J. M. Baird has greatly improved the appearance of his home place at 923 Kansas avenue by painting the house. The Baird yard is one of the prettiest flower gardens in North Topeka, containing as it does many rose bushes and other flowering shrubs. One rose bush is especially beautiful, containing as it does a profusion of handsome red blossoms. Mrs. Baird takes great pride and pleasure in her flowers and spends considerable of her time in caring for them. With all the attention bestowed on this yard by the family it seems a shame that persons would enter the place at night and steal the flowers, but such is the case, as the other night one of the rose bushes was almost stripped of its flowers.

The following from the Taloga Times of May 17 will be of interest to the many friends of the McMaster family in Topeka: "The grim angel of death has once more descended in our midst and laid his icy hand on one of the fairest of our number, Louella, the beloved wife of Harry F. Swartz, who died at 10 o'clock a. m. on the 18th inst., after 24 years' months and 8 days. Louella McMaster Swartz was born in Topeka, Kan., October 4, 1874, where she resided continuously until her death. Her husband, Harry F. Swartz, brought her to his home in Topeka, where she lived for some time. She was a woman of fine character, accomplished, and of kind disposition, and loved by all who knew her. Unusual sadness prevailed the scenes surrounding the death of the budding motherhood, and there is a grip on the heart that philosophy does not altogether heal. But the ways of Providence are beyond our short human vision. There is a Divinity that shapes our ends rough hew them as we may. The reasons which guide Him cannot be penetrated by the feeble sight of human wisdom and we can only bow our heads in prayer and adore His will. The fact that Mrs. Swartz had two days before her death become a mother and left a tender little plant that needed her love and care made the death unusually touching one. The deceased had been sick about two weeks and the immediate cause of her death was urticarial poison. Everything that tender hands and sympathetic minds could conceive was done to alleviate the suffering and pain. The entire community feels and deprecates the loss which has sustained in the death of Mrs. Swartz, and in common with all we extend our heartfelt sympathy to the bereaved husband and relatives in their sad hour of affliction. The names of Mrs. Swartz, Mr. and Mrs. McMaster, had been summoned from California by wire and arrived in time for the last rites but just too late to see their only daughter alive. The afflicted grandparents will take Louella Marion, the little new born babe, to Topeka to live with them in their old home. The services were held at the family residence on the 13th at 2 o'clock. Rev. Mr. Beach of the M. E. church officiated. The remains were followed to the Taloga cemetery by a large and sorrowful concourse of relatives and friends."

BLUNT ANSWER

Cost $25 to Carry a Revolver.

San Francisco, Nov. 21, 1904. Dear Sir: Shortly after you commenced the treatment of your diabetes with Fulton's Diabetic Compound you wrote that you could not see results, but would continue it a while longer. Later you wrote it was beginning to yield, and later stated that you were nearly well. We have not heard from you now for nearly a year. As you are a druggist, and we know that druggists, like physicians, have looked upon Bright's disease and diabetes as incurable, we are especially interested in your case and would like to know how you are getting along, and if you can give us a reply. Thanking you in advance for same, yours very truly, J. J. FULTON CO.

Following is the reply: "Bright's Disease," Chicago, Nov. 25, 1904. Fulton's Compound has cured me. Respectfully, H. D. BLANCHLEY.

Comment is unnecessary. About nine-tenths of all cases of Bright's disease and diabetes, heretofore fatal, are now curable by Fulton's Compound. Send for pamphlet.

Dr. Wm. Douglas, 75 and 101 Kansas ave.

When to suspect Bright's disease—weakness or loss of weight; puffiness, bluish or yellow eyes; dizziness; kidney trouble after the third month; urine may show sediment; swelling of feet; drowsiness; one or more of these.

In diabetes the most noticeable features are weakness, with thirst, and at times ravenous appetite.

IBSEN IS DEAD.

Great Norwegian Poet and Dramatist Passes Away.

Was Two Years Short of the 80 Mark.

EARLY A SOCIALIST.

Narrowly Escaped Imprisonment at One Time.

Has Written Many Well Known Dramas.

Christiania, Norway, May 23.—Henrik Ibsen, the Norwegian poet and dramatist, died this afternoon.

Ibsen was born at Skien, a small village on the Langnesund fjord, Norway, March 20, 1828. While in his twentieth year he became an apothecary's clerk in the village of Grimstad, during which period he wrote several poems which were published in country papers, and of which but one, "Til Ungarn, survives. While preparing for Christiania university he wrote a drama, entitled "Catalina," which was rejected by the theaters and publishers, and was printed at last at the expense of a friend, the total sales being but thirty copies. The same year he entered Christiania university and began writing for the daily and other periodicals, and he closed the year by obtaining the presentation of a one-act play, "Kjampetoven," at the Christiania theater.

Henrik Ibsen, Great Norwegian Poet, Who Died Today.

At this period Ibsen was a radical and a pronounced socialist, a contributor to the famous Michael Thraene's paper and of a party of students who made an organized protest against the expulsion of another leading agitator from the country. Ibsen narrowly escaped imprisonment with Thraene when the latter was arrested and his paper suppressed. Ibsen also afterwards joined two other young radicals in founding the weekly "Andhrimur." His Christiania career was cut short by offer of the post of theater director at Bergen, the second city of Norway, with a trip abroad to study methods and an engagement for five years.

No doubt the poet's remarkable handling was largely due to his having accepted this proposal and thus having long studied the drama from the standpoint of the actual presentation. His first drama at Bergen, "Sanctusmat," was not successful and was not published. The next, "Fru Inger til Oestraat," a play based upon that period of Norway's history when her ancient kings were making their way against the triumphant Danish invaders, was well received and is still considered one of his best acting dramas. It is especially noteworthy as furnishing a formal tragic part only comparable in modern tragedies to that of Lady Macbeth. Two other dramas based upon the almost mythical stories of the Viking period, "Havelok," and "The Vikings at Helgeland," were also successful. A short poetical drama, "Olaf Liljekrans," was also produced but not published. From fragments of the "Herk Herager," Ibsen's biographer, is of the opinion that it was a rude sketch of the same motive which afterward produced Ibsen's greatest dramatic poem, "Brand."

When his engagement closed Ibsen returned to Christiania, and in company with Bjornstjerne Bjornson and others organized the pro-Norsk literary and dramatic movement which resulted in the founding of an opposition theater at Christiania, known as the Norsk theater. The movement was popular, but successful. The other theater had to bend to popular opinion and displace its Danish actors. Ibsen's Bergen-trained actors soon became favorites. But the theater made returns small for both, and not only was the reward of playwrights small, but at last the Norsk theater had to succumb. While the pro-Norsk movement was popular, Ibsen was regarded as a poet and out of harmony with the prevailing literary spirit, which was pervaded by Bjornson's earlier romantic and idyllic tales.

Ibsen produced two dramas, one, "Kongsmyrne," based on events of the period of the early kings of Norway, and the other, "Kjaerlighedens Komædie," the precursor of his social dramas. The latter he tried to write in prose.

BETTER CIGARS FOR LESS MONEY.

This is the Reason Why Stansfield Recommends Wadsworth Bros.' Chiclos.

"In the last few months," said Mr. George W. Stansfield, druggist, 522 Kansas avenue, Topeka, "I have gained a wonderful sale for Wadsworth Bros.' Chiclos. These cigars give better value for the money than any other I have ever seen. My pride in giving my customers the best of goods for the least money makes me recommend the Chiclos to those who were smoking ten or fifteen cent goods."

Chiclos have a long Havana flavor, burn freely with a pleasant fragrance and are a mild and enjoyable smoke that pleases the most fastidious. "It is only about once in a hundred times," he continued, "that I find a cigar equal to its manufacturer's claims," but in Chiclos I found one even better, one that fully confirmed what Wadsworth Bros. asserted, a better cigar for less money.

"It sells for five cents straight, and as I said before, I recommend it to all who want a good cigar no matter what the price."

IRON HAND OF THE LAW. Found Ed Wilkerson in the Stricken Coast City.

Ed Wilkerson, carpenter who it is charged robbed J. W. Barber, a Topeka contractor of $200, has been captured in San Francisco, and Sheriff Lucas will start after him tonight. The robbery was committed while the new Topeka club building was in the course of construction. Barber, the contractor, was paying off his workmen one Saturday afternoon. He stood behind a board, which was used as a counter, and paid the men as they passed him. When Wilkerson's name came, it is claimed, he snatched the money in sight, $200, and ran. He made a bee line for the jungles, and was not overtaken by police officers who hastily took the trail. Descriptions of the man were sent to all the larger cities by Sheriff Lucas, and it appears that he called at the "tricks city" because he thought it was a safe retreat.
