

THIS MOONSHINE

The term of court just closed turned out a terribly long list of convictions for moonshining in various forms. The fines have piled up tremendously, and the jail and prison crowd will be a great one.

All honor to the judge, the jurymen, the witnesses, and the sheriff. Kentucky is going to maintain law and order.

Now let those who are tempted to try to make a little money by breaking the liquor laws take warning. If you do such things you will smart for it.

And let us try next to dry up the drinkers. Who is it that pays big money for your whiskey and so tempts poor men to violate the law?

Are our teachers doing their full duty in the schools in teaching the nature and effects of liquor? Are the churches passing around the pledge as they ought to do?

All together, with pledge, and teaching, and with prison bars we will make this a sober and prosperous commonwealth.

BEREA IN WORLD AFFAIRS

The people of the Baptist and Union Churches of Berea, at the mid-week prayer-meeting a week ago, voted to send a telegram to President Harding asking him to send to Lausanne not an observer merely, but an envoy with larger power to pledge American aid to stop Turkish massacres.

And President Harding did do exactly that thing. Of course, many other churches sent messages like the one from Berea, but ours had its influence.

And now we are watching to see what the nations will really do to control the Turk. It is pretty late to interfere after so many have been butchered, but we hope and pray something may be done. We prefer to pay for fighting Turks rather than for feeding the orphans whose parents they have robbed, butchered and outraged.

THE BEST LETTER

The following verses were sent to one of the boys in Berea College by his mother, following a birthday letter which he had written her:

You may write a thousand letters To the maiden you adore, And declare in every letter That you love her more and more. You may praise her grace and beauty

In a thousand glowing lines, And compare her eyes of azure With the brightest stars that shine;

If you had the pen of Byron, You would use it every day In composing written worship To your sweetheart far away, But the letter far more welcome, To an older, gentler breast Is the letter to your mother From the boy that she loves best.

Youthful blood is fierce and flaming, And when writing to your love, You will rave about your passion, Swearing by the stars above— Vowing by the moon's white splendor

That the girlie you adore Is the one you'll ever cherish As no maid was loved before. You will pen full many a promise, On paper white and dumb,

That you never can live up to In the married years to come. But a much more precious letter Brings more and deeper bliss Is the letter to your mother From the boy she cannot kiss.

She will read it very often When the lights are soft and low, Sitting in the same old corner Where she held you long ago.

And regardless of its diction, Its construction, or its style, And altho its spelling would Provoke a critic's smile, In her old trembling fingers It becomes a work of art, Stained by tears of joy and sadness As she hugs it to her heart; Yes, the letter of all letters— Look, wherever you may roam— Is the letter to your mother From the boy away from home. —Author unknown

The new servant had presented her references, and the lady of the house read them over with a doubtful eye. "I'm not quite satisfied with these. Bridget," she said. "Nayther am I, mum," returned Bridget angrily, "but they're the best the old fool would give me."—American Legion Weekly.

Confidence.

"You know this movie didn't cost $1,000,000." "I'm not prepared to argue that question," replied the eminent producer. "But—" "Say no more. My publicity director says it cost that much, and I'm the last person in the world to doubt his veracity."

The Secret of Successful Saving

If you were to ask us to tell you, in one word, the secret of successful saving for the average man or woman, we'd answer: Regularity.

That is to say: The average man or woman who deposits a regular sum at regular intervals — if only a dollar a week — will create the habit of saving; and habit makes ease and certainty.

How long does it take? Just one short year, in most cases, if the deposit is made the same day every week, and the balance is left untouched.

Noted Actress Arrested

New York.—London dispatches telling of the arrest of Marie Cecile ("Claire") Loftus for the alleged possession of narcotics brought to the United States the first news in years of an actress who had starred for years in this country and England on both the legitimate and vaudeville stages. Born in England, she showed, at an early age, an aptitude at mimicry. London audiences hailed her as a child prodigy for her imitations of Sarah Bernhardt and other celebrities.

Ma Butts In.

"Pa, what do they mean by going from the sublime to the ridiculous?" asked Clarence.

"It means a girl dreams of marrying some wonderful prince and then goes and ties herself up to a boob like your father," snapped ma.—Milwaukee Sentinel.
