Watterson's Words. Paris, Nov. 19.—Hon. Henry Watterson, editor of the Courier-Journal, said today among other things: "The election of McKinley is but the beginning of the end of the struggle which one way and another has been going on in the United States for twenty years. It began in the West and South with a demand for land money. No one would give the greenback partly disposed of than the free silver party took its place.

With that defeat ends the free silver frenzy and the danger of a 16 to 1 kind. But the elements of disorder it has called into being and the agrarian issues it has set on foot are left upon the scene, and

We may be sure that these will continue their assaults upon the life of the nation and the integrity of the people until they are swept out of existence in 1900.

JEWISH WOMEN'S COUNCIL.

Mrs. Hannah Solomon, of Chicago, Re-Elected President. New York, Nov. 20.—The fifth, last, and, in some respects, most interesting session of the council of Jewish women, was held today with the president, Mrs. Hannah G. Solomon, of Chicago, in the chair. The work included the election of national officers for the next three years.

For the past year a great deal of rivalry has cropped up between the Chicago section, which now dominates the council, and the New York section, the members of which felt that they were not sufficiently represented on the national board. The following were put in nomination and elected: President, Mrs. Hannah G. Solomon, of Chicago; First Vice President, Mrs. Sophie Beer, of New York; Second Vice President, Mrs. E. Mammel, of Chicago; Corresponding Secretary, Miss Lucie American, of Chicago; Recording Secretary, Mrs. Gertrude Berg, of Philadelphia; Treasurer, Mrs. C. M. Wolf, of Chicago.

Reese, of Nashville, left last night for St. Louis, after a week's sojourn in the city. Mr. Smith is a capitalist and Mr. Reese a prominent miner, and they were here for the purpose of purchasing the iron furnace, which was erected several years ago at an enormous expense and afterwards abandoned to litigation, from which it has never since been rescued.

Messrs. Reese and Smith are now negotiating with the owners of the iron furnace, who live in St. Louis, for the plant, and in a few days the matter will be definitely settled one way or the other.

The price, it is understood, is $75,000, the ground itself having 1,000 feet front to the river and being valued at $40,000.

If the gentlemen arrange matters satisfactorily they will begin the operation of the furnace at once, and the good that will result to the city cannot be overestimated.

Bradley, whose policy, they say, will be to bring out candidates in every section where Hunter is strong."

WHISKY DID IT.

Attorney English Says His Remembers Nothing.

On This Account His Fines Were Made Light. "An honest confession is good for the soul," remarked Judge Sanders this forenoon in the police court after Attorney W. W. English, of Benton, made a frank and gentlemanly avowal of guilt and asked for the leniency of the court.

Mr. English, as detailed in yesterday's Sun, imbibed too much whisky at a Court street saloon during the day, and in the afternoon became wild and wanted to fight even his best friends and companions, brandishing a knife very threateningly and being prevented from using it only by the timely action of K. H. Broyles, the bartender, who knocked him down and covered him with a pistol.

Mr. English was taken to the city hall, where he could hardly be controlled. He sobbered up and was released on bond, and was this forenoon arraigned on three charges, one for resisting an officer and the other two for breaches of the peace.

He stated to the court that he had no recollection of doing anything he was charged with doing. That he was under the influence of liquor, and that it completely unbalanced him mentally and morally. He asked that at least two warrants against him be dismissed.

Judge Sanders, in reviewing the case, stated that on account of the facts exposed by Mr. English's admissions, and gleaned from the statements of others, he was disposed to be lenient. He admonished those whom liquor affected as it did Mr. English to shew its use, and save themselves perhaps disgrace and dishonor, if not something worse.

"My advice to you Marshall county fellows, when you come to Paducah," said his honor, "is to let whisky alone, especially some kinds of it."

"That's good advice, but pretty hard for a Marshall county man to follow," replied Mr. English.

A fine of $10 and costs was imposed in one case and $5 and costs in each of the two others.

CIRCUIT COURT.

Resumes Work After a Several Days' Adjournment. Several Cases Postponed—A Few Orders Made.

Wm. S. Hunt, adm'r., of Willie S. Hunt, who brought suit against the city for $5000 damages, made a motion for a new trial a few days ago. His son was drowned in one of the city's pits and Judge Bishop gave peremptory instructions to find for the defendant, which was done.

Today he overruled the motion for a new trial, and the plaintiff asked and was granted an appeal to the higher court.

In the case of Hartman Lumber Company against Langstaff, Orme & Co., a motion with reasons for a new trial was filed.

The case of Weasels Bros. against the Paducah Transfer company for damages and the case of Will Haffey against the city of Paducah for damages, were continued.

The case of W. S. Richey against the People's Street Railway company was called this afternoon and will no doubt be continued.

WHEAT THIEVES.

Captured in Metropolis and Brought to the City. Waived Examination and Were Held Over.

Constable Anderson Miller arrived this afternoon from Grahamville with Bud Scott, Chas. Marshall and Chas. Woodson, three colored men charged with stealing wheat from a man named Faunteroy. They were captured yesterday in Metropolis and taken before Justice Hartley, waiving examination, being held over to the December term of the circuit court, and committed to jail in default of bond.

A warrant was issued against another darkey in the gang and he will likely be arrested this afternoon by the hustling constable.

NATIONAL DEMOCRATS.

Issue an Address to Sound Money Men.

The National Democratic State Central Committee met yesterday afternoon at the Galt House in Louisville and issued an address to the Democrats of the state, setting forth the reasons for the organization of the National Democratic party, announcing that the organization in Kentucky would be maintained; calling upon "the Democrats of Kentucky, whatever may have been their position in the past election," to take no part in the primaries which may be held by "an organization which calls itself the Democratic organization, but which, under the guise of Democracy, has just been defeated in its efforts to elect Populist electors and the official Populist candidate on the Populist platform of St. Louis and Chicago."

The address is signed by all the members of the committee, some by proxy. Those who attended the meeting were Chairman George M. Davis, Secretary A. J. Carroll, Gen. Basil W. Duke, Col. John B. Castleman, Mr. Zack Phelps and Capt. Frank Hagan, of Louisville; Senator W. W. Stephenson, of Mercer county; Mr. C. B. Lowry, of Lexington; A. G. DeJarnette, of Grant county; by Senator R. H. Ellison, as proxy.

THE FIRE CHIEF.

And a Citizen Fined for a Disturbance.

The Evidence Was Very Conflicting in the Police Court. Chief of the fire department Charles Voight and Mr. Sam Liebel were presented in Judge Sanders' court this morning for a breach of the peace. The difficulty occurred night before last while the fire department was engaged in throwing water on Mr. Liebel's stable at Ninth and Washington, which was on fire, and the evidence was quite conflicting.

Chief Voight testified that Mr. Liebel rushed up to him and exclaimed, "You s— of a—, if you throw any more water on my wife, I'll hit you with this brick."

The chief told him to go away and avoid trouble, and afterwards they met again and similar language was used. He called Officer Crow and denied using any insulting language towards Mr. Liebel, both of which other witnesses testified he did.

Mr. Liebel stated that two firemen were playing a stream of water on the burning building when Chief Voight came along and seized the hose, turning it upon his residence, which was of tin and brick and in imminent danger.

He rushed up and told him to throw the water on the fire and not on the house, that he would do more damage to the latter than the loss of the stable would occasion him.

Mr. Liebel admitted that he was angry and might have used language that he ought not to have used, and said he picked up the brick because Chief Voight cursed him and struck at him twice.

Judge Sanders said that no matter where Chief Voight threw the water, it would not justify either an insult or an assault. That he thought Chief Voight was the judge of when the water should have been thrown. Both men, however, were guilty of an infraction of the law he said and they were each fined $5 and costs.

HOT TAMALES.

John Cook Is Muled on Account of Them. He Refused to Get a License When Ordered to Do So.

John Cook, the hot tamale man, has another hard luck story to tell. He retails tamales from a house at Island Creek bridge, but comes down to the city every night and sells them on the street.

License Inspector James notified him two months ago to procure the regular tamale license $10 a month, but he said he would not do it.

This morning he said the only time he had sold tamales on the street was when he furnished, through charity, employment to a man and a boy who had nothing to do.

He was fined $5 and costs, and seemed distressed, saying that he didn't make a comfortable living, as it was.
