The Ripening Corn.

How sweet to walk through the wheatlands brown,
When the teeming fatness of Heaven drops down!
The waving crop with its bursting ears,
A sea of gold on the earth appears;
No longer robed in a dress of green,
With tawny faces the fields are seen;
A sight more welcome and joyous far Than a hundred blood-von victories are.

Beautiful custom was that of old,
When the Hebrew brought, with a joy untold,
The earliest ears of the ripening corn,
And laid them down by the altar's horn;
When the priesthood waved them before the Lord,
While the Giver of harvests all hearts adored;
What gifts more suited could man impart
To express the flow of his grateful heart!

A crowd awaits 'neath the cottage eaves,
To cut the corn and to bind the sheaves;
At length is heard the expected sound—
Put in the sickle, the corn is browned;
And the reapers go forth with a blithe song,
As those who joined the Olympian throng;
And sorrowing hearts and voices come To swell the shouts of the harvest home.

And there is a reaper on earth well known,
Whose deeds are traced on the burial stone;
He carries a sickle more deadly and keen Than ever on the harvest-field was seen;
He cuts down the earliest ears in spring,
As well as the ripest that time can bring;
The tares he gathers to fumes are driven,
The wheat is laid in the garner of Heaven.

A Summer Evening.

It is a pleasant hour: how full of balm
The sighing air—how soft the evening light!
It seems to this delicious day calm, That something heavenly walks abroad tonight.
Far off sweet voices call to me, and wind
My heart to peace; I yearned with reverent feet To press His thirteenth's hem, and feel within The spirit-thrill so potent-mild and sweet Hence this poor trembling frame, while His great breath
Pours through the shadowy corridors of life;
Soul-soothing strains with love and merry rife;
The sweetest heard this side the doors of death.
O happy hour that ever seems to be Breathing, in time, the music of eternity.

A Kiss at the Door.

The clock struck ten, I seized my hat
And bade good night to all, Except the lass I courted, who Came with me through the hall.
She stood within the portal,
And I gazed upon her charms,
And, O! I longed that moment
To clasp her in my arms.

She spoke about the moon and stars,
How dear and bright they shone
I said I thought the crops would fail Unless we had rain soon.

Then I edged a little closer,
Put my arms around her waist,
And I gazed upon those ruby lips,
I longed so much to taste.
Said I, my dearest Lizzie,
I'll never rest contented,
If I leave to-night without a kiss I'll surely go demented.

Then up she turned her rosy mouth,
And everything was hazy,
Quick from her lips I snatched a kiss, Oh!—Yankee doodle dandy.

Having, by the wicked policy of the Republican party made Union impossible, the Cincinnati Gazette now gravely announces that free institutions cannot survive dis-union, and that the people will have to accept monarchy. This is no doubt what the Republicans are driving at. Who is to be King?—Dayton Empire?

THE INCREASING FEELING FOR PEACE.—
The Portland (Maine) Advertiser states that several of the Abolition preachers have recently declared from the pulpits in that State, that the further conduct of the war is un-Christian, and prayers should be directed heaven-ward for peace, and no longer for war, and peace on any terms necessary to stop the shedding of blood.—Hartford Times.

People had to be dipped out of bed with spoons during the late heat in Washington

AN INDISPUTABLE FACT.—If the thirty-four States of this Union shall ever be gathered underneath the folds of one common flag—if PEACE once more binds together this people, now estranged by war—it must be by the defeat of Abraham Lincoln and his expulsion from power. This done, and the sunlight of joy and hope will rise above the black clouds of this awful war.—Tiffin Advertiser.

RIGHT TO SIXTEEN.—The experiences of Lord Shaftesbury, as quoted in the following paragraph, would find full confirmation in the history of America crime. If young men can be kept under good religious or moral influence till they reach their majority they are comparatively safe: Lord Shaftesbury recently stated, in a public meeting in London, that, from personal observation, he had ascertained that of adult male criminals in that city, nearly all had fallen into a course of crime between the ages of eight and sixteen years; and that, if a young man lived an honest life up to twenty years of age, there were forty-nine chances in favor, and only one against him, as to an honorable life thereafter.

This is a fact of singular importance to fathers and mothers, and shows a fearful responsibility. Certainly, a parent should secure and exercise absolute control over the child under sixteen. It cannot be a difficult matter to do this, except in very rare cases; and if that control is not very wisely and efficiently exercised, it must be the parent's fault, it is owing to the parent's fault; it is owing to the parental neglect or remissness. Hence the real source of ninety-eight per cent. of the real crime in a country such as England or the United States lies at the door of the parents. It is a fearful reflection! We throw it before the minds of the fathers and mothers of our land, and leave it to be thought of in wisdom.
The supply of spending money never earned by the spender—opening the doors of confectioneries and soda fountains, of beer, and tobacco, and wine shops, of the circus, the negro minstrel, the restaurant and dance; then follows the Sunday excursion, the Sunday drive, with the easy transition to the company of those whose ways lead to the gates of social, physical and moral ruin. From eight to sixteen—in these few years—are the destinies of children fixed in forty-nine cases out of fifty—fixed by the parent! Let every father and mother solemnly vow, "By God's help I'll fix my darling's destiny for good, by making home more attractive than the streets!"

WHAT THE DEMOCRATS WILL DO.—It is often asked what the Democrats mean to do They mean, as a first step, to fill the executive chair with patriotism and to banish faction and despotism from the administration of the Federal Government. What next they will do depends upon what they can do to restore peace and prosperity to our country. They are in the condition of a skillful surgeon who is called to a man who fell into the hands of assassins. If his wounds are not mortal he will restore him.
If Abolition has killed the Union, the Democrats will restore it. But at any rate, they will save Liberty from going entirely down in the whirlpool of blood.—Circleville Democrat.

LINCOLN'S PUPPS.—The country is infested —swarming, lousy—yes, dogged to death, with appointees under this Administration.
Every worthless scamp has an office—the only qualification necessary to insure one favor in the eyes of Abraham is to be a fool, a rascal, avaricious and avaricious head, and favor a vigorous prosecution of this ninety-day war. All these poor devils have to be supported to do the dirty work of King Abraham, and the laboring people are the ones who have to foot the bills.
The country is so full of these officials, and they put on such style, and bark around so vociferously, that they are now very appropriately denominated Lincoln's Pups.— They are hoisterous for a continuation of the war, as stopping the war would stop their pay, ergo, the poor devils are very uneasy at the signs of the times, which indicate peace—bruswell peace.—Union.

The Brunswick Telegraph says: "We don't believe there is a pretty lot in town, judging from the length of the skirts ladies wear.
Guess you'll find out there's some pretty feet if you don't stop talking about their skirts."
An editor at a dinner
