

Don't Say Underwear
—Say

Correctly designed and beautifully finished Woven Suits made of sheer dainty fabrics for discriminating women.

To our many women customers who have long recognized Munsingwear quality in their knitted garments, the present offering of Munsingwear in the popular loose fitting styles will be an appreciated opportunity.

Beautiful in Appearance—Thoroughly Feminine in Design—Exceptionally Practical and Comfortable

Many new features in design and appearance are incorporated in the Munsingwear Woven Suit for Women. There are no buttons down the front; the two buttons on the side fasten an opening in the bust band which, when open, allows the garments to be slipped on easily over the hips. The garment is cut full in the back, affording a comfortable fit whether the wearer is standing, sitting or stooping.

The Munsingwear standard of careful workmanship is fully maintained in these woven garments; they are made in a variety of fine fabrics in all sizes and in a style that is appropriate for every kind of dress. Whether you prefer the loose fitting woven garments or the form fitting knitted garments, you can have complete underwear satisfaction in Munsingwear. A style and size for every one in the family.

WILL HELP SECURE SEA WALL ACTION

Stanley, Ernst and Barkley Will Help Get Federal Assistance

Some action has already been secured in the matter of securing federal aid toward building the sea wall along the river in front of Hickman. This movement was inaugurated at the last council meeting, and telegrams were sent immediately with the resolution as passed by the council. The resolution is as follows:

It appearing that when the Mississippi reaches a stage of 53 feet at Hickman, Kentucky, the water spreads over the entire business section and parts of the residential section of said town, and that said waters have on several occasions overflowed said section in the past, resulting in damages to the property owners of thousands of dollars, and that said sections of said city have been inundated to a depth of some four feet of water, filling all store buildings that depth, which has not only stopped business but has greatly and irreparably damaged all buildings affected, and in addition thereto has resulted in hundreds of thousands of dollars' loss to the merchants because of merchandise ruined; and it further appearing that a sea wall of concrete can be erected at a reasonable cost, which will protect said town from overflow, due to the fact that the length of same is not very great; and it further appearing that this condition has been brought about and very greatly augmented by the construction of government levees along the Mississippi; therefore be it

Resolved, By the City Council of Hickman, Ky., assembled in regular session, this, May 1, 1922, by unanimous vote, that steps be taken to construct some kind of wall or levee between the town of Hickman and said river in order to prevent a recurrence of such calamities and further destruction of property, both real and personal, and that the U. S. government, through its survey department, be urged to have a survey made and lend financial assistance; and be it further

Resolved, That our U. S. senators and congressmen be requested to intercede for us and to, if possible, procure the necessary aid.

There being no further business, on motion Council adjourned.
T. T. Swayne,
Mayor of the City of Hickman.
Jno. Fyle, Clerk of the Board of Council.

The telegram to the President was acknowledged by his secretary, George B. Christian, as follows:
The White House, Washington,
May 5, 1922.

My Dear Mayor Swayne: The President directs me to acknowledge receipt of your telegram of May 4, and to say that it has at once been referred for the attention of the Secretary of War.
GEO. B. CHRISTIAN,
Secretary to the President.

Telegrams in acknowledgement of those sent to them were received from Senators Stanley and Ernst as follows:
Washington, D. C., May 8, 1922.
Hon. Goulder Johnson, Hickman, Ky.—
Will immediately take this matter up and endeavor to secure some legislation for this purpose. Deeply appreciate necessity for this improvement and will of course be delighted to exert myself to the utmost to secure it.
A. O. STANLEY.

Washington, D. C., May 6th, 1922.
T. T. Swayne, Mayor, Hickman, Ky.
Telegram received. It will give me great pleasure to cooperate with Senator Stanley and the Kentucky Representatives in doing all possible to obtain necessary aid for Hickman in preventing overflows.
RICHARD P. ERNST.

Promising his support in the effort, Congressman Barkley of this district wrote the following:
Washington, D. C., May 6, 1922.
Hon. T. T. Swayne, Mayor,
Hickman, Ky.
My dear Mr. Swayne:
Your telegram of the 5th, urging a survey at Hickman with a view to securing federal assistance in the construction of a levee there to protect the city against future floods, was promptly received.
I immediately took the matter up with the Chief of Engineers of the War Department, and he advised that Congressional action and Departmental action here were unnecessary, in view of the fact that under the Flood Control Act, the Mississippi River Commission has full authority in such matters within the limit of their appropriation.
Under the Flood Act, passed several years ago, the Commission has complete control of the construction of levees on the Mississippi river, and does not have to secure authority from Congress for each specific project that it undertakes. The only limit it has is the appropriation which Congress has made available.

In view of this, it seems the best thing is to lay the matter before the Commission, ask for a survey at the earliest possible date, and present them the facts, which in my opinion ought to justify favorable action on their part.
I am writing to the Commission myself, calling their attention to the Hickman situation, and asking them to provide for an early survey looking to the construction of such a levee as you suggest. I shall be glad to render any assistance that I can to the people there in securing favorable action by the Commission, and I assure you that whatever I can do will be done with pleasure.
With kindest regards, and assuring you of my desire to serve you in any way possible, I am,
Sincerely yours,
ALBEN W. BARKLEY.

From this it is understood that the heartiest co-operation will be received from our representatives in Congress, and it is hoped that they will lend their every effort to the success of the proposal. The last high water has been responsible for a deep realization of the gravity of the situation and a letter in this week's Courier from the government meteorologist, W. E. Barron, at Cairo, to Col. C. L. Walker, shows the added danger to Hickman business and property that will result if another water such as the 1913 flood should come with nothing to prevent overflow in the business district of Hickman. The city council and other interested business men have put their shoulders to the wheel in this matter, however, and with the proper co-operation and enthusiasm it is a probability that success will result.
