Mrs. Collins Coy Dies After Long Illness.

After an illness of several years Mrs. Florence Coy, the wife of Mr. Collins Coy, died at their home on the Lancaster pike, two miles from town. She was a great sufferer, but very patient through it all. Her death had been expected for some time and did not come as a surprise to her family. She was the daughter John S. Long, and was the first to be taken of a family of eleven children. She was fifty-one years old. While in good health she was always ready to administer to the sick and afflicted, and would leave her work at home and stay with the sick for several days at a time. While on her bed of illness, she requested her family to make no outward display, but to put her away as plainly and quietly as possible. There must have been a Christ-like spirit within her, for we can search the Scriptures and in them we will find that in all His works they were performed in the most simple and humble manner possible. Besides her husband and daughter, Mrs. Smith Hagan, of White Hall, she leaves three sisters and seven brothers. They are: Mrs. Julia A. Ross, Messrs. James, Nicholas, John, Richard, Andrew, Jeff and Joseph T. Long. She was laid to rest in the Richmond Cemetery, Friday afternoon, at 3 o'clock. The family has the deepest sympathy of their friends.

Mr. James Thomas Berry Dies in Lexington.

The Lexington Leader contains the following notice of the death in that city of Mr. James T. Berry, formerly a resident and beloved citizen of this city: At the advanced age of 82 years, Mr. James T. Berry, father of Geo. M. Berry, the well known commercial traveler of this city, died Friday afternoon at 4:45 o'clock at the home of his son, 385 S. Spring street. Mr. Berry was a native of Madison county and was one of the best known and most highly esteemed citizens in that section. He was for years deputy assessor and assessor of Madison county, serving until the last two years, when he was city assessor of Richmond. Few men in Madison county had a more extensive acquaintance among the people of that county than Mr. Berry, and his knowledge of property values, particularly of farm lands, was extensive and reliable. He was one of the best posted men in Kentucky on the history of Madison county, and was an authority on historical data concerning places and prominent people in that section. He possessed a remarkable memory for this kind of information and had been inclined to literary pursuits, could have perhaps written the best history of that historic county of any man within its borders.

He was one of the few men who remembered the famous "Kit" Carson, who was born on Yates Creek, in that county, and when a small boy left for the unexplored West to win fame as a pioneer and Indian fighter. Mr. Berry remembered distinctly the day that little "Kit," then so small that he could scarcely hold on the saddle, riding behind his father as he cantered away from Kentucky for the West and bade "Kit" and his family good bye. This and many other incidents of famous folk who were born and reared in "Old Madison" and who made history for the State and nation, among them Gen. Cassius Marcellus Clay, Gov. Wm. J. Stone, Gov. David R. Francis, of Missouri, and other celebrities he knew, he delighted to recount. He was a veritable store house of historical information and his death is a distinct loss to that county and the State at large.

Personally he was one of the most genial and amiable of men and his unfeigned good humor, extensive knowledge and broad experience made him a welcome visitor and a most delightful companion. Owing to failing health and advanced age, he retired from official life about two years ago, and with his aged wife came to Lexington to make his home with his son. Mr. Berry died shortly afterwards, and now the venerable husband, full of years and honors, esteemed and loved by all who knew him, for his many noble virtues, goes to join her in the great beyond.

Besides his son Mr. Berry is survived by three sisters—Mrs. J. M. Hendron, Mrs. W. H. West and Miss Lizzie Berry, all of Madison county. The body was taken to Richmond in an automobile Sunday morning, arriving at the Richmond Cemetery about 10:30 o'clock, where the funeral services and interment were held.

"Still On The Water Wagon With a Good Set of Tires."

Tribute Paid to The Neal Treatment by Ohioan Who Quickly Routed Drink Habit.

"I am still on the water wagon with a good set of tires under me," is what a former patient of the CINCINNATI NEAL INSTITUTE, writes from his Ohio home to the Avondale institution for the cure of alcoholism. Climbing aboard the water wagon is comparatively easy. Sticking there any length of time is what is hard. The Neal Treatment provides the required "sticking power," for the reason that it quickly knocks out the alcoholic poison which, found in the system of all drinkers, is what causes so many people of good intentions to topple off the water wagon before they have ridden very far. The Neal Treatment is a physician's harmless vegetable remedy, which is taken internally, with no dangerous hypodermic injection. The results are tonic in effect and in three days all desire is changed to dislike for everything alcoholic. There is no publicity. Names are never revealed. Your own investigation is not only invited, but urged. Call in person, or address for booklet the NEAL INSTITUTE, 601 Maple ave., Cincinnati, Ohio. Telephone Avon 4010. Other Ohio Neal Institutes at Columbus and Cleveland.
