

ATTEND TO BURNS AT ONCE

Neglect Often Means That a Scar Is Left Which Means Permanent Blemish or Worse.

SMALL burns are too lightly regarded; though seemingly light, if they are not properly treated or if the blood is in bad condition they may fatally mar one's beauty.

A young girl dropped some hot fudge on the forefinger of her right hand. It did not pain very much, and after the preliminary scream little attention was paid to it.

The blister that was raised was opened to break rather than be allowed to break carefully with an antiseptic needle; poison got into it, the finger became infected and eventually had to be removed below the second joint.

Exclude air from any burn, however slight. This can be done in several ways. If no other remedy is at hand common kitchen soap applied in a thick paste helps remove pain.

Wrapping the burned place in a rag wet in baking soda or keeping it moist with witch hazel will quickly give relief, even to rather severe burns. A good proportion for the former is to use a heaping tablespoonful of the soda to a pint of water.

For deeper burns, that are yet not serious enough to call in a doctor, use oils. Carron oil is possibly the one most easily secured; indeed, a bottle of it should be kept convenient in the kitchen, where burnt fingers are prevalent.

This carron oil is nothing but equal parts of lime water and linseed oil, but it is most soothing and healing in its effect.

Do not neglect a burn as soon as the first sting is passed. Should there be the least sign of inflammation or of pus accumulating call in a doctor at once.

In case of bad burns it is sometimes necessary to wrap the victim in cotton to keep out all air. In such case the doctor would naturally be in charge.

PROPER CARE OF THE NAILS

Adequate Attention Necessary for the Woman Who Would Have Her Hands Beautiful.

PRETTY nails are considered a great beauty. At the base there should be a white crescent, and the nails should be as rosy as the dawn. Beautiful nails are compared by the poets to onyx, and, in fact, in Greek onyx means nail. According to the mythological legend: "One day Love, finding Venus asleep, cut her nails with the iron point of his arrow and flew off. The clippings fell on the sands of the shore, and as nothing which comes from the body of an immortal can perish, the Fates carefully gathered them up and changed them into the quasi-precious stones which are called onyx."

The "art of manicuring" was originated by Stitts, who was Louis Philippe's pedicure. His descendants are still famous in France, and the Stitts method, which totally condemns the use of steel either under or around the nail, undoubtedly is the proper and scientific one. Madame Stitts says: "An orangewood stick with a little French amadine will keep the nails perfectly smooth and clean underneath. Why roughen them with a piece of sharp steel or thicken them with an acid? And as for cutting and lacerating the cuticle around the outside of the nail, why, that was intended by nature as a selvage (lisiere), and if you cut it, you make it ragged just as you would the selvage on a bit of cloth. As well cut the border of the eyelid or ear."

The nails should be cut in a curve which follows the shape of the end of the finger. The surface of the nails should also be polished.

One hour a week spent in caring for the nails is sufficient to keep them in good order, if they are rubbed and cleaned carefully each day.

WHERE HE STOOD.

Percy—Do you think your father would object to my marrying you?
Pearl—I couldn't say. If he's anything like me he would.

Sheer white goods, in fact, any fine wash goods when new, owe much of their attractiveness to the way they are laundered, this being done in a manner to enhance their textile beauty. Home laundering would be equally satisfactory if proper attention was given to starching, the first essential being good Starch, which has sufficient strength to stiffen, without thickening the goods. Try Defiance Starch and you will be pleasantly surprised at the improved appearance of your work.

Sounded Funny.
"The young man is smitten with you, Jeanette. He says you radiate happiness."

"Gracious!"

"And he also said you radiate beauty."

"My!"

"And wisdom."

"Dear me, how funny."

"What's funny, dear?"

"Why, he must think I am a radiator."

The extraordinary popularity of fine white goods this summer makes the choice of Starch a matter of great importance. Defiance Starch, being free from all injurious chemicals, is the only one which is safe to use on fine fabrics. Its great strength as a stiffener makes half the usual quantity of Starch necessary, with the result of perfect finish, equal to that when the goods were new.

A Republican Reliance.
Three-year-old Norris is fond of the Twenty-third Psalm, sometimes repeating it instead of his regular evening prayer. Last autumn the name of the successful presidential candidate was often heard, at the dinner table, and Norris unconsciously fell into the habit of rendering one passage of the Psalm in this reassuring fashion: "Thy rod and thy staff they comfort me."—Lippincott's.

IN VOGUE

Fancy gilt and flowered ribbons are used as daily bag accessories.

The small three-cornered continental hat, or tricorn, revives among the straw shapes for spring.

It is a pretty fashion to add a frill of soft satin or very closely-plated chiffon to the lower edge of fur muffs.

The soft Roman satins, woven with wool backs, are both lovely and economical, as they wear exceedingly well and need but little trimming.

The milliners are introducing flowers made of chiffon and in a more novel manner, though it is really quite old, composed of beads strung on fine wire.

Again flowers appear massed under the brim of the hat—a fashion not seen for some time. The brim is not turned up, but the flowers appear as if ready to fall off the under side.

Jet is lavishly used in millinery. The weight of these hats would be unendurable laden with ordinary jet, but the new jet is very light of weight. Large, heavy-looking cabochons of it weigh no more than a feather.

Persian Effects. Persian effects are still good, and are conspicuous among the best members of trimming collections. One of the most charming classes of trimmings is the one in which the beadwork plays a large part. In these trimmings fine silk braids of exquisite weave furnish outlines and the beads a solid filling for the centers of motives and for borders. The loveliest greens, blues, rose colors, etc., are worked out in these braids and beads. The solid beadwork of to-day is not embroidered on a background, like Indian work, but is made in woven and strung patterns, the result of lighter effects.

VISITING COSTUME.

Satins are to retain their prestige throughout the autumn and winter, and manufacturers are launching several new varieties of this popular fabric. Satin directoire, marvelously soft and supple, is one of the best of these variations upon the satin theme, and is particularly designed to meet the demands of the clinging directoire models. This modish costume has a princess skirt of prune color cloth with satin cascade coat drawn slightly across front. As will be noticed, the sleeves are cut in one with fronts and backs. The braiding is done in self tone soutache and the buttons and gretlets are of black passementerie.

For Memoranda

THERE are many ways in which our unused half sheets of rote paper may be utilized for making memoranda on, and our sketch shows a very handy little board, designed to answer this purpose. A stout piece of cardboard forms the foundation, and this is covered both back and front with dark green art linen and edged with a silk cord. On the left-hand side a pencil is attached by a fine silk cord, and there is a loop of ribbon at the top, by which the holder may be hung up by the side of the writing table or at some other suitable place. Through the upper part of the board two small holes are made, and through the upper part of the half-sheets of note paper two holes are pierced with a penknife, to correspond with the holes on the board. Through the holes in the paper and through the holes in the board, a fine silk cord can be passed and tied in a bow at the back of the holder, thus keeping the paper on the board firmly in its place. A glance at the sketches will explain all this, and the sheets are easily torn on one by one after they have been used. A board of this kind is also very useful for shaving papers, and can be hung up by the side of the dressing table or over the post of the looking-glass.
