"Kick me real hard,"

SAID HE.

We really felt quite sorry for the fellow, although he was really not entitled to any sympathy. He had been in the high-priced district, and bought a suit of clothes for $15. He was pleased with it until he came into our store with a friend who wanted a hat, and seeing the same identical suit in our window for $13.00, he said to his friend:

"Kick me real hard."

Well, people learn by experience, and experience costs something.

How is it with you? Have you been in the habit of paying $2.00 or $3.00 of a fancy margin? You certainly have, if you have not been here. Come and see us. See what we have, and how much better we can do for you than other stores.

TO STICK TO SANDY HOOK.

The Coming Yacht Races Will Be Held Over Old Course.

New York, Oct. 22.—Since Sir Thomas Lipton's challenge yachtsmen have resumed with new warmth the discussion as to the advisability of abandoning the historic course off Sandy Hook for the more breezy neighborhood of Newport. This question will, of course, be settled behind closed doors at a joint conference of the cup committee of the New York Yacht club, and a special committee of the Royal Ulster Yacht club.

A course off Newport presents many advantages. Good sailing breezes are to be had in these waters almost any day and Bristol, not far from Newport, where the Herreshoff shops are, afford every opportunity for quick repair of damages. But there is a very serious drawback. The stiff breezes off Newport often bring fogs which preclude racing. Moreover racing on the Sandy Hook course means many more spectators than would be the case off Newport. These conditions make it more than likely the old course will be chosen.

ENGLISH CABINET.

Idle Speculation on Its Composition Still Indulged In.

New York, Oct. 22.—Lord Salisbury's diplomatic success in making terms with Germany and intervening in the China negotiations, with authority silences all talk about his retirement from the foreign office, says the Tribune's London correspondent. The most industrious cabinet makers now admit that he cannot be spared from that office and that he must be allowed to hold it and the premiership as long as possible. Lord Lansdowne is now relegated by the rumor mongers to Dublin. Lord Balfour of Burleigh is named for the war office, and Mr. Ritchie for the admiralty. Mr. Wyndham and Mr. Broderick are promoted to the cabinet. Each day produces a new combination from the friends of ambitious or restless statesmen.

NEGROES AROUSED.

Protest Against Reckless Shooting of Portland Police.

Portland, Ore., Oct. 22.—While attempting to escape arrest last night Budd Murray, a colored porter, was shot in the back and seriously wounded by bullets from the revolvers of Patrolmen Warner and Patten who were in pursuit. Murray was innocent of any offense other than a public quarrel with his wife and the shooting was the direct result of his attempt to escape from the officers when called upon to halt.

The shooting aroused great indignation among the colored people of the north end, and the policemen are charged by the colored people with a wanton and reckless use of their firearms.

DEPENDS ON ELECTION.

Choice of Next President General of the D. A. R.

New York, Oct. 22.—Whichever way the presidential election goes may decide who is to be the next president general of the Daughters of the American Revolution, says a special from Washington to the Herald.

It has been decided by many of the leading members to ask either Mrs. Roosevelt or Mrs. Bryan to fill this position. Neither is at present a member of the organization but both are eligible, and one of the board of managers has just made the statement that within the last week papers have been made out for the admission of both to the ranks of the daughters. If McKinley and Roosevelt are elected, then the choice will fall upon Mrs. Roosevelt, and if the Democrats win the honor will be conferred upon Mrs. Bryan. The election will not take place until next February.

If either Mrs. Roosevelt or Mrs. Bryan should fail of election, then Mrs. Donald McLean of New York comes in for third choice.

IT IS DEPLORABLE.

Condition of Statue of Liberty Requires Expenditure of $100,000.

New York, Oct. 22.—The Journal and Advertiser says:

Bartholdi's statue of liberty on Bedloe's Island is in a deplorable condition and an expenditure of $100,000 will be required to put it in proper repair. If these repairs are not made soon a much larger sum will be needed to keep it from falling into ruin.

The only reason for this deplorable condition of affairs is that there is no money for the use of the committee to whom is entrusted the proper care of the gift of the French republic.

Several efforts have been made in years past to have congress appropriate sufficient money to complete the pedestal and grounds but the bills have always been defeated.

House Messenger Dead.

Richmond, Ind., Oct. 22.—Jonathan Whitearre, a messenger of the national house of representatives, who came here to visit relatives and vote, is dead.

DR. DOWIE'S SCHEME.

Will Establish Lace Making Industry at Zion City.

New York, Oct. 22.—Dr. Dowie, says a London dispatch to the Herald, attempted to convince a refractory audience in Holborn town hall that England had much to learn from America. They refused to listen, but nobly insisted his suggestions were neither Christianity nor Zionism. Finally four men had to be ejected.

Before dismissing his audience Dr. Dowie stated that eighty-two skilled Nottingham lace workers would leave for Zion City, Ill., early in November.

"Secretary Gage," said he, "has instructed the commissioner of immigration to keep hands off these pilgrims. He told me that Zion will be permitted to land all the imported labor it wants to the United States."

With respect to this last statement, a dispatch from Washington to the Herald says:

That Dr. Dowie can bring workmen into the United States under contract is true so far as it applies to Nottingham laceworkers. There is a provision in the alien contract labor law expressly permitting the bringing into the United States under contract of men who are skilled in an industry which is not established in the United States, and which it is proposed to establish. Dr. Dowie told the officials of the treasury department that there were no men in the United States skilled in Nottingham lace work and in order to enable him to establish the industry here he was authorized to bring men into the United States under contract.

LENIENT AT PRESENT

But Game Laws Will Be Strictly Enforced Next Season.

Chicago, Oct. 22.—There is a great deal of uncertainty among game dealers in this city as to the construction of the federal law in reference to handling game from states where shipment is prohibited. Missouri and Nebraska are known as open states, and game which comes from them is usually let alone. However, the federal law known as the Lacey act, is strict and requires that all packages of game shall designate the amount of game in each.

Thus far no seizures have been made under the Lacey act in Chicago. So far as is known State Game Commissioner Loveday is taking no active steps. To learn just what the government intended to do in this matter a letter of inquiry was sent to Secretary Wilson of the department of agriculture. Following is an extract from Secretary Wilson's reply: I am in receipt of your letter of recent date in which you request a statement as to the steps taken by this department to enforce the act of congress approved on May 25, 1900, commonly known as the "Lacey act." Since the majority of offenses against game laws are due simply to ignorance of the restrictions imposed for the protection of game, our efforts thus far have been directed mainly toward preventing rather than prosecuting such violations. Our object has been to make the laws more generally known and to bring game protective associations into closer touch with one another.

Although congress has thus far made no special appropriation for carrying the Lacey act into effect, there is ample provision for dealing with violations which may arise under it.

The construction of this letter by the few game dealers in Chicago who have seen it is that the federal authorities are inclined to be lenient this season, but to sew up tight the shipments next season.

BRIDGES TOO LOW.

Prohibition Special Train Abandoned Temporarily.

New York, Oct. 22.—The Prohibition special train arrived in Jersey City last night from Philadelphia and remained all night. "Owing to the fact that the Pullman cars which constitute the special are too high to pass under bridges on the New York, New Haven and Hartford road, John G. Woolley and party will be obliged to travel on regular trains for two days, while the special is sent around to Boston over the Boston and Albany road, where it will be met on Wednesday.

Volney B. Cushing and Samuel Dickie left at 8 o'clock this morning to conduct a forenoon rally at Bridgeport, Conn., which was the first scheduled stop for the day. The remainder of the party leave New York today for Hartford, where tonight's meeting will be held. Mr. Woolley will stop off at Bridgeport to address an afternoon meeting.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Case, on West Tenth avenue, was the scene of a pleasant gathering Saturday afternoon and evening. The occasion was an informal reception given by Mr. and Mrs. Case and their son, Mr. and Mrs. Dan Case, of Honolulu. The hours were from 2 until 6, and from 8 until 11, and in spite of the threatening afternoon and the stormy evening the house was thronged with guests during the entire time.

The rooms were elaborately decorated for the occasion with ferns, palms, autumn foliage and cut flowers. The most interesting bit of decoration was the Hawaiian corner, where a gorgeous Hawaiian flag floated over a collection of curios which Mr and Mrs. Case brought with them.

Refreshments were served in the dining room and a punch bowl in one of the parlors was one of the attractions. Assisting were Miss Dollie Curtis, Miss Beale, Miss Frost, Miss Foot, Miss Norris and Mrs. Charles Curtis. A mandolin club played during the evening. The affair was an enjoyable one.

MAGNIFICENT ISOLATION

Was England's Programme But It Wouldn't Work.

New York, Oct. 22.—There is much discussion of the Anglo-German agreement, but there are few fresh details, says the London correspondent of the Tribune.

While Russia and France were acting with the other powers it was known that they were in alliance with each other under secret conditions and would support each other. It is now equally clear that Germany and England, while anxious to co-operate with the other powers, are also in alliance with each other for definite ends, which are justifiedly enlightened. Diplomatic coalitions are not liked ordinarily in England, where the very real and trustworthy alliance is believed to be with the colonies within the empire. "Magnificent isolation" was a phrase which appealed strongly to British pride.

The new dual alliance is well received by the press because the principles upon which it is based are warmly approved and also because the obligations and liabilities imposed by the third article are vaguely understood. But there is an instinctive recoil among Englishmen against permanent coalitions with continental powers, useful and honorable as this one may be in the present emergency.

The moral support of the principles of this alliance from the state department is expected with confidence, but the American government's freedom of action and independence of all entangling alliances will be respected, certainly in England; possibly even envied.

Foreign opinion on the agreement is so far as it is known favorable on the whole. It is difficult to gauge the exact view of the Russian foreign office, and no word has yet come from Japan, but it is abundantly clear that Austria approves of the new dual alliance.

CORRIGAN PLEASED.

Western Turf Man Delighted With English Racing.

New York, Oct. 22.—Edward Corrigan, the western turfman, who has raced a stable of horses in England this year and has just returned, expresses himself as delighted with his experience at the English courses. "During all my racing," he said, "I never saw turf affairs so well conducted. British turfmen are admirable gentlemen, particularly anxious to be fair, and their treatment of visiting turfmen is cordial to an extreme.

"Since my return I have heard that Lord Durham has made charges against American turfmen. Lord Durham is a good man who has the reputation of being considerable of a radical. I know just what is causing the trouble. A lot of American 'touts' that were chased from the tracks of this country have invaded England. The sooner the English Jockey club takes action against those fellows, the better it will be for the turf interests everywhere. As for the American jockeys I do not see what fault can be found with their work. They have been riding to win out and, to say the least, have been fairly successful. The Jockey club is very strict and the boys have to govern themselves accordingly.

"It is not unlikely that in the future there will be more swerving than in the past, for the reason that the races are being run differently. Now, it is racing all the way, just as it is here, and in bruising finishes tired horses are likely to swerve more or less. But it will be obligatory upon the boys to keep their lines as nearly as possible on even on tired horses, and be careful not to permit their mounts to interfere with other horses, or risk not only disqualification, but suspension. I am glad it is so, because it makes racing clean and fair."

WASHBURN DISAPPOINTED.

Learns by a Paper That Game With Colorado Springs is Off.

Bennie Owens, football coach of Washburn, stated today that the Topeka team would not go to Colorado until Thursday. The eleven had intended leaving for Colorado Springs today, but the game there has been declared off for Wednesday owing to the mountain team having a game with Cripple Creek Saturday.

No word has been received by the home team, but an item in a Colorado Springs paper shows this condition of affairs. The Washburn team generally feel that they have been treated shabbily by the Colorado Springs management.
