elaboration. The parish itself in those days was organized by the venerable Society for the Propagation of the gospel in foreign parts. A dissolution of relations with that body came with the severance of relations between the United States and Great Britain. The town and parish records show that a spiritual warfare existed in 1769 owing to the "dangers of episcopacy" as set forth by the Congregationalists, and parishioners were not only denied for holding services but were forbidden to vote or to hold office. Boycotts and heavy fines were means used to compel Christ church members to assist in support of the orthodox church and state government.

For a time the missionaries sent to this parish had spiritual oversight in the many parishes established in Connecticut and Rhode Island, and the influence of these men is also noted in the parishes later established in western New York. Today's celebration was divided into two parts, that of the morning being religious and historical in character.

LONG CAMPAIGN ENDS.

The Puljane Organization Is Broken Up in Leyte.

Manila, June 12.—Pastor Abien, head chief of the Puljanos on the island of Leyte, was wounded and captured yesterday by Lieut. Jones with a detachment of eight infantrymen and Filipino scouts. Under Chiefs Udarice, Rota and Lucia, were also captured. The military and civil authorities declare that the capture of these chiefs ends Puljanism on the island of Leyte.

For five months fourteen columns of troops with scouts and constabulary have been campaigning around the hiding place of the Puljane leaders. The wife and family of Abien were captured May 25.

It will not be possible to remove troops from Leyte, on which island the campaign against Puljanism was begun June 14, 1906.

The death of Otoy, the head chief of the Puljanos on the island of Samar, April 29, has been reported by bandits captured by the Santa Rita constabulary.

BIG SWING FALLS.

Eight Hurt in an Accident at a Kansas City Park.

Kansas City, June 12.—The fall of the monster chutes at Electric park last night, about 11 o'clock, injured eight persons and created a panic in the crowd of pleasure seekers. The accident occurred when the cars attached to the swing were not crowded with passengers. The breaking of the steel shaft upon which the entire superstructure was supported was the direct cause of the drop.

The swing was a huge umbrella-shaped affair, consisting of a tall steel

WAS IT SLANDER

Norton County Town Gossip Gets Into Supreme Court.

One Man Sued Another for Talking About Him.

CASE WAS THROWN OUT

Then the Injured Person Appealed the Case.

Another Judge Forced Verdict in Spite of Jury.

An interesting lawsuit from Norton county was filed today in the supreme court. H. F. Bashford sued L. D. Wells for slander, and asked for $5,000 damages. He wanted $1,000 apiece for five different occasions on which he alleged that Wells had said to different people, in substance, that he caught Bashford out late at night on June 13, 1905, with a woman. Bashford said that this story was injuring his reputation with the people of his community, because the inference was that he was untrue to his wife.

Mr. Wells came back with an answer which was of a decidedly unusual character. He denied that he had slandered Bashford, and declared, as a matter of fact, that Bashford had been out at a certain place on the railroad right way on the night mentioned with a woman unknown to the defense, and that on that occasion he was guilty of improper conduct with the aforesaid woman.

When the case came on for trial Wells' attorneys demurred to the plaintiff's petition, on the ground that it did not charge Wells with anything. They said that even admitting that Wells had said what it was charged he had said, there was no slander in it, except as Bashford assumed there was slander in it by innuendo. The court sustained the demurrer and Bashford appeals.

Another interesting western Kansas case which was appealed yesterday is a harmless looking little proceeding in which J. M. Neville and E. W. Simpson sued T. H. Winn for a settlement on a real estate deal, in which the plaintiffs acted as agents. The amount claimed was $387.50. Winn claimed that Neville & Thompson misrepresented facts, and that as a counter claim, should pay him $300 for traveling expenses incurred on his account. Judge William E. Hutchinson, who was trying the case, came to the conclusion that on the law, a verdict should be rendered for the plaintiffs, and against Winn. He instructed the jury to sign such a verdict without leaving their seats.

The jury, manifesting true western independence, rebelled. The attorneys for Winn asked the jury be polled, and here are some of the replies given when the court asked the various members if the verdict was theirs: "No, sir, I would rather have the evidence; I rather review the evidence before giving my verdict in the matter."

Judge Hutchinson reminded him that he had agreed to try the case according to the law as interpreted by the court, and the court instructed him to find a verdict.

"Under the circumstances," said Bruce, "I suppose it will be my verdict."

Mr. Webber was asked if it was his verdict.

"No, not exactly," he said, "but under that ruling I suppose I will have to accept it."

Mr. Gear said: "It ain't my verdict, but according to the ruling, I suppose it has to be, but I think the next time you won't need any jury."

The court explained that the law warranted a verdict, and Mitchell reluctantly agreed. The judgment was for $387, and Winn, through his attorneys, E. R. Thorpe and W. R. Hopkins, appealed.

The case of W. O. Beardwell against the Union Pacific was appealed from Graham county by the Union Pacific. Beardwell shipped 232 hogs in August, 1905, from Merriam and Hill, Kansas City. The hogs lay in the hot sun at Salina for eight hours, and three died of heat. Beardwell claimed that there was a serious shrinkage in the live weight of the hogs, and sued for $80. He got a judgment for $249.50, and the railroad company appeals.

A case involving only $125 was appealed from Finney county today. It was that of John Mangan against the Finney County Farmers' Irrigation company. Mangan claimed that he had been shut off from getting water from the irrigation ditch, and that he had sustained damage amounting to $125. The injury was done by the defendant company.

The case of Mary Cotton vs. George W. Earl and others was appealed from Riley county. The opposing attorneys agreed upon most of the facts in the case, which involved the title and rentals to certain land, and the decision of the court was in favor of Earl.

Scott county today sent up to the supreme court the case of Manker & Kilburn vs. L. M. Toug. It is a suit to collect $3,360 commission on the land deal which the plaintiffs claim to have arranged for Toug. The lower court gave judgment for the full amount. Judge C. E. Lobdel then set the verdict aside and granted a new trial on the ground that the contract alleged was nonenforceable. The plaintiffs appealed from this ruling.
