DON'T BET. Col. Bryan Gives Advice to a New Jersey Audience.

Trenton, N. J., Oct. 25.—At Burlington, N. J., yesterday Mr. Bryan was taken from the car to a balcony a short distance from the station. In his speech he said in part:

"I was in a city the other day in New York and I found that the manufacturer of agricultural implements had notified his men that he would close up his business if I were elected and I told them in that event that man was going to allow other men to do the work, because there will be work to be done; people will buy buggies under a Democratic administration for they will use buggies in a republic. It is only charlatans that they need in an empire."

"A voice: 'What will you do for the old soldiers?' "The first thing I will do for the old soldiers after I am elected will be to appoint a commissioner of pensions more satisfactory to the soldiers than the present one."

"I am not vain enough to think that your enthusiasm is a personal matter for the individual title. The principle is everything, and a man is only useful as he can aid in the triumph of a principle. If you are not here because you feel an interest in me, but because you feel an interest in yourselves and your children's children. You are here because you are opposed to the policies for which the Republican party stands. You are here because you are in the trenches of the politics and in the trenches of the government. The Republican party says everything is all right; that the farmer is happy; that the laborer is content; that the miner is satisfied; that nobody ought to complain of present conditions. Our reply is, all right, let us see what you are satisfied with his condition. I believe he is enjoying his fair share of the earth's products and I know you are satisfied with his condition. I believe the things are all right, yet the Republican ticket. I am perfectly content to draw the line and say that you think that there is no necessity for better things vote the Republican ticket if I can have the votes of all those who believe things can be made better by better laws."

Continuing Mr. Bryan said that the Republican party was appealing to all classes. "Going among the farmers, he said the Republican party talks wheat when wheat is up, oats when oats are up, and when potatoes are up," he said, "every Republican orator goes about with his pockets full of potatoes."

Speaking of Republican appeals to the laboring man Mr. Bryan said the laboring man could not be so easily won to do as long as he was unable to send his children to school and had to keep them in the factories to help to make a living.

"Under present conditions," he said, "the laborer is receiving and retaining every year less and less of the wealth he creates, while the man who speculates in that wealth is accumulating fortunes that are a menace to the independence of the citizens."

"The trust," said Mr. Bryan, "discourages inventive genius, for all men who have skill in any occupation are under one man—then they hang upon him. It is the hope of independence; it is the hope that you can some day be your own master, that stimulates people to highest endeavors; and when you take this hope out of the human breast and plant it in the hands of one man, you take it out of the hands of the masses. It is contrary to our political science and to the welfare of a people like ours, for when thousands of men are employed by one man and dare not leave his employment for fear of having no use for the skill they have spent a lifetime in acquiring, I say when you have such a condition it is not a happy one."

Mr. Bryan again stated his position on the question of a standing army, saying that we do not want a big army, "but citizens who are willing to fight when we need fighters and who are then willing to go back to their avocations in private life when the war is over."

KANSAS NEWS.

Col. Little Explains a Statement Made. Refutes a Charge That He Told a Falsehood.

REFERS TO AGUINALDO Had Said That Chief Desired War to Cease.

Quotes General Otis' Telegram to Show Correctness.

Salina, Oct. 25.—The Union publishes the following:

"When I spoke at Salina recently I called attention to the fact that immediately following the opening of hostilities at Manila, Aguinaldo had sent a message to Gen. Otis desiring a cessation of hostilities. I have been shown a copy of the Salina Republican-Journal discussing my speech and denying the statement which I had proved by reading the statement of Gen. Reeves and others. The Republican-Journal quoted a dispatch from Gen. Otis which they claimed sustained their position. Gen. Otis is the general who so many times telegraphed home that the war was practically over so that we can take any statement of his with some degree of caution. The dispatch which the Republican-Journal quoted from Gen. Otis closed with the statement that his earlier dispatches were misleading. Under date of February 9, 1899, five days after the fighting began, Gen. Otis reported to the war department: 'Aguinaldo applies for a cessation of hostilities and a conference. Have declined to answer.'"

This can be found in the records by anybody. It is not a question as to being misleading. It is a question as to whether it just quoted states a fact or it does not state a fact. If it does, then Gen. Otis has demonstrated the correctness of my statement. If it does not, then Gen. Otis' testimony is of no value. The statement is correct, however, and pretty much everybody who has been the subject at all knows that it is true. The editor of the Republican-Journal characterizes my statement as a falsehood." Of this I shall only say that I very much regret that the emergencies of the campaign should be so severe as to force me to forget that I am a gentleman and I have the honor to remain, very truly yours, EDWARD C. LITTLE.

IMP TO THE FRONT. Game Little Mare Runs a Great Race in New York.

New York, Oct. 25.—Imp won the Mahoning race at the Empire race track Thursday. She was giving pounds to her three opponents, but was confident and had at odds. The race was a mile and a sixteenth, and as usual she went ahead in the running. She was a favorite. Musette made the running to the stretch, when Linnback came on and diverted from the track. Kama and Belle of Troy alternated in second place to the stretch, when the latter stopped and Kama just lasted long enough to beat the place by a head from Onack Queen. The first race was the Grand National. Musette made the running to the stretch, when Linnback came on and diverted from the track. CROWD FOR STANLEY. Governor Warmly Welcomed at Hutchinson.

Hutchinson, Kan., Oct. 25.—One of the best meetings that has been held in this city during this campaign was addressed by Governor Stanley in the Auditorium last evening. The meeting was opened by a demonstration participated in by three companies of rough riders and other clubs, around which was gathered a large number of the crowd. The Governor's address was a brilliant one. He referred briefly to the state administration, but the chief part of his speech was devoted to a discussion of national issues. He recited the predictions of Bryan four years ago as to what the condition of the country would be if McKinley was elected, and the Governor's address was a brilliant one. CLARK A SUICIDE. Young Nortonville Farmer Found Dead in a Cornfield.

Atholson, Kan., Oct. 25.—Commodore Clark, son of George Clark, living three miles southeast of Nortonville, committed suicide last night by shooting himself with a revolver. He was found by a neighbor early this morning. A search was made for him about the premises, but no trace of him could be found. This morning an investigation revealed the fact that Clark had taken his revolver. His dead body was found in a cornfield about 7 o'clock. Clark had shot himself twice. The body was removed to the Clark home and the Jefferson county coroner notified. The cause of young Clark's suicide is supposed to have been despondency because of the illness of his mother, although he had previously shown no disposition to take his own life. George Clark, his father, is a widely known farmer.

FUSION AT EL DORADO. Butler, Little and Leedy Are the Orators.

El Dorado, Kas., Oct. 25.—Thursday was a big day for the fusion forces in this county and will be the last general demonstration of the campaign. In the afternoon Senator Marion Butler of North Carolina made a speech to a large audience in the city park. He read from quotations by Abraham Lincoln claiming that the Republicans have discarded the form of doctrine as laid down by his words. He said in closing that in Green the negro is disgraced and that before the Republicans make fun of his state they had better take the beam out of their own eyes. In the evening the opera house was filled to hear the patriotic and stirring address by Col. Ed Little and Ex-Governor Leedy. The hall was nicely decorated, the Leon band furnished music, while the Bryan club was out in full force. The meeting was very enthusiastic. Mr. Little made a convincing

FUSIONISTS AT NEWTON. Newton, Oct. 25.—The Auditorium, which will seat fully 3,000 persons, was well filled Thursday afternoon to hear ex-Governor J. P. St. John discuss the issues of the day, and was crowded in the evening when John H. Atwood began his address. Mr. Atwood delivered a masterly discourse on the all-absorbing question of the fusion of the Democratic side of the issue in such a manner that it left no room for contradiction. He was given the closest attention and his speech was a vote maker.

Senator Harris Speaks. Cedarvale, Kan., Oct. 25.—By far the largest audience assembled here this season greeted Senator W. A. Harris Thursday. The senator's speech was so well received that McKinley in prosecuting the Philippines war had violated the Paris treaty, which gave currency the sole power to determine the policy in those islands. Republican statistics show that nine-tenths of the Philippines could read and were capable of self-government, yet they were denied that right by the administration.

A GREAT OVATION. David Overmyer Given a Splendid Reception at Galena.

Galena, Oct. 25.—Among the greatest, if not the greatest, political demonstrations known in the history of Kansas was witnessed at this place last night, the occasion being the Overmyer meeting. Never in the history of the county have there been eleven bands in attendance on a similar occasion. Heavy loaded excursion trains arrived from all directions. The crowd was estimated at over 10,000. Thursday to a large audience. He aroused the people thoroughly on the burdensome war tax brought about by the McKinley administration, pointed to the increased cost of living to farmers and laboring men under the regime of trusts protected by the party that brought them into existence. She succeeded in stirring up an argument by showing how little trade with the Philippines was worth, and touching upon state issues. He explained why he had protected the people from the rapacity of the insurance companies.

Child Seriously Burned. Pittsburg, Kan., Oct. 25.—The four-year-old child of Mr. and Mrs. Al. Winans has a narrow escape last evening from being burned to death. The child was playing near the stove when coal oil spilled and instantly spilled upon her. Flames immediately enveloped the child and set fire to its dress and burned both face and hands. The mother fortunately was in the room and rushed to the child's assistance. She succeeded in smothering out the flames that enveloped the child.
