Game Slated Between Haskell and K. U. Declared Off.

Athletic Relations Are Severed Between the Schools.

OLIVER NOT ELIGIBLE.

Claim by Kansas That the Redskin Is a Coach.

A Clause in the Agreement Prohibits His Playing.

Lawrence, Kan., Nov. 18.—Athletic relations between Kansas university and Haskell institute are at an end. The game scheduled between these institutions for today has been called off. At a meeting of the athletic board of the University of Kansas held Friday afternoon it was decided to give Superintendent H. B. Peairs...

Assistant Coach Oliver, whose eligibility caused the cancellation of the K. U.-Haskell game.

is off. Athletic relations between Kansas and Haskell are not worth much now.

No Compromise. The athletic board sent a communication to Superintendent Peairs, stating that as they believed Oliver to be a coach and St. Germaine to be ineligible, in the event of a game between the two schools after October 1, the board would not permit these men to play in the game against Kansas.

On receipt of the communication from Kansas, Mr. Peairs immediately submitted a counter proposition. He proposed that Haskell appoint a representative, Kansas do the same, and these two choose a third, thus forming a committee which should decide the question.

Cause of Trouble. The trouble has arisen over the interpretation of the contract between Kansas and Haskell for the annual game this season.

A separate section is: "No one shall be permitted to participate in the game who receives a gift, remuneration or pay for his services on the team."

The St. Germaine trouble is through a fault in the making of the contract. A clause reads: "No one not regularly enrolled in school prior to September 1, 1905, shall be allowed to play."

THE BIG FIGHT.

A New Set of Articles Are Signed Up in Frisco.

Fitzsimmons and O'Brien to Battle Next Month.

BE 200 OR MORE ROUNDS

Lanky Bob Will Train at Croll's Gardens at Alameda.

Jack Will Work at Sheehan's, Down on the Beach.

San Francisco, Nov. 18.—Articles of agreement for the Fitzsimmons-O'Brien fight have been drawn up and signed by the three parties to the contract, Eddie Ganeay, acting for Promoter Coffroth, who is still in the east looking after his moving pictures.

The set of articles signed yesterday is not the same set to which Fitz attached his signature in New York. Under the present agreement Fitz and O'Brien will fight twenty or more rounds at Mechanics' pavilion between December 20 and 31, 1905.

Eddie Ganeay is named as referee in the articles of agreement. This will do away with a lot of unnecessary argument occasioned by the fighters when they postpone the choice of the referee until within a few days of the date of the contest.

Bob Fitzsimmons has made arrangements to train at Croll's gardens at Alameda for his fight with O'Brien. This was the place where he fitted himself for his fight with George Gardner.

"I want a large place to work in so the public can come over and see me box," said Bob. "I don't care to be cooped up in a clear box where I can't have an audience. Reports have been circulated that I can't train any more and I am anxious to satisfy the public that such is not the case."

Edly Delaney went to Frisco with the idea of engaging a clever middleweight to spar with him, and the man will be Harry Foley if he is disengaged. Jack O'Brien will train at Sheehan's on the beach, there he has been since he arrived here.

KEILEY MAKES PROTEST.

St. Paul Baseball Manager Carries His Case to Court.

Cincinnati, Nov. 18.—A legal contest against a decision of the national baseball commission was begun in the St. Paul district court today when Michael J. Keiley, the manager of the St. Paul American association team, filed a petition for an injunction against the commission to restrain it from putting into effect its decision that he should play with the St. Paul American League team.

Keiley declared that he was not under contract to the St. Paul club and could not therefore be the subject of a sale by owner George Lennon of that organization. He stated that if he should be forced to play with the commission, undertake to play with any other team than the St. Paul club his wife in effect be blacklisted in baseball as a means of livelihood.

He declared that the members of the commission August Hermann and Dan Johnson, as well as John E. Bruce, the secretary of the commission, had a pecuniary interest in the discussion, for which reason these men should be removed from the commission, and the sale of himself to the St. Paul club be set aside and denied by the commission, which would announce to the baseball clubs that fact and thereby prevent him from playing with any other club.

He therefore asked for an injunction restraining the members of the commission from any action whereby any professional baseball club in the United States should be prevented from engaging him as a player for the next season. A temporary restraining order was issued, good until Monday morning when the case will be taken up for hearing.

One on Kip Selbach.

Cincinnati, Nov. 18.—The Enquirer says: Hugh Fullerton tells one on Kip Selbach, of Columbus, who won with the Boston Americans this season. He says: "Al Selbach is one of the best fielders and one of the best ball players in the business—but he has a weakness. He can't get the drives hit over his head—and he knows it. Perhaps you have noticed what a deep field he plays. Well, he can come in faster than any one since Tip O'Neill's day—but he doesn't like to go back."

"One day in New York one of these 'Jones' fellows, named Brown, same, newspapers printed a big half page picture of Selbach, and under it a story palpably written by some one who didn't know anything about it, called 'How to Play Left Field—'

by Al Selbach,' the player, of course, not knowing what it said.

I was coming up the field in the Polo grounds looking for a way one when 'Kip' caught a glimpse of his picture and came trailing along, looking over my shoulder, and trying to read the title.

"What does that guy say in there?" he asked.

"Then I proceeded to read—making it up as I went along: 'How to play left field—by Allen Selbach. The beginner in left field should observe, first of all, this most important rule: Place your back against the left field bleachers so that they can't hit the ball over your head—'

"Does that guy say that?" demanded Kip. And from his tone of voice it is well that the writer was not near just then."

HARD LUCK FOR ST. MARYS.

Outplayed Doane College Yet Lost by Score of 23 to 17. St. Marys' College football team in the most grueling game ever played on the St. Marys college campus the local team was defeated by the heavy team from Doane college.

Cochran Quigley did not present his strongest lineup as was his intention as lieutenant the big right guard, was on the sick list and Monroe, the varsity center, was shifted to right tackle, and this arrangement held the team work necessary weakened the team work particularly on defense, as Doane made most of her gains through the sub-guard Fitzsimmons.

Doane's Walsh won the toss and chose the west goal and received the kick with a series of shift plays which the St. Marys could not follow. The game was over in three minutes and duplicated the trick in eight minutes of play, failing to kick the last goal.

The half ended with the score 13 to 11 in favor of Doane, they having scored a touchdown on an attempted punt which the St. five feet above King's head, the ball rolling behind the goal line.

On the second half the Catholics rushed the ball over for another touchdown and Walsh kicked goal and it was here that the St. Marys line gave up against them. Their fast playing was blocked.

Doane's Walsh took time and running in substitutes while the St. Marys line remained in position. Three times during this half did the locals lose the ball on fumbles and let the visitors get within their own five yard line each time did they hold and take the ball on down.
