News and Comment.

A masher collapsed when he was sent to jail for ten days by a New York justice. He wasn't such a man after all as he imagined.

Editor Graham Vreeland, of the Frankfort State Journal, says that the editor of the Climax should have taken of some of the time he used in studying Scripture and learned to write so folks can read it. There it is again, and coming from a man who neither knows Scripture nor can write, it is a little too much. Patience may cease to be a virtue.

A New York woman has been sent to jail for whipping her husband. When the worm turns in that kind of way, it ought to be permitted to stay turned and given a chromo.

Senator Ashurst will endeavor to secure consideration of the equal suffrage bill on January 29, 1914. An exchange which opposes votes for women offers an amendment to defer the date to Feb. 29, same year, and we rise to second it.

Congress very properly refused to appropriate money to buy the Vice President an automobile. If that worthy wants to go somewhere he can get a motorcycle.

With the turkey crop 15 per cent short, a snow storm injuring the cranberry crop in Massachusetts, the prospect for Thanksgiving is gloomy. No turkey, no thanks.

Ohio and Pennsylvania require hunters to wear badges as large as dinner plates, possibly to prevent them from mistaking one another for game.

A Long Island youth cleaned his breeches with gasoline and when next he struck a match on them there was a conflagration and a smell of roasting flesh. Experience is a good but often a dear teacher.

A New York skyscraper is to be 901 feet high. The extra foot is doubtless to give the people a chance to ask a fool question.

In Richmond, where whisky is only known of by legend, it may not be interesting to state that E. H. Taylor & Co.'s warning in regard to the overproduction of whisky, is creating much discussion among distillers of the better quality of liquor, while the manufacturers of rotgut assert that the move is fostered by the manufacturers of higher grade goods for the purpose of increasing their own sales in the event of a shortage in the cheaper grades.

Editor Breckinridge, of the Lexington Herald, has discovered that Abraham Lincoln is in favor of female suffrage. If he keeps up his research he may find that old St. Paul alone of all those mentioned in sacred or profane history opposed votes for women.

Enoch Grehan has discovered that some women paint monkeys on their stockings near the knees and then display them through slit skirts. Grehan's vision is such as to require glasses, but if anything of that kind is to be seen, he gets there all the same.

Nashville began the experiment of the commission form of government this week. So far as we have been able to discover in Lexington, the only noticeable thing has been the increase of taxes and expenses under such a form.

There are many other ways of killing a dog besides choking him to death with butter. A judge interdicted the saloon keepers at Nashville from selling liquor to be drunk on the premises, and thereupon they resorted to little bottles containing a drink and the traffic went on.

The Kentucky Horse Breeders Association made so much money at the Lexington trots that they made today a free one and invited every lover of the sport to be their guest. The meeting closing this evening has been a most successful one.

William Cullen Bryant in a pessimistic moment wrote of this season of the year:

The melancholy days have come,
The saddest of the year,
With weeping skies and wailing winds
And meadows brown and sere.

If he had lived to this good time and had gotten over his grouch, this glorious weather would have changed his tune to this:

The melancholy days are gone,
And the sweetest of the year
Come with this bright Autumnal time
And fill our hearts with cheer.

Five Billions For Farmers.

With a total quantity of agricultural products twenty-two cents less than in 1912, the year's gross revenue for the farmers will be six per cent. more than last year, according to a bulletin issued by the Orange Judd Company, which publishes several agricultural papers. Total value will be $5,000,000,000, or $269,000,000 more than a year ago.

The reason for this extraordinary condition is, of course, the high prices per unit for several of the large cereal crops. Corn, for example, will show a total volume of 20 per cent under that of 1912, but with a value of 42 per cent better will produce for the farmer $100,000,000 more than a year ago.

"The wealth the farmers will receive for their decreased tonnage," says the report, "also has these two decided advantages: Less labor and expense will be required for harvesting and marketing the crops this year, at a time when farm help is scarce and high. "Only the decrease of about 50,000 tons in the weight of these staples will enable American railways to move the crops of 1913 without a veritable breakdown of the transportation system, in view of the heavy tonnage of other freight and of passenger traffic caused by the resumption of good times.

"The outcome of the agricultural season, therefore, is profoundly beneficial to industry, commerce and finance, taking the country as a whole, although certain individuals and limited sections have been hard hit by the drought. "The shortage in new corn is not a disaster. It is a blessing in disguise. For with over 40,000,000 of old corn on hand October 1, the aggregate supply of maize this autumn will be some 2,750,000,000 bushels. This just about equals the corn supply following the harvest of 1911—only two years ago, when the yield was 2,650,000,000, and the supply of old corn was then only about one-fourth as large as now."

The wheat output will be the greatest in quantity and value in the country's history, and the value for potatoes, $224,000,000, or $40,000,000 more than last year.
