WICHITA TESTIMONY

ELIZABETH AVENUE,
L. S. Dewey, 72 Elizabeth avenue, West Side, says: "It is all of twenty years since I had my first attack of backache. As time went by the attacks were of longer duration and were more severe, some of them lasting for a week at a time. On one or two occasions I was laid up for two weeks. More than once I have been unable to turn in bed without assistance, and when the spell was at its height I would lie on my back, secretions clearly indicated that my kidneys were the cause of the suffering. I was treated by doctors and used an unlimited quantity of standard remedies, but until I went to the Moore Drug Co. and bought Doan's Kidney Pills, I met with very indifferent success. It was not until I had used them for a few days that I began to feel better. I have since recommended them to my friends and acquaintances, neither would I endorse its merits publicly."

NORTH WACO AVENUE.
Mrs. J. W. Shultz, of North Waco avenue, says: "I knew from the symptoms that my kidneys were either weakened or over-excited and in a letter to my sister in Cleveland I acquainted her of that fact. She advised me to use Doan's Kidney Pills. I had my druggist send for them. They did me a deal of good. Shortly after I noticed that they could be procured at the Moore Drug company, 216 Douglas avenue, and I went there for more. If the first one had not brought positive benefit I never would have used a second and if the second had not added greatly to that benefit I would be the last resident in Wichita to publicly recommend the preparation."

S. SANTA FE AVENUE.
R. F. Woodring, engaged in the transfer and storage business, living at 1244 South Santa Fe avenue, says: "I got Doan's Kidney Pills at the Moore Drug company, 216 Douglas avenue, for a juvenile member of my family who lacked control over the kidney secretions. Anxious about his condition we were only too pleased to try any medicine to get relief. It only required six doses to check the weakness, and a continuation of the treatment so strengthened the kidneys and renal organs that it finally disappeared."

from sleeping, as a consequence my hair ran down and I was very poorly prepared to attend to the following day's duties. I consulted physicians whose medicine gave me temporary relief, but until I went to the Moore Drug company, 216 Douglas avenue, for Doan's Kidney Pills, I met with very little if any permanent success. You can judge of my surprise and gratification when my back ceased to ache and I slept like a child after using two boxes."

HATS DURING ISSUE

Don't Take Them Off in Elevator
CRITICISED BY SOME People From Cucumber Valley Not Judges

Some time ago the American allied itself with those daring spirits who rebelled against the absurd custom of taking off the hat in the elevator. It was criticised some by those whose capture in the jungles may be said to be an important item of current history. But it has had the admiring approval of those with bulging frontal bones and of those who in their manly wanderings have been beyond the limits of Cucumber Valley and Blackberry Ridge. The New York Commercial, which has the good sense and the fine courage to disapprove the foolish and often dangerous custom of uncovering the head in the elevator when women happen to come in it, recites this instance to show the absurdity of the habit, which doubtless originated with some yokel who fastened himself in a dressing room.

"An evening or two since, in one of the most pretentious and exclusive apartment houses on the Upper Boulevard, two men entered the elevator at the first floor, at the second landing four women entered; one man promptly removed his hat, the other kept stolidly covered. All six in the elevator at the fifth floor, walked along the hall toward the north wing of the house, both men with their hats on, now.

AN HISTORIC WATCH.

There is in the possession of Wilfred Powell, who represents the British empire at this port, timepiece that told of the storm for England's royal martyr. After his victory over Charles I. Oliver Cromwell told how the enemy was beaten from being to hedge he till he was finally driven into Worcester. There were 2,000 prisoners among the spoils of that fight. The royal carriage in which the King had been carried was there, too, and that handsome carriage was a royal carriage watch, which also fell into the hands of the victorious Cromwell. This timepiece of royalty, which still ticks after a career of 262 years, was made in 1640 for King Charles I. by the royal watchmaker of that time.

German Cruiser "Gazelle" and U. S. Battleship "Missouri" in the Same Dry Dock at Newport News, Va.

A view of the talk concerning the attitude of the German people toward the United States, an evidence of Germany's good will and her appreciation of the splendid facilities for repairing naval vessels in American waters, is practically demonstrated in the above picture. It is made from a photograph taken at the yards of the Newport News Shipbuilding and Dry Dock Company at the time of the launching of the U. S. armored cruiser "Wac Virginia." To the right is the mammoth dry dock in which, in the foreground, is the German cruiser "Gazelle," undergoing extensive repairs; beyond, in the same dock, is the U. S. battleship "Missouri." To the extreme left, in another dock, is the screw-driven tug "C. W. Lawrence," of 8,000 tons capacity.

This is the third time a German vessel of war has been repaired in these yards in comparatively short period. The wonderful advance made in American shipbuilding in recent years and the splendid facilities for dry docking and repairing large vessels is attracting the attention of foreign governments, which are finding it cheaper to repair vessels in American waters than in bringing them home from West India stations at such expense and loss of time.

It is certainly a unique experience for American shipbuilders to be called upon to repair foreign naval vessels. Mr. Calvin B. Cowart, the President of the Newport News Shipbuilding and Dry Dock Company, recently proposed the launch of the German armored cruiser "Gazelle," bound for Orlino, to visit a friendly neighbor at a public dinner as to draw from the Court (over) the launch and landing expenses, in which he stated that his company was very kind of the President of the United States and the President was in turn kind of Germany's Emperor, he did not see how the people of the two countries could fall out.
