MAY 6, 1913

Arms a man has promised before trial and witnesses to love, cherish and protect a woman and then fails to do so, because of displeasure or dissatisfaction, nothing is too bad for him. Washington State has passed a law which provides that a husband who fails to give such support shall be put to work by the State, given his board and lodging and his earnings to the amount of $1.50 a day be turned over to his wife. As women vote in Washington, it may be taken for granted that they were a big factor in the passage of the law, which might have good effect on the adopted to such states. The Bible says that a man who provides not for his own is worse than an infidel. He is also worse than a brute and deserves to be treated as such. The Washington law may break up a few families, but it will have a tendency to put lazy, shiftless husbands to work, and after it goes into full force, as few men will run the risk of being hired out and worked under guard to make him do so.

The United States is the greatest of money makers. Last year it made $1,433,812,434, or $4,812,751 a day. Leastwise it printed 348,129,172 bills which passed as money when duly signed and stamped. A few of the notes were for $10,000, but Kentucky editors doubtless grabbed them up before they got well into circulation. A mathematically inclined individual figures that if all the notes printed last year were laid end to end, they would reach nearly twice round the globe. Scattered on the ground they would cover 1,520 acres and pile on top of each other would make a stack twenty miles high. But why proceed with such statements? There's not enough of them to reach us in such quantities as to be embarrassing, because many who owe us withhold our part. It is still time to help diffuse prosperity. Pay that when owed us and we will guarantee the money gets into circulation.

A CHICAGO woman who takes much interest in the improvement of the condition of her sex says that woman cannot be good if denied the privilege of wearing corsets. We have always held that corsets are a great beautifier of the female form divine, but had no idea that they induced morality. If the lady's statement is true, corset factories ought to be put to running on double time and the unsmiling Mother Hubbard and the not much more attractive kimono rigorously tabooed.

The fight for the Lexington collector ship has temporarily been removed from the limelight by the appointment of Chief Deputy McGinty, a republican, to the position, pending a solution of the vexed question. We have no special interest in the matter, save that we hope that the office will go to the best and most deserving democrat.

UNLESS you want to suffer embarrassment by having it appear in the public records that you have pledged yourself to vote for opposing candidates, you had better be particular in signing petitions for them. We make the suggestion, knowing the willingness of the average man to sign any kind of a petition.

STATISTICS show that New York City's per capita water consumption is 125 gallons. How much of this is used for drinking purposes is not stated but it is safe to say that quite as much is used to quench the thirst there as in so-called "dry" towns—but not Richmond, of course.

THOSE Pennsylvania church members who came to blows following a dispute as to who should pass the contribution basket must have had motives other than those of carrying out the commands of the good book. But certainly they were not figuring on a "take out."

THE Court of Appeals has decided that the Phoenix Hotel at Lexington had a right to serve those quail and the public is now invited to let the matter be forgotten.

THE county candidates began Saturday the circulation of their petitions. Not less than three nor more than ten percent of the voters is required. Have you been visited?
