IT FLOATS.

A RECORD BREAKER.

The President's Remarkable Tour Ends Tomorrow.

Washington, June 4.—The president will finish his ten weeks' tour of the west tomorrow at 7 p. m., at which hour his special train is scheduled to arrive at the Pennsylvania station. Nothing in the way of a demonstration has been planned and it is not likely that there will be a formal reception.

Mr. Roosevelt will find much less work awaiting him than might be imagined from the length of his absence from the White House. All important communications have been forwarded to him and by means of the telegraph and mail he has kept up with his official duties.

Upon his return, the president is certain to have a long, heart-to-heart talk with Postmaster General Payne about the postoffice investigation, and Mr. Roosevelt probably will call a special meeting of the cabinet for Saturday. The cabinet meeting, if called, will be devoted primarily to a discussion of the postoffice scandal and its possible political effect and, secondarily, to departmental reports of what went on while the president was away.

On the Tuesday following his return the president will go to Cleveland to attend the wedding of Senator Hanna's daughter, June 10. He is to speak at the national saengerfest at Baltimore, June 15, and the next day will attend the University of Virginia commencement exercises at Charlottesville.

It has not been decided when the president will go to Oyster Bay for the summer, but he probably will go before the end of June. Mrs. Roosevelt and the children have arranged to move to their summer home about June 15 and it is thought the president will soon follow them.

Never before has a president of the United States made a "swing around the circle" like the present tour of President Roosevelt. During the trip, which will have lasted 56 days, he will have covered upward of 14,000 miles and addressed upward of 1,000,000 people.

It has been a remarkable trip in many ways. To begin with, the work mapped out by Mr. Roosevelt was such that no ordinary man could hope to go through with it. When President Nicholas Murray Butler of Columbia university left the president about a fortnight ago he estimated that Mr. Roosevelt had made about 250 speeches up to that time. A study of the itinerary indicates that before he returns to Washington the total will reach about 400.

Of these about half a dozen were formal, carefully prepared addresses, the other more extemporaneous. In evidence of the president's versatility and resourcefulness that he has seldom repeated himself. The language has almost always been different, although there has been a recurrence of ideas.

Another remarkable phase of the tour is the fact that twice the president of the United States has been cut off from the world—for two weeks while he was in Yellowstone Park and afterward for two days, while in the Yosemite.

MALE BEAUTY SHOW.

Young Athlete Wins the Prize in Remarkable Contest.

Vienna, June 4.—A male beauty competition in Vienna has been arranged by the athletic clubs and has created great interest. It was held in a cafe on the Ring strasse. The president in a speech recommended that efforts had been made for a long time to improve the breed of cattle, horses and dogs. Now it was the turn of human beings.

Ninety competitors entered and appeared dressed in bathing drawers. The winning Apollo was a young athlete belonging to Vienna. Many ladies were present.

WALK OUT.

Waiters and Cooks Strike in Chicago Restaurants.

Chicago, June 4.—Waiters, waitresses and cooks in several down town restaurants made good their threat to walk out at noon today. No attempt was made by the proprietors of the restaurants to serve patrons.

BAILEY GETS $750.

Donation Is Made by City of Newport, Kentucky.

Governor Bailey this afternoon received a telegram that the entire amount of $750 had been sent by the city of Newport, Ky. Five hundred of this amount had been previously dispatched.

The following telegram was also received from Rector G. Brown, grand master of the Masons of Kansas, who is this week at St. Paul, Minn.:

"Grand lodge of Masons of Kansas will contribute for the relief of the flood sufferers. Grand Secretary Wilson has been advised."

MAY KEEP HER SECRET.

Women Are Not Required by Law to Reveal Their Age.

Whether or not a woman may be required to tell her age in court or out of it is a disputed question. It has come to be the custom of most occupants of the bench to waive questions relating to this matter, and indeed inquisitiveness upon that score is of no sort of use.

"You think there is a particle of necessity for a woman's telling her age," says one woman, adding, "but it is equally useless for her not to tell it. There is always some one who knows it, and therefore, if you attempt to prevaricate you are certain to be found out."

This is quite true. It never fails that just at the point when you have cleared away all difficulties and convinced everybody that you are quite young some dear, good natured friend is sure to pop up and say:

"Why, yes, such and such a thing happened when I was 20, and you were then just three years older than I."

So what is the use of keeping the truth back? You might as well submit to the inevitable and confess the exact number of the years you have lived in this world.

There is no reason, however, why a woman should go on the housetop and proclaim to the world that she is 50 and glad of it. Don't do it and don't think you are old. No one nowadays is old. It is unfashionable.

The favorite stitching age for a woman is 25. This is proved by the fact that the number of women returning themselves as between 24 and 25 is far larger than the number of girls returned ten years before as between 10 and 11. The former most naturally be the subdivision of the two. Here is a little mystery of which the solution must be found in the intricate mazes of a woman's vanity.

The present king of England, when Prince of Wales, once asked a pretty woman her age. She replied:

"Just twenty-five."

Five years later he met her again and asked the same question.

"Just twenty-five," she again replied.

The prince smiled and said:

"Five years ago you made the same answer."

"Ah! your highness," was the rejoinder, "surely you don't think I am a woman who says one thing today and another thing tomorrow."

She was quite right. Twenty-five is a very pretty age at which to remain.

There is no reason why a woman should be obliged to tell her age in court. If she is wise she will not.—Chicago Chronicle.

BAD AT SALINA.

Situation There Reported to Be Very Serious.

Loss in Property Has Been Enormous.

PEOPLE NEED FOOD.

Feared That the Provision Supply Is Limited.

Letter Received Today Which Was Written Saturday.

Charles S. Martin, of the pension office, whose home is at Salina, today received a letter from his daughter at that place, which indicates that the condition at Salina is worse than it is in North Topeka, except that there was no loss of life. The entire town is very flat, the water covered the whole city, the sewage emptied on top of the ground, all water is contaminated, there are no lights, some buildings have collapsed and many others are unsafe, and the people have no place to go.

The Smoky Hill river runs through Salina much as the Kaw does through Topeka. There are probably 1,500 people on the east side, which would correspond to North Topeka here, and six or seven thousand on the west side. The west side, however, is very flat, and the flood extended west up the Mulberry valley at least eight miles, south up the Smoky and Dry creek valleys an unknown distance, and north several miles across the Saline river.

On the east side there are bluffs a mile east of the river, and to these the people east of the river escaped and were cared for by the farmers back from the river, but there is no place where the people on the west side can go.

This letter to Mr. Martin is the first detailed information which has reached Topeka from Salina. It was begun late Friday evening, when the water began to come into Mr. Martin's yard, and was written at intervals during the rise till Saturday noon.

Miss Martin's description of the sufferings and suspense during Friday night while she was writing is pathetic. The lights were cut off—it is reported that the gas and electric plant is destroyed—and the people did not know whether they would get out alive or not, high inch after inch water rose until all the houses were surrounded. At 1:30 early Saturday morning the people were alarmed by the blowing of whistles, as another high rise was reported coming. It did not materialize then, but it did a few hours later. The churches were opened and those who had been driven from their homes in the north and west part of the town were given shelter in them. The entire town was panic stricken.

Then the building next to the city hall collapsed. The big store of J. S. Gates, only a half block from Mr. Martin's home, was cracking, and the big wholesale building of the Watson-Durand-Kasper Wholesale Grocery company was reported settling.

The letter closed some time Saturday, but the postmark shows that it did not get out of Salina till Monday morning. It is supposed that it was taken overland to the Missouri Pacific to the south, and it reached Topeka last night.

E. D. McKeever, United States district attorney, says that he left Salina on Thursday, and even then the condition of the town was extremely bad and it was necessary to ride three blocks in boats to reach the Union Pacific depot. On top of that flood came the frightful rainfall of Thursday night and Friday, in which a foot or more of water fell in a few hours. Mr. McKeever believes that the condition of the town must have become something frightful, as no one was left untouched by the flood.

Mr. Martin is fearful lest the supply of provisions in the town has run out and that it is impossible to secure water which is fit to drink.

WAS JUST A HOTEL CLERK.

Dan Sully Has Made Him His Private Secretary.

New York, June 4.—Daniel Sully, the "Cotton King," has a new secretary, and the Waldorf-Astoria has a new clerk of the information bureau. It is because Mr. Sully has a new secretary that the Waldorf has its new clerk, the king of cotton having taken from the hotel one of the most widely known of its employes.

For eight years, ever since he left school, William A. McCusker, has been behind the information desk at the hotel. From a boy who told the patrons where they would find the barber shop and wondered if he would live to see the time that he would have to get shaved every other day, until a few days ago, young McCusker met all comers at the desk. It might be a woman who wanted to know a dressmaker that could fit her figure, a man from Llewellyn county, New Jersey, who desired to know where he could buy the largest gold brick, or just some person who wished to know whether the president of the United States was staying in the hotel.

Drilled in this school, Mr. McCusker learned always to show a pleasant countenance. It was the same to the millionaire with an absurd question as it was to the millionaire who wanted real information. In the course of time Mr. Sully came the young man's way, and watched him. He discovered that he possessed a wonderful control over his nerves, and never became ruffled. It was at a time when Mr. Sully appreciated persons who refused to become ratched, and the more the young millionaire saw of the pleasant-faced information clerk who was an encyclopedia of information, the better he liked him.

The climax came when a woman waltzed up to the desk and inquired of the clerk if he knew how to spell "ptomaine" and "neurasthenia." Without turning a hair the information clerk wrote the words for her on a card and then sent a boy to put a dictionary on the table in the writing room.

Mr. Sully learned that Mr. McCusker was graduated from La Salle institute and left college and came directly to work in the hotel.

"Would you like to leave here and become my private secretary?" asked Mr. Sully. "I need one."

There was the usual talk about money, Mr. Sully wanting to show he was a business man, and Mr. McCusker gave the hotel notice. Since then a private tutor, a man who wrote an encyclopedia and the author of a cook book, have been engaged breaking in a new man. On June 3 Mr. Sully and his secretary sailed for Europe on the Oceanic.

FLOOD NOTES.

There will be a meeting of the Ladies' Aid society of the First Presbyterian church in the church parlors at 2 o'clock Friday afternoon, June 5, to work for the benefit of the flood sufferers. As many as can should attend and come early.

Misses Fanny and Laura Eshleman are requested, in behalf of their California brother, to call at A. Bergen's office in Columbian building as soon as possible.

A. H. Brill and Rex Brill are safe at Elmont.

This morning word was brought that C. S. Matthews and family and H. G. Knox and family were still at 1319 North Harrison street.

Dr. Dawson came over at 10 o'clock this morning with Mrs. Shirley, who lived in the two story stone house at the corner of Van Buren and Park streets. She has been sick for some time and was brought over on a stretcher. The doctor says they passed the dead body of a woman tied to Marple's livery stable, probably by some one to prevent its floating away. A short distance farther up was the body of a man. He was unable to identify either one.

L. C. Baily has complete waterworks, wind pump and 40 barrel tank and can furnish drinking water. The pump will draw 50 barrels per day; hose connection out to wagon in street 909 Garfield avenue. He will not charge any one for water.

The police patrol wagon, which was swept away in the flood, was taken out at noon today on Kline street, east of the Santa Fe shops. It is not damaged.

Mrs. H. S. Curry, of 1320 North Topeka avenue, is requested, on behalf of her California brother, L. E. Eshleman, to call at A. Bergen's office in the Columbian building, or inform A. Bergen where she can be reached, as soon as possible.

A note was received this morning by Miss Armstrong, secretary of the North Topeka Young Women's Christian association, from Miss Minnette Loop. She and Dr. and Mrs. Haggerty are safely cared for in Holman's addition.

M. C. Holman sent word to the State Journal office today that Mrs. McCall and her two daughters were rescued from a two-story house, taken to his place, and afterward taken north to the high land.

All North Topeka policy holders of the Metropolitan Life Insurance company are requested to send present address to office rooms 4 and 41 Columbian building.

There are about nineteen head of cows and between twenty and thirty head of horses at Tecumseh that have been rescued from the river at that point.

George Kriepe, who lives two miles east of Tecumseh, reports that five houses are floating on his farm and that he has seen two dead bodies in the backwater there.

When the flood swept down on Topeka last Friday Lieutenant Ruddell of the British navy was visiting his cousin, James A. Campbell, at 1116 North Monroe street. Lieutenant Ruddell is, of course, accustomed to the sea, but he hardly expected to find one out here on the prairies fifteen hundred miles inland. When he arose on Saturday morning he found the house surrounded by a wild torrent. "Is this sort of thing common here before breakfast?" he inquired of the family.

President Miller of the College of Emporia, is here looking after the comfort of his brother and sister, who were among the flood sufferers. The mother is 88 years old, and her daughter is 60. The two lived on North Topeka avenue. When the flood came up they took refuge in the second story of their home, and on Saturday a boat took them from the top of their bay window. They have since been stopping at 413 Tyler street.

There are 14 people at the home of the Small family near Shorey. There are several cases of measles among the children in the party.

Parties knowing the whereabouts or fate of John S. Miller and family, who lived in the third or fourth house west of M. C. Holman, should notify the State Journal. Mrs. E. B. Folks, of Burlingame, is a sister of the missing Mrs. Miller. It has been reported that Mr. Miller and family were rescued and taken to relatives in the country, but nothing definite has been learned.

Volunteers are wanted to mend and repair men's and boys' clothing at the Auditorium. There is an efficient corps at work on the women's and children's clothes, but when volunteers were called for to work in the men's department this morning only one woman responded. Mrs. M. E. White is in charge and will be glad of assistance. More women's hats are wanted at the Auditorium at once.

While Henry Steele was going to his home to spend the night Tuesday some of the zealous deputy sheriffs fired two shots at him, barely missing their mark. They thought he was a robber. Steele says if he had had a revolver he would have killed the men who shot at him.

No trace has yet been found of Edward Grafstrom, mechanical engineer for the Santa Fe who is supposed to have drowned when the gasoline launch capsized Tuesday afternoon.

No fires have occurred in Topeka since the flood, except a very small one at the Santa Fe shops early this morning. It was extinguished without loss.

A train of Santa Fe cars was run out to Seymour's commission house yesterday, loaded with pumps and machinery necessary to begin pumping out that building as soon as the water gets low enough.

A woman who lives in Pennsylvania, and who not only was in the Johnstown flood, but in several other floods, is visiting in Topeka and says: "Where I live it is not uncommon to have water up over the first floors of the buildings. I know all about it. I want to advise people to get to their houses before the water is gone and sweep them while the water is on the floors. Let the water carry off the mud. If they don't do that, they will find it almost impossible to clean their homes."

The relief committee has decided that no more food shall be sent out into the suburb of North Topeka to people who have been offered repeated opportunities to come across the river and who have refused to come. Some families, of course, are unable to come on account of sickness, and these will be taken care of. But people who are staying simply to look out for their property will have to shift for themselves.

The U and I club which had a meeting this morning with the president, Mrs. Arthur Mills, will make the Mills store headquarters for its work for the relief of flood sufferers. The club voted to make individual cases of the worthy people of whom they have actual knowledge who lost property in the flood and will donate material and sew for entire families, fitting them out with everything necessary in the way of bedding and clothing. Each member is made a committee of one to report cases of destitution worthy of help and the club will relieve them as far as possible. The women of the club are to give dishes, kitchen utensils and old furniture to help to make habitable lodgings for their especial charges. Donations will be taken to Mills' store for distribution and the sewing will be done there to a great extent.

Two well known girls of the North side were rescued yesterday. One of them brought with her, in a sack, six little puppies, which were born Sunday night. The mother of the pups was carried by the other girl.

There are twelve cases of whooping cough and measles in the emergency hospital building at Christ hospital. In all thirty-three flood victims have been cared for at Christ hospital.

Two families whose names have not been learned are at the home of A. E. Dickinson, three miles north of Meriden. They were taken there from the west part of North Topeka. Other refugees are at the Park's farm near Dickinson's.

Ray Van Buskirk has a boat of his own and has rescued over a hundred persons. Merton French has also done splendid work with his boat.

Mr. and Mrs. Musson and two children who lived in North Topeka at Topeka avenue and Park street, near Grant school, are staying with John E. Frost. Mr. Frost has discovered that he and Mrs. Musson were old schoolmates.

The assistant postmaster at St. Marys arrived in Topeka today noon, coming part of the way by a freight train, then by a handcar, then walked a ways and the balance by boat. He returned at once with a bundle of State Journals giving flood news. No papers of any kind have been received in the vicinity of St. Marys for a week. He says no lives were lost up there.

Sheriff Bateman of Holton left this afternoon by boat from the Western avenue landing for the reform school where he will take the trunk with a large quantity of today's State Journals, for Elmont, Hoyt, Mayetta, Holton and other towns where they have received no papers from Topeka for nearly a week.

The Y. M. C. A. will open a cooking room for those who work in North Topeka, at 812 North Kansas avenue. North Topeka women will be put in charge.

Brewer Dwight, who arrived from Kansas City today, says that a woman and her child, from Topeka, floated down to that place on a house and were rescued there.

U and I Club Relief Meeting.

At a meeting of the U and I club held this morning at the residence of Mrs. Arthur Mills a plan was devised for relieving the needs of the flood sufferers. The rooms over Mills Dry Goods Co.'s formerly occupied by Mrs. W. S. O'Brien have been secured by the club for headquarters. The following committees were appointed: Committee to investigate cases for relief—Mrs. De Munn, Mrs. C. B. Thomas, Mrs. Robert Pierce and Mrs. F. C. Thomson. All worthy cases for relief should be reported to this committee by churches and individuals.

Purchasing committee—Miss Kate Gunther, Mrs. Frank Crane, Mrs. J. L. King, Mrs. Arthur Nichols and Mrs. Pounds.

The entire club membership will solicit supplies of all kinds and Miss Clough and Mrs. D. E. Esterly were appointed to look after all furniture and household goods offered the club and attend to their removal. Miss Clough's address is No. 401 Tyler. Bell telephone 772. Mrs. Dr. Esterly's address is 1104 Taylor. Independent telephone 118-2.

It started with a tired feeling across the loins, and finally became a constant aching. I had a very severe attack in 1899 and thought sometimes my back would break. I could not rest in any one position and there was kidney weakness, the secretions being highly colored and irregular. I went to Rowley & Snow's drug store and procured a box. They relieved me of the kidney weakness and the pain in my back disappeared. There has since been no return of the trouble.

CLEVELAND'S BOOM.

Senator Gorman, Who Is In London Thinks It Will Fizzle Out.

London, June 4.—United States Senator Arthur P. Gorman of Maryland, the Democratic leader in congress, who, with Mrs. Gorman and their daughter, Mrs. Hill, are visiting their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Gainbrill in Gloucester Place, apparently does not regard with any degree of seriousness the Grover Cleveland boom for the presidency.

"So far as the Democratic party is concerned," said Mr. Gorman today, "nothing will be done for at least six months after congress begins its session in December. It is probable that the leading men of the party will come together and consider who may be chosen for the presidential candidate, but it is impossible now to make any forecast."

"What do you think of the Cleveland boom?" Mr. Gorman was asked.

"Well," he replied, "it is difficult to say. My impression is that it is one of those booms which are frequently started in newspapers about this time in advance of election and may be reckoned with those of Judge Parker and Mr. Bryan and others who have been mentioned as possibilities. All talk now is simply talk.

"As to the Republican nomination I do not think there is any question about Mr. Roosevelt being the choice of the Republican party. That is as much a foregone conclusion as was the Cleveland nomination at the end of his first term.

"I do not think Hanna is opposed to Roosevelt. Hanna's name will be up before the Ohio state convention for indorsement for re-election to the United States senate, and I think he simply wished to have action taken upon that matter at the present time and defer Mr. Roosevelt's indorsement until a later convention. Hanna has announced that he is not a candidate for the presidency."

Senator Gorman and family will leave for the continent about the middle of next week and will spend some weeks traveling, returning to London for a trip to Scotland before the return to America in July.

REFUGEES ARE WEDDED.

Two North Topeka Couples Are Married Today.

Four more refugees from the flooded districts of North Topeka have not allowed the waters to dampen their love and have been married.

The first couple to marry was Albert E. Andrews and Edna A. Burt, both of North Topeka. The second couple might not have received a marriage license if Probate Judge Hayden had not been rescued when he was. The second couple was A. M. Bunter and Bessie Schenck, both of North Topeka.

SNAP SHOTS AT HOME NEWS.

The Independent Telephone company lost 150 phones in North Topeka.

President Norman Plass of Washburn college was sworn in as a deputy sheriff.

Harry Steinberg will give his regular social dance again Saturday and Monday next.

Chief of Police Goff and Sheriff Lucas will work together in the policing of North Topeka.

The Hall Stationery company has just received another supply of Gavitt's stock exchange cards.

The name of Mr. Sardou, who has done such heroic rescue work during the flood, is not Freeman, but Fremont.

One of the best equipped places for caring for refugees is Lincoln Post hall, of the G. A. R., where a kitchen, tables and cots were ready for use.

The roads to the Sardou landing are almost impassable for the ambulances and wagons which have brought the refugees from the landing to the Auditorium. Loads of crushed rock have been dumped in the worst places.

One of the most popular medicines and one which is apt to be just what is needed at present, is quinine. The policemen who have been working in the water have had a supply constantly on hand at the Melan bridge, and it has been issued to whoever needed it.

The Kansas City Star says: "Topeka's Melan arch bridge, at last accounts, withstood the flood, and is the only bridge in the Kansas River valley that did so. Yet when Topeka decided to put a large sum of money into an experimental concrete bridge the skeptics jeered."

Capitol Lodge No. 3, A. O. U. W.

At a joint meeting of the local lodge of the Degree of Honor last night it was decided to extend relief to all flood sufferers so far as possible and especially to their members and families.
