Too Good to Last.
Mercer of the candidate for jailer of Mercer thus speaks of his democracy in his published card:
"I am a Democrat, bred,
I am a Democrat, born,
And when I am dead
There will be a Democrat gone."
This reminds us of a "red hot" democrat down in Lincoln county who ran for a certain office some twenty years ago. This gentleman was the hottest member of the democratic fold and in fact was so hot that unassisted was felt lest he melt and spill himself. The primary came and he got less than 500 votes of a total of 1,800. This made him sore and like many other disappointed office-seekers he went to the enemy, the republican party, and died the worse republican good old Lincoln ever had.

James L. White, treasurer of a trust company at Dallas, Tex., was shot and killed in his office and A. Silvers, vice-president of the concern, badly wounded. A third man in the room is held by the police.

Good Play Cleverly Presented.
The Lady of The Lake, presented at the Grand Opera House Thursday night by the Freshman Class of the Caldwell High School, won for the members an unmitigated abundance of credit. It is impossible to assign success for its splendid production to any one of the members who took part, because credit is due to each and all. The characters were well arranged—each one seeming to be justly appointed. The chorus of little girls was especially attractive and successful. The opera house was one dense mass of people, and we are glad to say that not one of them was disappointed by its presentation. The dramatization of the poetic story was by Miss Elizabeth Terrill, the talented daughter of County Clerk Terrill, and it was an exceedingly clever piece of work.

If you love the quiet, romantic days of the strolling troubadours, see the play, "King Rene's Daughter." 42 31

Shot A Negro.
Frank Ward, of the Kingston section, shot a negro named James Francis yesterday inflicting a serious but not necessarily fatal wound. He used a shot gun and only fired once. He claims that Francis had several times threatened his life. Ward came in and gave himself up. He was allowed a bail of $200, which he readily gave.

Two Alarms In Less Than An Hour.
The fire company was busy Tuesday afternoon, two alarms having been turned in in less than an hour. The first was sent from 3 m. Isaacs' home in the East end and the other from Tobe Lake's, in the same section. In both cases the flames were extinguished before much damage was done.

Although it is Montgomery county's turn under the old rotation agreement to furnish the democratic nominee for State Senator in the Bourbon-Clark-Montgomery district, aspirants for that honor seem backward in presenting their claims and the race is still open.

SUFFRAGISTS

Of Kentucky Are Invited to Take Part in Washington Parade March 3.

Mrs. Desha Breckinridge, of Lexington, President of the Kentucky Equal Rights Association, asks that every Kentucky woman who can go to Washington and march in the big parade of women to be given March 3, communicate at once with the headquarters of the procession Committee, 1420 F street, N. W., Washington, D. C. Mrs. Genevieve Stone, wife of Congressman Stone, of Illinois, organizer of delegations from the States, writes to Mrs. Breckinridge that she hopes for a large delegation from Kentucky.

"There is a fair prospect," says Mrs. Breckinridge, "that the women's parade will be more interesting to the throngs of visitors in Washington than the inaugural parade of the next day. Long lines of men in silk hats may show the solid strength of Democracy, but they won't please the esthetic sense as will women clad as heralds, mounted on white charges and blowing golden trumpets and in many picturesque and varying costumes."

What! Why two perfectly delightful little plays—"King Rene's Daughter" and "Creatures of Impulse."

MARRIED

Raymond Ross and Mrs. Etta Powell were joined heart and hand in this city on the 17th.

Dillard Brock and Miss Annie May Powell, both of the Comb section of the county, were made husband and wife Thursday.

George Trowers and Miss Nannie Fielder were married at James Kay's at 6:30 Thursday evening. Elder A. J. Tribble performed the ceremony in his usually impressive way. Mr. Trowers is a valued employee of the Cumberland Telephone and Telegraph Co., and his bride is both pretty and popular. The Climax joins their many friends in wishing them great happiness on their journey through life.

Dr. and Mrs. S. P. Grant, of Danville, have announced the engagement of their daughter, Miss Lelia Grant, to Dr. Jos. Coward, of Kansas City, Mo. The wedding will take place in April.

Miss Tarkington, of Danville, a niece of James A. Shuttlesworth, of Louisville, and Mr. Fox Caldwell are soon to be married. It is reported that the wealthy uncle has presented the bride-to-be with a check for $50,000 as a wedding gift.

A gay old Lothario of eighty addressed his dear as "my fawn." Now he's paying $5,614.80 for breach of promise. Probably, too, he sings the old song beginning "I never love a dear gazelle."—Hopkinsville News Era.

A Letter of Ante-Bellum Days.

This letter we gladly commend to the young ladies of this city for both its dignity and its beauty of expression and composition. When we say young ladies, let it be remembered that the writer was still in her teens.

Editor.

WISWAM, March 31, 1845.

Your more than welcome note, my dear Sarah, reached me yesterday and you cannot imagine for a moment what an agreeable surprise it proved. Altho' you had promised faithfully to write to me, I would not forget both the promise and me, but I assure you that it shall never be the case again. I will invariably believe the slightest declaration you may make in the future, and I am blushing now for the injustice I did you before your note reached me.

You must have had a most charming time in the city of Glasgow and at your cousin's wedding, where there were so many rich viands and delicate wines. I suppose the "feast of reason and flow of soul" were present with you on that occasion, and that you enjoyed yourself exceedingly. I would that I had been there, if it were only to see an "ugly bride," as you call the happily married one, for I never heard of such a thing before. I thought it a part of a bride's duty to look beautiful.

I laughed at your account of the very watchful old maid who had charge of you during your mother's absence in Columbia. Do tell me her name, with all the funny things she did and said. I hear that you have gone to St. Louis. How much I should like to have known it before, that I might have given you a letter to my sister, Mrs. S., who lives in that city, and whom, I think, you would have liked for my sake. There's vanity for you! I wish I could be with you, but alas! for this and many other things, Madams Rumor is quite as busy with your affairs as with mine. She accuses you of going all the way to St. Louis to make preparations for a very interesting and rapidly approaching occasion in which you are to be the heroine. For my part, I am somewhat inclined to believe the jade in this particular matter, though I know that she is not to be trusted always.

Let me beg of you to pay me a visit as soon as you possibly can after your return to Richmond. I shall be so anxious to see you and to hear all the news. Gen. Cowan is here this evening and desires me to present his compliments to you. He says very pretty things on your subject, but I will not fatigue you by repeating them at this time, as I think my note has attained the size of quite a great affliction. May I trust that your future may never be darkened by any influence more leader than I fear my note has already become.

"The beautiful F." reached home some fortnight ago, and is grateful for your compliment. Mr. Giles thinks it an evidence of your sweet disposition that you have said even that. Sister Eggs declares that her "Japonica" regins supreme in Mr. G.'s heart.

Both my sisters desire to be presented to you most affectionately. Sister E. says that if you are translated to Kentucky, as we all fear you will be, that her acquaintance with you will be a short pleasure and a long regret.

And now, my dear Sarah, good night. Most warmly and affectionately yours,

Church Notes

The Bible school attendance last Sunday at the Christian church was 280 and the offering $12.40.

Thirteen church buildings for Methodist congregations in Chicago are now in course of construction.

Rev. J. W. Quisenberry, of Hamilton, Ohio, will preach at the Baptist church Sunday morning at 11 and evening at 7 o'clock.

Father John O'Dwyer, who is now stationed at Florence, spent Tuesday and Tuesday night with friends here, who were glad to see him. He preached at the Catholic church at night.

The first Sunday in March is the time for taking the annual offering at the Christian church for foreign missions. It is hoped that the church will maintain its excellent record and do its full duty to this offering.

The Laymen's Missionary Society of the Southern Presbyterian Church, in convention at Memphis, sent a message to President-elect Wilson, praying that "God may direct his administration."

Next Sunday evening at the courthouse Rev. E. B. Barnes will preach a sermon on "Friendship," which will be of special interest to the young people of the city. It will be of equal value to the old. Better is it to have a thousand friends and not a dollar than to have not a friend and a thousand dollars.

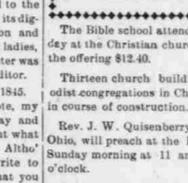

March 19, 1913, is the one hundredth anniversary of the birth of David Livingstone, and it is suggested that throughout the Christian world this anniversary be celebrated with special services in the churches either on Sunday, March 16, or Sunday March 23.

Schools and colleges connected with the Methodist Episcopal Church received more than $7,500,000 for added equipment and endowment during the past year. The church also contributed over $300,000 toward current expenses of these institutions through its Conference collections.

"Eggs," a shy young girl under the spell of a fairy, does some very unusual things in the play, "Creatures of Impulse."
