BIGGEST HAUL YET.

Police Get Enough Liquor to Stock a Dozen Joints.

The biggest raid for many months was finished late New Year's evening. Frank Raynor who is charged with running a wholesale liquor establishment at 412 West Curtis street is out on bond and a large quantity of liquor and fixtures belonging to the place are at the police station.

THEIR LAST GRIST.

Appellate Court Makes Decision Before Expiring. The judges of the Kansas court of appeals, northern department, have handed down opinions in the following named cases, to wit:

OFFICIALS LET OUT.

Employees of the District Attorneys Office Forced to Resign. New York, Jan. 2.—Deputy Assistant District Attorneys Daniel O'Reilly and Forbes J. Hennessy have resigned. Both resignations were requested by District Attorney Philbin. Assistant District Attorney Henry W. Unger, who had charge of the indictment bureau for some years, also handed in his resignation.

Y. W. C. A. SOCIETY

Tuesday was as perfect a day as though it had been made expressly for the numerous callers who thronged the streets the entire afternoon. The custom of making New Year's calls has been popular in Topeka for many years, and it still clings, though in the surrounding towns and most of the eastern cities it is almost obsolete.

One of the notable parties of callers was composed of Mr. A. A. Robinson, Mr. P. L. Bonebrake, Mr. Eugene F. Wray, William A. Johnston, their cards bore at the top, "Fifth-annual tour of the Youth's club," wishes for a happy New Year, and the names followed.

Another party which is as welcome as it is well known and which makes the annual tour each year in the old Astor is this year they sang at each house appropriate words set to the tune of the "Old Oakin Buckler." Their cards bore the following: "The Youth's club, 1901, and Father Time in the back sharpening up his scythes."

Mr. L. B. McClinck and Mr. W. E. Roby, Dr. R. S. McGee and Mr. F. B. Bacon composed another party and on their cards was the following verse: "Don't call us kiddies Or of immature ages, We are the boys of the future, They call us the sages."

A quartette composed of Mr. Kurtz, Mr. Roland Medcot, Mr. Phil Dalley and Mr. Clark Dalley was another party that made music everywhere it went.

The largest party of all was at the Y. M. C. A. In the receiving party were many of the best known society women of the city. The rooms were elaborately decorated with yards and yards of white ribbons, holly and mistletoe. In all of the doors were rope portieres of evergreen. From the corners of the rooms the chandeliers were evergreen ropes which formed a pretty canopy overhead.

At the Y. M. C. A. Equally as attractive were the Y. W. C. A. rooms, and the ladies who received there. The colors used in all of the rooms were red and green; palms, evergreen and red carnations were prominent. In a little red-decked room out of one of the parlors punch was served by a number of young girls dressed in red. The gymnasium was converted into a dining room for the occasion, and as in all cases most of the decorations were there. Ropes of evergreen formed an effective canopy overhead, and across the room was a huge Oriental carpet piled high with pillows. At one end of the room a big music box played during the afternoon. The round polished table had a pretty centerpiece, a centerpiece and a high cut glass vase of scarlet carnations, and was lighted by candelabra and with red candles. Refreshments of turkey salad, bread and butter sandwiches and coffee were served. The Y. W. C. A. colors are green and white, and the favors were white satin ribbons lettered in green.

green and white, and the favors were white satin ribbons lettered in green. In the evening a "new century party" was enjoyed by many of the young people of the city at the Y. W. C. A. rooms.

The receiving party next in size was at the home of Mrs. J. W. Sim, on Harrison street. Mrs. Sim's house is admirably arranged for an affair of this kind, as three large rooms are thrown together by folding doors. Mrs. Sim's small room of the second parlor Steinberg's orchestra played during the evening. Evergreen, holly and mistletoe, with decorations in the two parlors, but the dining room was charming in red and green. On the bare polished table were many of the young ones. It was a good time as the small parties are always enjoyable. The handsome rooms hardly need any decoration but there were many of the young ones. Christmas greens and flowers predominated. The favors were pretty little copies of Gibson drawings done by Miss Mary Swift.

At Mrs. Sweet's. Mrs. Mary B. Sweet and her daughter, Miss Mary, assisted by a number of their friends, received very informally during the afternoon and it is needless to say that all the callers had a good time as the small parties are always enjoyable. The handsome rooms hardly need any decoration but there were many of the young ones. Christmas greens and flowers predominated. The favors were pretty little copies of Gibson drawings done by Miss Mary Swift.

At the Bishop's House. Bishop and Mrs. Millsbaugh always keep open house on New Year's day and this is always looked forward to with a great deal of pleasure by their friends. The favors were pretty little copies of Gibson drawings done by Miss Mary Swift.

At Mrs. Trump's. The members of the D. D. Card club received at the home of Mrs. W. L. Trump, and Mr. Arlington T. Carhart, of Wilson, Kan. were married by Rev. Canon Bywater at his residence, 822 Topeka avenue, last night at 9:30. In the bride party were Mr. and Mrs. Santa M. G. Aden and others.

At Mrs. Wiggins'. The decorations at Mrs. Margaret Wiggins' were very dainty and pretty, the dining room especially. From the chandelier to the corners of the room were hung black and white streamers in the center on a mirror plateau was a high cut glass vase full of drooping pink carnations, a big bouquet of white roses, a tin of egg salad, which the ladies served to their callers with champagne wafers. The lights were pink shaded and through the lights were hung white and pink ribbons.

For Miss Davis. Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Patten gave a delightful dinner party New Year's day complimentary to Miss Myrtle Davis. The table decorations were in yellow; Mr. J. M. Patten was in the center and sat in a chair containing red and satin ribbons of a corresponding hue intersected the table from corner to corner.

Wilson-Latham. One of the events of New Year's day was the marriage of Miss Mary Pearl Latham and Mr. John Latham Wilson, which took place at the home of Mr. Latham on Monday evening. The ceremony was performed by Dr. Flak of the First Congregational church.

A Watch Party. A crowd of young people enjoyed a watch party New Year's eve at the home of Miss Tina, on Tyler street. The house was decorated profusely with evergreen, mistletoe and holly. A mock wedding was a very pleasant feature of the evening, and games were indulged in until a late hour when refreshments were served. Those present were: Ruby Boyle, Constance Whitney, Ethel Butlerfield, Harriet Ferrer, Lulu Bittell, Edith Phelps, Mattie Rogers, Bertha Lutz, Madie Tison, Lou Tison, Fred Phillips, Archibald Mulholland, Geo. DeWitt, Mrs. Stewart, Frank Forth, Geo. Bowman, E. Henry, Walter Whitson, John Rightmire, Ben LeBaron.

Miss Richter Married. The marriage of Miss Bertha Richter, daughter of Lieutenant Governor and Mrs. H. E. Richter, and Mr. S. S. Roberts, of Council Grove, Kan., took place New Year's day at the First Congregational church at 10:30 in the morning. The bride was attended by Miss Arnsley, Miss M. and Mrs. Shertel, and once for a trip to New Orleans, and will be at home to their friends in Council Grove after Jan. 15.

Notes and Personal Mentions. Mrs. Frederick Brown entertained the many friends of the Y. W. C. A. at a few of the young people very pleasantly Saturday afternoon in honor of Mrs. A. H. Connelly of Kansas City. Mrs. Connelly received had a pretty centerpiece, a centerpiece and a high cut glass vase of scarlet carnations, and was lighted by candelabra and with red candles. Refreshments of turkey salad, bread and butter sandwiches and coffee were served. The Y. W. C. A. colors are green and white, and the favors were white satin ribbons lettered in green.

That Awful Message. How Governor Humphrey Surprised the Legislature. In 1890, when the Farmers' alliance swept nearly everything off the boards of the legislature, the Republican state ticket by a close margin, there was much caucusing and discussion between the members of the legislature, and the "State House crowd." Governor Humphrey had been re-elected, and was the boldest of the Republican leaders, among them Ben Simpson, Bill Higginbotham, George Fackenthal, Martindale and others, that the governor should give the alliance a message for the first time in the history of the state.
