Young Gordon, charged with assisting his father to evade the sheriff, had his trial before Justice Groft last Tuesday, before a jury of twelve men. County Attorney Nelson appeared for the state and Attorney Hutzel for the boy. The jury was out all night and agreed to disagree. They stood eight for acquittal and four for conviction. As soon as the boy learned of the jury's disagreement he jumped onto his nag and hiked out to hunt his dad.

The sad news reached us Tuesday of the death of Frank Ford, only son of Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Ford, former residents of this city, who have the heartfelt sympathy of their many friends here in their bereavement. James Frank Ford, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Ford, was born in Trego county, Kansas, July 14, 1888. With his parents he removed to Rush county in 1898, and to Emporia, Kansas, in 1900, where he died October 31, 1901, at the age of 13 years, 3 months and 17 days. On October 17, he was taken with fever and inflammation and grew steadily worse, until death relieved his sufferings. — McCracken Enterprise.

On Monday afternoon and evening a man with three small boys and a little girl five years old gave an exhibition on the street in the way of music, singing and dancing. It seems to us that such proceedings are a disgrace and a shame. A great lazy man making a living off of four small children none of whom looked strong enough to stand the exposure to which they are subjected. The little girl had a wonderful voice and has been forced to use it in such a manner that she will soon lose it entirely. The act was bad enough itself and the people who go and look on and encourage and permit it, are as guilty of as much a sin as the father who is willing to start his family on a downward road to ruin.

Death of a Former Wa-Keeney Young Lady.

The death of Mr. Neargarder occurred at her home south of Abingdon, after a short illness, on Thursday morning about 9 o'clock.

Her maiden name was Pearl Elizabeth Morse, and she was the daughter of Horace F. and Belle Morse, the latter now being Mrs. J. W. Brown. She was born at Shenandoah, Iowa, November 11, 1875. When a child her parents moved back to Abingdon, and a few years afterwards to Wa-Keeney, Kansas, and afterwards to Washington Territory and Oregon and finally to Pueblo, Colo., where she was wood and won by her husband Lawrence Roy Neargarder.

They were united in marriage at Pueblo, Colo., January 22, 1892, and their wedded life was blissful and happy. Three children were born to them, one dying in infancy. Two little boys, Russel Dawdy and Merl Wilson, with the bereaved husband survive.

Mrs. Neargarder was of a happy and cheerful disposition. Mentally she was bright, refined and an interesting conversationalist. She, when young was fond of travel, and owing to the migratory moods of her parents, her girlhood was crowded with varied and shifting scenes. The beautiful and sublime in nature were fascinating to her and she was enamored with the beautiful mountain streams and flowers, and touched by the grandeur of the great canyons, the lofty crags and towering peaks.

In girlhood she was attracted easily by superb oratory and was an enthusiast with respect to faultless dramatic reading. She once took training in elocution and won a Demorest medal in a declamatory contest at Wa-Keeney, Kansas, in 1889.

She was deeply attached to her schoolmates at various places where they lived, and she kept up and greatly enjoyed an epistolary correspondence with them after she had arrived at womanhood. She was ever glad to hear of them and of their success.

The funeral was at the Christian church on Saturday afternoon when a solemn gathering met to pay the last tribute of homage and listen to the sermon of the pastor.

After the funeral, the mourners and friends followed the hearse to the city cemetery where the beautiful white casket containing all that was mortal of Pearl Morse Neargarder was tenderly lowered into the grave.—Abingdon (Ill.) Argus.

SHERMAN GRAVEL

Concerning which so much has been said, is a disintegrated mica granite. It has been chemically prepared by the great fires of nature in prehistoric days, so as to gradually weld together with all the flexibility of asphalt and the durability of granite. The granite is quarried at Sherman, Wyo., on the Union Pacific, and used on that road for ballast. Travelers over the Union Pacific therefore, escape the dust and dirt which makes a trip over the lines of its less fortunate rivals so annoying.
