HOOSIER DEMOCRATS

Meet in State Convention at Indianapolis.

John W. Kern Nominated For Governor on First Ballot.

Indianapolis, June 6.—A steady downpour of rain ushered in the Democratic state convention today. It was not until 9:45 that Chariman Martin of the state central committee called the assembly to order.

The committee on resolutions adjourned at 3 o'clock this morning, having agreed upon a platform.

The members of the committee refused to make any statement regarding the platform, but it is understood the monetary plank was satisfactorily adjusted to meet all differences of opinion.

When Chariman Martin concluded his opening remarks he introduced as temporary chairman, Samuel M. Ralston, Chairman Ralston spoke at some length in part as follows:

"I accept your grave in obedience to your command. It shall be my purpose and my ambition to be absolutely fair in all I shall do as your presiding officer.

"The all absorbing and dominating issue of the great national contest of 1906 was the financial question. Our opponents have tried to win by methods of corruption and intimidation, pledged to relieve without delay through financial legislation the distressed condition of the country.

"The Wilson law was not framed to bring relief to the government and the stress of business, but to reimburse out of the pockets of the people, the silk stocking brigade of political extortionists, who furnished the money to purchase the presidency for McKinley. The Wilson law had more money to the government the first year it was in force than did the notorious McKinley law in the last year of its existence.

"The all absorbing and dominating issue of the great national contest of 1906 was the financial question. Our opponents have tried to win by methods of corruption and intimidation, pledged to relieve without delay through financial legislation the distressed condition of the country.

"We are confronted with problems as the result of the war and the policy of the party in power in reference thereto, that threaten to rock like a ship in a storm, our present form of government.

"Touching the solution of these problems, the Democratic party shall stand on its feet, and the people shall have the right to lead us in the discharge of our duty. Our candidate is already named. He is a god-fearing and a Christ-loving statesman. No man need apologize for fighting under the banner of Wm. J. Bryan.

"The report of the committee on permanent organization naming Mr. Ralston as permanent chairman of the convention was presented and adopted.

"No man need apologize for fighting under the banner of Wm. J. Bryan. The prolonged demonstration resulted, in which every delegate sprang to his feet and waved his hands. The cheering continued three minutes.

"After the adoption of the report of the committee on credentials and a resolution of respect to the memory of the deceased, Governor Harrison, the committee on resolutions, announced that a platform had been unanimously agreed upon and proceeded to read it.

"The platform began by reaffirming the allegiance of Indiana to the principles of liberty enunciated by Jefferson. After the customary reading of allegiance to the constitution and tribute to its framers, the platform continued:

"We reaffirm and pledge our allegiance to the principles of the great platform of 1896 and commend its distinguished exponent, William Jennings Bryan to the people of the United States as an able statesman, a sincere patriot and an honest man who can safely be trusted to stand at all times for the people and against their foes at home and abroad.

"The platform stated that the country is far advanced in the policy of arbitrary rule which has caused an encroachment on the rights of the people at home and liberty abroad and a perversion of popular government.

"What will you have—largest or smallest?—the answer is a dollar a day. One of the two partners of the establishment asked us this, while the other stood smiling behind him. Half of the fun in this ever get a dollar a day? If you don't 'take a chance' once in a while, we ordered the largest. When they came, served on a lacquered tray by one of the harpists, or rather gardeners of this etherealized saloon, we found that they were not glasses at all, but large blue and white bowls on the one hand, and the other hand, a tray on both sides. And the beer itself proved rather a surprise. It looked like the palest kind of lager, and the taste reminded one dimly, very dimly, of extremely flat ale.

"Truly these enterprising proprietors might advertise, 'Not a headache in a month.' Strength in the name, and what it lacked in that essential it made up in sugar and water. The Japanese are an intemperate people, but if any of them ever get a dollar a day from the straight path they must have an interesting time trying to accompany their aim by patronizing home industry.

A lumberjack couldn't work up a decent stupor on a hogshead of it.

DENVER, COLORADO SPRINGS PUEBLO AND RETURN, $24. Via the Santa Fe.

Ice Cream and Strawberry Festival. Prof. Nelson will make an address at the Swedish Lutheran church, corner Fourth and Tyler, strawberry and ice cream festival on the paragon lawn Thursday evening. Friends invited.

illustration the platform demands a repeal of the stamp tax, declares for the election of United States senators by a direct vote, opposes a large standing army; extends sympathies to the people of the Transvaal and the Orange Free State, demands the strict enforcement of the Monroe doctrine, the construction of the Nicaragua canal and denounces the Hay-Pauncefote treaty as an abject surrender to England; denounces the Dingley tariff and declares opposition to protective tariff. The platform concludes with an expression of gratitude to American soldiers in all the wars and denounces the pension department of the present administration.

The resolutions were unanimously adopted. The committee on permanent organization submitted its report, naming for delegates at large: Edmund W. Moser, of Indianapolis; Hugh Dougherty of Bluffton; James Murdock of Lafayette; George B. Menzies of Mount Vernon.

The district delegates as elected by the committee last night were included in the report. The names of J. W. Kern, Francis B. Burkhardt, and Nelson J. Bosarth were then announced as candidates for the nomination for governor.

A letter was read from R. F. Shively, declining to permit his name to be placed before the convention. A shout went up from the delegates that soon changed to cries for Kern. It was some moments before order was restored and the cheering for Shively was again repeated when the balloting proceeded.

John W. Kern was nominated for governor on the first ballot, which stood: Kern 1895; Burke 369; Bosarth 41. Complimentary vote for Shively 294; C. G. Conner, Elkhart 2; Halston 3; S. E. Searcy 1.

The whole number of delegates present was 1,527; necessary to a choice, 764. There was some delay in announcing the result of the ballot and during the suspense of waiting Kern sentiment grew until everybody was calling for Kern. When the result was announced the delegates burst into cheering and Mr. Kern was ushered to the platform amid tremendous cheering. He made a brief address, thanking the convention for the honor.

SKETCH OF KERN. John Worth Kern was born in 1849 in Ato, Howard county, Indiana. After a course in the common schools he entered the University of Michigan and was graduated from the law department in 1889. He began his profession as a lawyer at Kokomo, Ind., and in 1891 was elected city attorney, which office he held for many years. In 1894, Mr. Kern was elected reporter of the supreme court of Indiana. He was elected judge in 1896 and took up the practice of law in Indianapolis. In 1892 he was elected to the state senate and served during the sessions of 1893 and 1895. In 1897 Mr. Kern was appointed city attorney for Indianapolis, which position he still holds.
