NOBLE & CASE.

1892 GREETING: 1892

A FULL LINE OF

FIRE ARMS

AND AMMUNITION.

Hardware and Implements.

Barber County Index.

Tuesday, February 28th, 1892.

OFFICIAL PAPER OF THE COUNTY.

For Sale.

The editor of the Index having that his plans are complete and he is now ready to publish his new work, the following are noticed to the public:

2. "The Code of the Civil Law," a new and complete work on the civil law of the United States, prepared by a distinguished jurist. It contains all the laws of the civil law of the United States, arranged in alphabetical order, and is printed in a large and legible type.

3. "The Code of the International Law," a new and complete work on the international law of the United States, prepared by a distinguished jurist. It contains all the laws of the international law of the United States, arranged in alphabetical order, and is printed in a large and legible type.

4. "The Code of the Criminal Law," a new and complete work on the criminal law of the United States, prepared by a distinguished jurist. It contains all the laws of the criminal law of the United States, arranged in alphabetical order, and is printed in a large and legible type.

5. "The Code of the Tidelaw," a new and complete work on the tidelaw of the United States, prepared by a distinguished jurist. It contains all the laws of the tidelaw of the United States, arranged in alphabetical order, and is printed in a large and legible type.

6. "The Code of the Municipal Law," a new and complete work on the municipal law of the United States, prepared by a distinguished jurist. It contains all the laws of the municipal law of the United States, arranged in alphabetical order, and is printed in a large and legible type.

7. "The Code of the State Law," a new and complete work on the state law of the United States, prepared by a distinguished jurist. It contains all the laws of the state law of the United States, arranged in alphabetical order, and is printed in a large and legible type.

8. "The Code of the Local Law," a new and complete work on the local law of the United States, prepared by a distinguished jurist. It contains all the laws of the local law of the United States, arranged in alphabetical order, and is printed in a large and legible type.

10. "The Code of the International Law," a new and complete work on the international law of the United States, prepared by a distinguished jurist. It contains all the laws of the international law of the United States, arranged in alphabetical order, and is printed in a large and legible type.

The above works are now ready for sale at the office of the Index, and are guaranteed to be complete and accurate. They are printed on fine paper, and are bound in vellum.