Indianapolis Hibernians plan a record breaking celebration for St. Patrick's day. They now hold weekly meetings for the purpose.

The Minnesota State-wide campaign for new members was auspiciously opened by the Ladies' Auxiliary of South St. Paul.

The Hibernian Literary Club of Minneapolis has closed another successful year and makes interesting the meetings of the various divisions.

There is in course of formation the Hibernian Veterans Legion, to be composed of men of the Irish race who served in the great war in the army and navy of the United States.

The Hibernians of St. Paul are off to a flying start. At the installation exercise of Division 7 great progress was reported. Forty-six of its members are on the battle fronts of France.

The Ladies' Auxiliary and the Hibernians of Watertown, N. Y., had a great and impressive joint installation. County Presidents Mrs. Seymour Frederick and Martin Duggan presiding at the ceremony.

Pursuant to the suggestion of the Archbishops to make this St. Patrick's day celebration the biggest ever attempted in Omaha, the Hibernians are perfecting arrangements and will hold the exercises at the Municipal Auditorium.

The Ancient Order can not stand still. It must either go forward or backward, and if the members wish the organization to succeed they should bring in at least one new member or at least show by their presence at meetings that they are really interested in its welfare.

With more than 150 members in attendance, representing the order in thirty-six counties of New York, an earnest and enthusiastic gathering came together at Utica at the request of the State Board to adopt resolutions asking President Wilson and his American conferees at the Peace Conference to use their good offices in securing for Ireland the redressing of age-old wrongs through the application to her of the principle of self-determination as to the form and character of her government.

These articles will be written by Charles J. Neegan, noted as a writer specializing in sports, who for eleven years was sporting editor for the Morning Telegraph, New York. Mr. Neegan, through the Knights of Columbus, will tell in detail of our soldier athletes' preparations for the Olympic games under the auspices of the American Expeditionary Force, scheduled to take place in Paris during May or June, in which American soldier athletes will compete with athletes from the armies of our allies. He will also describe the Olympic games for the athletic field appear due and new champions may be developed as a result of these activities among our two million soldiers abroad.

POWERFUL DOCTRINE.

After the war is over the Monroe doctrine that was declared in 1823 will become a powerful Pan-American doctrine, espoused by every American government from Canada and the United States on the north to Argentine, Uruguay and Chile on the south. It will be honored by the rest of the world and respected for the strength, which will prevent any menace to it from the old world.

STRIKE DARKENS BELFAST.

From London the Associated Press cabled on Sunday that it is estimated that nearly 200,000 men and women are idle in the United Kingdom and Ireland because of strikes in various trades, creating one of the most serious situations industriously that the country has had to face in many years. Half of the strikers are in Belfast, where the strike movement is continuing to spread. The city of Belfast by night virtually is in total darkness, the hospitals being the only places where lights can be shown without danger of attacks by strikers. Everywhere else the display of a light has caused either the stoning or the storming of the premises. In cases where such drastic action was not taken the people were forced by threats to screen their lights. Even in the private houses it is not considered safe to use more than one candle and the supply of candles is rapidly diminishing.

CLOUD IN THE EAST.

A French business man who has just returned from Russia, where he was imprisoned by the Bolsheviks, asserts that Bolshevism is spreading over Eastern Europe to an extent undreamed of in the majority of Western nations. "You people are living in a fool's paradise," he says. "You rejoice about peace and there is no peace. You talk of a society of nations and universal brotherhood, but fail to realize that just across the eastern horizon there is gathering a storm cloud that may sweep away all your rejoicing and your theories in a brotherhood of ruin. Bolshevism has a powerful appeal to the masses, to the shiftless and ignorant, to the exploited section of humanity. They are now preparing to enforce by numbers and by propaganda their programme of a communist world State, a revised version of the League of Nations, founded in bloodshed, but based in principle on equality and perfect freedom. Already they have beaten to the ground the opposition in Russia and have begun to overrun the Baltic provinces of Poland and Eastern Germany. In Germany proper the Bolsheviks—that is the Spartacus adherents—are raising ground every day, and the time approaches when the Russian and German extremists will unite in a new crusade for anarchy. That time has not yet come, but unless some action is taken by the rest of Europe nothing can prevent it."

The union of Germany and Russia in a Bolshevik alliance would mean the greatest danger that Europe has had to face yet. Still that is not at all impossible. Germany is the home of Socialism, which has spread to the whole world in the past twenty-five years. Bolshevism in Russia is the child of German Socialism. A union between the two now is far from unlikely. Such a union would threaten the peace of the world at once, for already the propaganda of Bolshevism has done much to sow its seeds far and wide. Socialism as a political party in America has practically passed out of existence. But the Bolshevism that is likely to succeed it through German and Russian Jew propaganda will be much more dangerous even than Socialism.
