DIVIDES THE STATE.

New Kentucky Election Law to Be a Bi-Partisan Measure.

Frankfort, Ky., Oct. 19.—The conference committee which has been considering the disagreement between the two houses of legislature and which has been unable for several days past to reach an agreement, agreed upon a report today which foreshadows the passage of an election law this week. A compromise substitute offered by the anti-Goebel Democrats was adopted by the conference committee by a vote of 16 to 4, and it is nearly certain the bill will now pass. The bill gives the Republicans control of county election boards in Republican counties and the Democrats control in Democratic counties. The new law will not apply to the November election.

A fine steam heated and electric lighted room in Atchison can not be rented, although offered at a very low rental: the husband of the house won't rent it to a man, and the wife won't rent it to a woman.

The sanitary department will turn out the last case of smallpox from the pest house tomorrow morning.

City Treasurer Hale and City Physician Hogeboom will have new carpets in their offices in the city building.

The registration today reached 8,593. The office of the commissioner of elections is kept open every night until 8 o'clock.

A number of the merchants are violating ordinance 1128, which provides for a fine of not less than $5 nor more than $100 for throwing papers on the streets and alleys.

G. F. Sharitt, clerk of the United States circuit court, has returned from Leavenworth, where he has been attending court. The docket for the district court has not yet been tried.

The annual colored Methodist Episcopal conference for Kansas will be held at the colored Methodist church, Fourteenth and Van Buren streets, commencing Wednesday. Rev. I. Lane, of Jackson, Tenn., will preside.

Mr. Brown, of the United States marshal's office, today shipped to Leavenworth a lot of lead pipe and zinc, which is to be used as evidence in the case against the Brace brothers, who are charged with robbing the officers' quarters at Fort Leavenworth.

Deputy United States Marshal Prescott took two prisoners from the jail to Leavenworth this morning, where they are to be tried before the United States district court. They were Dr. Henry Wilson, who was arrested charged with fraudulent use of the mails, and W. R. Bowers, who was charged with sending obscene matter through the mails.

BOLIVIA AND CHILI.

Still Fussing Over the Question of a Port.

New York, Oct. 19.—A dispatch to the Herald from Valparaiso, Chili, says:

The Bolivian government has answered the note of the Chilian minister regarding Chili's refusal to cede a port to Bolivia. The reply is calm but energetic. It says that Bolivia claims only what belongs to her by right and rejects the Chilian propositions.

The secretary of foreign affairs has addressed a circular to all Chilian ministers explaining the Bolivian question.

Rebels Strongly Established.

New York, Oct. 19.—A dispatch to the Herald from Hong Kong says: The rebels are strongly established with headquarters at Wai-chau. Their leaders, who are apparently disciples of Kang Yu Wei, have issued a manifesto, proclaiming that China is completely at the mercy of her foes, for which the mandarins are entirely responsible. Everything quiet on the British frontier. The rebels have gone northward toward Canton.

LEFT TO HER FATE.

Steamer Orizaba Hard and Fast on Rocky Point Reef.

Seattle, Wash., Oct. 19.—The Pacific Coast Steamship company's steamer Orizaba, which was wrecked on Rocky Point reef, St. Michael island, on September 17, while laying the government telegraph cable between Nome and St. Michael, is a total loss. The vessel was abandoned September 17, according to a dispatch received here. Ten days' constant effort to haul her off resulted in failure. The Orizaba hung so hard and fast that those engaged in the effort to float her left her to her fate. Her crew was taken to St. Michael. Some, and possibly all, of them will return on the same company's steamer Senator, which is now at Nome.

The wreck of the Orizaba entailed no loss aside from the vessel and such of her furnishings as could not be removed. The cable and all the apparatus aboard the steamer were taken off and stored at St. Michael.

MR. WATT'S COLLISION.

Man, Woman, Horse, Bicycle and Buggy In a Collision.

John Watts of 503 Kansas avenue met with an accident, while riding his wheel south on Kansas avenue near Eighth avenue shortly before 2 o'clock today.

He was near Eighth and had turned and was riding across the street when a woman driving a horse to a double-seated carriage came around the corner at a rapid pace. Watts could not get out of her way for a large dray wagon. She made no effort to stop the horse and as a consequence, the collision.

Watts' front tire ran between the front wheel of the carriage and the shafts. He kept himself from falling by putting his hand out and holding the shaft. The front bicycle wheel was broken and bent beyond repair, but he was not seriously hurt.

Mr. Sholes Returns.

C. G. Sholes, superintendent of telegraph of the Santa Fe, is back from his second trip to Galveston since the great storm. The railroad has completed repairs to its lines and now has full telegraphic service into Galveston, the same as before the disaster. Much of the work done has been of a temporary nature only, however, and this part will have to be gone all over again and made permanent, putting in new poles, cross-arms, etc., in place of damaged ones that were pressed into service in the early rush to re-establish communication. The work of permanent rebuilding is now under way.

Prize Fight at Galena.

Galena, Kas., Oct. 19.—Eddie K. Morris, of San Francisco, knocked out George W. Walker, known as "the Trinidad Kid," of Trinidad, Colo., in the fifth round of what was scheduled to be a twenty-round glove contest, in this city last night.

THE AMATEUR REFORMER.

[From the Chicago Tribune.]

The young fellow in the chestnut sorrel overcoat took a chair by the side of the tall, attenuated man with the bored look and observed:

"These noon political meetings reach a good many people who haven't time to go to hear the spellbinders in the big tents."

"Eh?—yes," said the other, moving presently into another chair, near a window.

"This does seem to be a better place," the young fellow remarked, following him over.

"I beg your pardon."

"I say——"

Here the tall man moved again.

"This is better yet," the young chap said, following him with unabated cheerfulness, "it's out of the sun."

The audience was rather slow in assembling, and the youth in the chestnut sorrel overcoat took a coffin nail from a small pasteboard box in his pocket, lighted it, and began to smoke.

"I hope this isn't offensive," he said.

"On the contrary," returned the other. "it's an improvement—say, did you notice what you did with that match?"

It had been thrown on the floor and was still blazing away under the chair of a large, pork-built citizen who had dropped in for an hour's political instruction and was unconscious of his danger.

"Yes, I see," said he of the coffin nail, looking at it carelessly. "It won't do any harm, I guess."

"O, no, it won't do any harm—I guess. Only ten or fifteen houses, so far as I know, have been set on fire by that sort of idiocy. If you were working for me, young man, and did a thing like that in my place of business, all the harm it would do you would be that you'd have a $5 chunk cut out of your week's salary for the first offense, and you'd leave my employ to accept a position somewhere else mighty suddenly for the second offense."

"Maybe you happen to own this building, mister."

"No, I don't own this building, and I don't own this fat man you are trying to touch off. I am only laying down a general principle. I think a man who will throw a lighted match anywhere should be excluded, after he has perpetrated the offense three times, from all the privileges conferred by the Declaration of Independence——"

"I don't care a dog-on what you think about it. You'll have your hands full if you go around after people who throw lighted matches on floors——"

"Let me call your attention to the fact, my young friend, that I am not going around after you. I have made two or three separate attempts to increase the parallax between us, but you have insisted upon impinging on my orbit, and —do I make myself entirely clear?"

"You're trying to have a little fun with me, maybe?"

"No"—here he surveyed him somewhat critically—"I feel more inclined to weep over you. If you were a boy of mine I would know what to do with you. I'd——"

"Say, there's something you said a minute ago I'd like to have you clear up. When I asked you if this thing I'm smoking was offensive you said it was an improvement. I don't exactly understand. What did you mean by that?"

"Well, that's rather a delicate subject. Let me ask you, young man, if you are trying to live on 15 cents a day."

"What's that got to do with it?"

"Because, if you are, you have some excuse, you know."

"Excuse for what?"

"But if you do it merely as an amateur or for recreation or an experiment, mayhap, or because there is nothing else on the table——"

"Do what?"

"That would be different. But for a man who has no strong incentive, or isn't trying to win a wager, and has no justification other than mere whim, or carelessness, or a desire to placate some boarding-house keeper, I say——"

"What are you talking about, blame you?"

"A thousand volcanoes blow you up, young man! Don't you know I'm talking about onions? You've been eating onions, sir! You ate them and came to this meeting, with your immortal soul defiled with them! You insisted on sharing your guilty secret with me. Heavens and earth, youngster, do you want to drive votes to the opposite party? Have you no conscience, no sense of the fitness of things, no love of country, no——"

But at this moment the chairman called the meeting to order and the spellbinding began.

LOTTIE BOWES HERE.

Visits Relatives In Topeka a Short Time.

Miss Lottie Bowes, whose stage name is Charlotte Crane, visited with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Bowes at 1262 Taylor street for a short time today.

Miss Bowes is playing with Frohman's company in "At the White House Tavern" this season. The company commenced a three days' engagement at Kansas City yesterday. Miss Bowes came to Topeka on the morning train and was here but an hour and a half. From Kansas City the company goes to Denver. Miss Bowes spent the summer in Europe. She expects to spend her summer vacation in Texas with her parents.

Making of Campaign Banners.

[From the Chicago Tribune.]

Every available artist is at present employed in painting portaits of the presidential and other candidates on the campaign banners which every day blossom in a new place over the city streets. These campaign artists work in three shifts and turn out completed banners at a rate which makes the price, ranging from $60 to $600, seem extravagant. The first division of artists works from photographs. They make an enlarged copy of the features of the subject and then cut out a stencil for the use of the second brigade. The men who handle the stencils are not required to have much artistic skill. After using the stencil on the canvas they roughly fill in the outlines of the face and also "rough in" the hair, cheeks, and clothing. The third division of artists then takes hold and finishes up the work. They must be really skillful portrait artists, for on their labors depend the success of the portraits on the banner. They work less hastily and with smaller brushes, and do their best to get a good expression and some accuracy of features. The cheapest kind of campaign banners are the transparencies; next in price come the banners displayed on net, with two portraits, one for each side. Most costly of all are those which bear portraits painted on silk and mounted on heavy silk or plush velvet.

Mr. Nicholson to Leave.

John Nicholson, for the past two years manager of the Kellam Book and Stationery company, has resigned and will leave November 1 to take a position in the banking department of the Compania Metalurgica Mexicana at the City of Mexico. Mr. Nicholson has made many friends since he has resided in Topeka. He is an energetic and competent young business man and will be missed in Topeka.

HUMOR OF THE DAY.

Blobbs—"When he was a little boy he was always singing: 'I Want to be an Angel.'" Slobbs—"And he died young, I suppose. Blobbs—"No; but he's had his wish gratified. He's backing Barnstormer's Colossal Aggregation of International Stars."

The man with the hoe
Has had his show;
Another man now we find.
Of the campaign born,
He comes, forlorn—
The man with an ax to grind.

I know a worthy Quaker,
He is a friend, indeed.
Likewise, he is a baker,
And thus a friend in knead.

SPORTING NEWS.

Jeffries Talks of His Future Ring Prospects.

No Bouts For Him For Six Months at Least.

HE DESPISES CORBETT.

Declares Pompadour is a Disgrace to Profession.

Mentions the Fake Fight With Kid McCoy.

New York, Oct. 19.—Champion Jim Jeffries dictated the following statement to a writer in his dressing room at the Gaiety theater, Brooklyn, last night:

"In reference to the many challenges issued to me by Jim Corbett and Tom Sharkey I will say that there is not a chance on earth of me ever fighting them. I do not believe they are sincere and are merely issuing their challenges for the sole purpose of booming their business.

"At the present time, as every one knows, I am tied up with theatrical engagements and will be for the next six months. When that time expires I will make these same men fight or else prove conclusively that they were only bluffing.

"When I am ready to take on any one, the one condition I will fight under is that the winner take the entire purse. If they are anxious to make me a side bet of $5,000 or $10,000 on the result I will accommodate them.

"This is no 'stage money' talk, either, for I firmly believe I can beat every one of these big fellows.

"My reasons for demanding that the winner take the entire purse is that I am tired of splitting the money with my opponents. In my fight with Corbett I was compelled to consent to split with him before he would enter the ring. Before the match was made he said he only wanted one-third of the money, but when it came time for us to enter the ring Corbett sent for Brady and told him that unless he got half he wouldn't fight. I don't intend to ever fight again under those conditions, unless, of course, I should be successful in getting on a fight with Fitzsimmons. If Fitzsimmons will only agree to fight I will make an exception in his case and bank him on terms of 75 per cent to the winner.

"If Fitzsimmons continues to refuse my offer then it is open to Gus Ruhlin, whom I think is the next man entitled to a fight with me. Ruhlin beat Sharkey in as decisive a manner as ever a man was beaten and he has a draw with me, too.

"In regard to Corbett I knocked him out complete, and when he says I put a gag in him he does not know what he is talking about. Corbett has done more to kill boxing than any other fighter living. Just one more fight like the one he and McCoy put up recently and it will be all up with the good sport. No man can ever say that I was mixed up in a fake fight. When I fight I do my best."

CONEY ISLAND PURSES.

Adopts New Stakes of High Value For Future Meetings.

New York, Oct. 19.—At a meeting of the executive committee of the Coney Island Jockey club held yesterday morning the first fruits of the emphatic resolution offered by Perry Belmont and passed by the jockey club were seen. New stakes of large value and constructed on the weight for age system were finally adopted, and the conditions were made public last night.

The principal event is a mile and a half race, called the Century stakes, for three-year-olds and upward. The first number will be in 1901 at the autumn meeting for now two-year-olds and upward. The value will then be guaranteed at $10,000. In the fall of 1902 the value will be raised to $15,000 for now yearlings and upward. In 1903 the horses now weanlings and upward will have $20,000 to race for.

In addition to this the old Tidal Stakes, for three-year-olds (now yearlings), to run in June, 1902, has been reconstructed. It will be a weight-for-age race, at a mile and a quarter, with a value of $20,000. For the autumn meeting of 1902 a new stake has been opened in the Great Filly Stakes, to run six furlongs for then two-year-olds (now weanlings). The race has $5,000 added, and will probably be worth $25,000. All the stakes mentioned, as well as the older established events, such as the Foam, Surf, Mermaid, Annual Champion (of 1902), of $25,000, and the Lawrence Realization of 1903 will close November 15 next.

In January, along with other stakes, will close the Advance, $5,000 added, a weight-for-age race for three-year-olds and upward, at a mile and a half.

POOR OLD PIRATES.

Made a Gallant Struggle But Brooklyn Proved Too Strong.

Pittsburg, Pa., Oct. 18.—Brooklyn is champion of the baseball world, the owner of the beautiful Chronicle Telegraph trophy cup and carries away one-half the gate receipts of the four games necessary to decide the supremacy over Pittsburg. In only one game of the four played by Pittsburg did that team look to be in the same class with Brooklyn. The Pittsburg men went at their work Thursday with determination, and every point was well covered up to the fourth inning, when a fumble by Leever netted Brooklyn three runs. After that the locals seemed to lose their snap and though they played hard to win it was conceded by the spectators that the home team was out-classed. Wardell was put in the box as a forlorn hope, but the handicap was too great. McGinnity won his second game in the series by keeping the hits well scattered and receiving the finest of support. Cross was especially effective by getting in the way of numerous balls speedily toward left field and making wonderfully fast throws to Jennings. Score:

Brooklyn	1	0	3

Batteries—Leever, Waddell, O'Connor and Zimmer; McGinnity and Farrell.

The Brooklyn team went out of training immediately after the games and at night indulged in a jubilee dinner at their hotel.

The team, by unanimous consent, decided to turn over to Pitcher McGinnity the handsome trophy cup, it to be his personal property forever.

The Brooklyn management gave McGinnity $100 extra for his good work.

SHARKEY IS ANXIOUS.

Hopes to Fight the Last Week in November In Frisco.

New York, Oct. 19.—Tom Sharkey's manager, Barney Reich, today said that he would post $2,500 as a forfeit to show that his protege is sincere in his efforts to get on a match with any of the big fellows. Sharkey prefers either Jim Jeffries, Gus Ruhlin or Jim Corbett. Reich, who has been negotiating with the San Francisco clubs for the past three weeks in regard to a match for Sharkey, received the appended telegram from J. J. Groom, the matchmaker of the National Athletic club:

"See Madden or Brady and make a match with Ruhlin or Jeffries to take place the last week of November. Wire at once.

Sharkey told Reich to go ahead and bring about a contest. The latter then forwarded the following reply:

"Accept your offer. Will put up $2,500 forfeit and Sharkey will fight the first man who covers the money.

"I have been doing my best to get some of these big chaps to fight Sharkey," said Reich. "Tom prefers a meeting with Jeffries, as the latter is the champion. Despite the fact that the result of Tom's last essay with Jim did not terminate in his favor, Sharkey is still of the opinion that he can defeat the champion. If Jeffries objects I will match Sharkey against either Gus Ruhlin or Jim Corbett. The latter can have a side wager of $10,000 on the outside if he cares to."

COURSING AT MANKATO.

The Three Days Meet Proves an Unqualified Success.

Mankato, Kan., Oct. 19.—The three days' coursing meet ended Thursday. George Daton, of Lincoln, Neb., won first and third money in the all aged race with Hummer and Lady Gilmore. A Mankato dog, Pearl Trent, won the second consolation stake. The all age score follows:

Red Diamond beat Bellany, Hummer beat Busy Berryl, Lady Gilmore beat Langley Squire, Corbett beat Nacoret, Fleeta beat Harvest Maid, Nadine beat Meg Merilles; Hummer beat Red Diamond, Lady Gilmore beat Corbett, Fleeta beat Nadine, Hummer beat Harvest Maid, Hummer beat Fleet, Lady Gilmore drawn out.

Puppy stake score:

Fanny O'Rell beat Inshot, Silver Sioux beat Oneida, Lucy Lee beat Whirlpool, Gettie Ingram beat Merry Mont.

Consolation stake for dogs defeated in first day's races:

Lord Glenkirk beat Mond, Lord Vandyke beat Kansas Lily, Swirl beat Bessie Fox, Larkins beat Frank, Moulded Gold beat Highland Mary, Pearl Trent beat Mankato, Lord Glenkirk beat Lord Vandyke, Swirl beat Larkins, Moulded Gold drew, Pearl Trent ran bye, Lord Glenkirk beat Swirl, Pearl Trent ran bye, Glenkirk beat Pearl Trent.

HOUNDS AND JACKS.

Coursing Meet at Abilene Behind Canvas Fences.

Abilene, Oct. 19.—The managers of the Coursing association are busy erecting grand stands and building the enclosing canvas fences for the big meet to be held October 23-4-5. The grounds are the Dady pasture northwest of town. There are two stakes, one for all age dogs, open to any dog, and one for puppies whelped since January 1, 1899. The entrance fee in all age stake is $5 and $2.50 in puppy stake. The entrance money and $150 additional will be divided among the winners. Any dog winning one course gets its entrance fee back.

Dogs will be here from Colorado Springs, St. Louis, Minnesota, South Dakota, Nebraska and Oklahoma, besides from all parts of Kansas. A. L. Westin of Manitou will act as judge.

SIGNED WITH FITZ.

Big Ed Dunkhorst is to Be Lanky Bob's Sparring Partner.

Dayton, O., Oct. 19.—Ed Dunkhorst, of Syracuse, N. Y., who is here training for his contest with Jim Bill Kennedy for a $500 purse at the Anderson (Ind.) Athletic club on the 25th, is fast rounding up in shape.

Dunkhorst signed a contract yesterday for a forty-two weeks' engagement as sparring partner to Bob Fitzsimmons, and opens at the Novelty theater, Brooklyn, N. Y., on the 29th. Dunkhorst receives $150 weekly and expenses, with privilege of engaging in all contests he may arrange. He will remain under the management of Ed Bennett, of this city, who will act as his matchmaker. Dunkhorst always keeps in good shape, and will be better able to do so as a partner to Fitz, who is the only man the big fellow bars. Dunkhorst is open for a contest with any other man in the world—Gus Ruhlin preferred, and is willing to box anybody—novices or champions so long as there is an incentive, and as to "Sly Coon" and all such he says: "Get a club to book us and you can have a chance at the money and me!" Dunkhorst does his work at the Business Men's Gym, and has a crowd of watchers here daily.

WHAT PEOPLE SAY

Is Not What Makes a Remedy Valuable.

Testimonials are good things and we are always glad to get them, but they don't make our remedy any better.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are good because they do good—because they cure.

Testimonials simply prove that the tablets have helped other people, but it's yourself you are most interested in, and whether they will cure you is the question.

It is very easy to find out—try them. A full package costs but fifty cents at your druggist's. They are worth that if they only help you a little bit. The chance is worth taking at the price.

We put it on that basis because you don't know about the tablets. If you knew as much about them as we do you would have complete confidence; this advertising would be unnecessary. We have seen them cure the worst cases of stomach trouble. Cases of long standing and obstinate, cases that other medicines and even high priced doctors had failed to subdue.

Here are some testimonials. If you care to read them we have thousands of them:

Rev. J. R. Hoag, of Wymore, Nebraska, writes: For six years I have been troubled with dyspepsia. Last fall I became very much alarmed at some symptoms of heart trouble and came to believe there was a sympathetic relation between the two diseases, or rather, that the stomach trouble was the cause of the heart disturbance. I hit upon Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets for a remedy and invested a dollar and a half for three boxes which lasted me three months and I can eat any kind of food I want and have a good vigorous appetite. Although I am seventy-seven years old, I now feel perfectly well and without being requested by anyone I make this statement as a compliment to the virtues of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets.

Mrs. Lydia Bartram, of Assyria, Mich., writes: I have suffered from stomach trouble for ten years and five different doctors gave me only temporary relief. A Mr. E. R. Page advised me to try Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets and four boxes did me more permanent benefit than all the doctors' medicines that I have ever taken.

We honestly believe Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are the best medicine ever made for the cure of stomach troubles.

Don't mistake our meaning. We don't claim them to cure anything but dyspepsia and stomachic disorders. Just the one thing is the cause—the starting point of nearly all the sickness in the world.

Use Stuart's Tablets regularly. Keep your stomach right, and you can never be sick.
