THE GENTLER SEX.

Mrs. Henry Ward Beecher wears cloth gaiters of the old congress pattern. Many a woman is expert with crayons who is not skillful in drawing tea.

Lady Dufferin intends publishing reminiscences of her experiences in India. Among Mme. Christine Nilsson's maladies is an almost entire loss of hearing.

Mrs. Henry George is a Roman Catholic. Her only sister is a Sister of Charity in St. Louis. The new Duchess of Portland has refused to permit her photographs to be offered for sale.

Mrs. Gertrude Atherton has retired to a convent near Paris to gather material for a new novel. "Earth has nothing more tender than a woman's heart when it is the abode of piety," said Luther.

Mrs. Lucetta Medbury, Mrs. Zachariah Chandler and Miss Brush, of Detroit, each have over $1,000,000. While she is making new dukes, the queen is anxious to make Prince Henry, of Battenberg, duke of Kent.

The queen of Siam wears one and a half inch boots. They are all made with low heels and average $10 a pair. Mrs. Oliver, of Athens, Ga., is 87 years of age, and she does not remember to have ever taken a drink of water.

Mrs. Bloomfield Moore, of Philadelphia, is one of the wealthiest American widows. She makes her home in London. Helen Newell, James R. Garfield's fiancée, is young, tall, graceful and dark, and will have a comfortable fortune of her own.

The queen's favorite beverage was rice champagne, but by order of her physician she is now obliged to drink whisky instead. Mrs. Mary J. Holmes will make her travels the subject of a series of parlor readings to be given in her own residence next fall.

There are four ladies' cricket clubs in the west end of London, and there are said to be some very dexterous players among the members. According to a London correspondent Mrs. Joseph Chamberlain is the most popular woman in the United States has yet set to England.

Carlotta, ex-empress of Mexico, lives in a castle in Belgium in seclusion. Her hair is quite white, but otherwise she has not changed in years. The empress of Germany is to have a special body guard composed of twenty-four of the largest men in the Prussian army and commanded by an officer and two sergeants.

The mother of Mr. Louis Stevenson accompanied him and his wife on their long voyage in the South sea. Mrs. Stevenson has returned to Edinburgh, but her son has started for another year's cruise. Empress Frederick receives £40,000 a year from the German government.

The fortune left to her by the Duchess of Galliera brings her in £12,000 a year, and she has a life interest in the trust estate of her husband. In all she has about £70,000 a year. Miss Mary E. Hanchett, who died recently at Chittenango, N. Y., was the second woman graduate of an American medical college.

She received the degree of doctor of medicine from the Albany Medical college in 1848. She was a woman of great intelligence and force of character. Miss Kate Sanborn's farm at Metcalf, Mass., says The Boston Gazette, is unique. To the piazzas of the house a cheerful and homelike appearance has been imparted by flowers and vines, gay antique lanterns, odd and hospitable rocking chairs, tables and impossible foot stools, and within the house the same quaint furniture is used.

FASHIONS FOR MEN. The strict rules of outing attire preclude the wearing of the sash with a starched shirt. The size of the scarfs will be in nowise diminished. The huge puff scarfs will be more popular than in the early spring.

The signs worn indicate that the dark backgrounds in scarfing will predominate to a greater extent than last season. The extra wide Ascot will enjoy the popularity presaged by the success it has had this season in the light weight textures. The wearing of suspenders when the sash is assumed is tabooed as illustrating a lack of confidence verging on the humoresque.

Waist belts are sometimes worn under the sashes to give an additional assurance and to secure a looser and less binding effect of the sash. The line of the fall styles of neckwear will be generally quieter, so far as color and pattern is concerned, than the scarfings at present the vogue. The Windsor tie, either tied in a butterfly bow or folded without being pressed and tied in cravat form loosely, is the particularly "propah capah" with a negligé shirt.

With evening dress, of course, the sash may be worn. With the sack dress colors are permissible, but a black Cumberland is considered the best form when the swallowtail is donned. Several new Parisian bows are bidding for favor at present. The fact that the buckle bow, however, is a Yankee creation, and has just about run its course, seems to have been forgotten by the importers. That there will be any number of Teck and puff scarfs sold, however, when the bewildering number of novel and beautiful styles which will be put on the market is considered, goes without saying.—Clothing and Furnisher.

Recent importations contain in their number a bar pin set with eight upright rows of diamonds varying in size each way from the center.—Jeweler's Review.

IDEAS FOR DRESS.

Large bonnets are things of the past. Eel green, a lovely bluish shade, is the latest. The brims of sailor hats are very narrow. The newest red is a dull shade called Eiffel rouge.

Toques grow smaller, and are more worn than ever. Black silk stockings are in good taste with any kind of a dress. Ribbon bandeaux and metal filets for the coiffure are much worn. The Sir Joshua fachu grows in popularity and in fashionable favor.

Large, loose bishop sleeves of lace are frequently seen on silk bodices. "Capetine" is the name that the French give to all large low crowned hats. Shoes are worn both pointed and square, but pointed ones are the more in vogue.

Pale blue is fashionably combined with dark green, and pale green with dark blue. Epaulettes and shoulder knots grow more and more fashionable as the season advances. The dressiest hats are made of tulle, lace and silk gauzes over very slight wire frames.

White laces are restored to fashionable favor, but black and colored ones are also in vogue. The popular hat of the passing month is the light sailor hat of straw in any color preferred. Combinations of green and blue are very fashionable, but one or the other color must be very dark.

The soft silk sash is the boon of the passing season to women who must wear their gowns of last summer. Sun shades in bright yellow or dull red silk are made very becoming to the bearer by a lining and flounce of black lace. Violet tinted Venetian crape-line forms an exquisite toilet for a 4 o'clock tea.

Gold embroidered bands look daintily on the lilac silk blouse and petticoat. Bodices of bright cashmere are worn at the seaside with plaid moirah and tafeta silk skirts. The bodices and sleeves are as elaborate as the skirts are plain.

The ostrich plume covered parasol is the very latest freak in sunshades. Some are seen with plumes half a yard long, from the top to the edge of the canopy. The gigot or leg of mutton sleeve, all in one piece, and with its fullness at the top wrinkled around the arm, is the growing favorite with the Paris dressmakers.

The empire sleeve with a puff around the armhole, and like a coat sleeve below, is favored most by Worth, but Worth is not the leader now that he was in the past. With low shoes of bronze, black or russet kid, silk stockings are worn to match, or they are chosen in dark shades of blue, brown or green, finely streaked with bright red, yellow or white.

Small hoops covered with red crocheted cord make an excellent towel rack for country houses, and the making of them affords a nice occupation for old ladies on the piazzas of summer hotels. Old dresses and very plain and simple ones can be converted into dressy gowns by the addition of detachable plasters, bretelles and waistcoats of various kinds, along with the use of sashes, collars, cuffs and scarfs.

The latest Paris dresses, according to Harper's Bazar, have elaborate bodices, bouffant sleeves, very straight skirts, no bustle, and very short steels that are almost invisible, while effecting the purpose of supporting the back breadths of the skirt.—New York Sun.

CURIOUS THINGS OF LIFE. A dentist in York, Pa., extracted a lady's thirty-two teeth—all she had—at a single sitting. There is said to be a schoolboy at Kingston, N. Y., who studies hard and consults his lessons to memory well, but if he goes to sleep forgets all that he has learned.

Ward Stirling, of Buffalo, has discovered his sister, who with him, in childhood, was abducted and left by a mysterious boatman on Ward's Island. The couple never met since. Chan Chu Sing, a converted Chinaman, has been licensed as a local preacher in the Methodist Episcopal church, and will engage in mission work among his own people in Los Angeles, Cal.

Henry Newsham, a venerable member of the Carle, Pa., bar, was seized with an attack of vertigo recently, during which he swallowed his false teeth. He narrowly escaped choking to death. A chiropodist will henceforth be attached to every German regiment. This may seem rather odd, but keeping soldiers' feet in order is one of the most important elements of successful war.

An offensive trunk raised an excitement in the depot at New Oxford, Adams county, Pa., a few days ago. On being opened it was found to hold ladies' wearing apparel well soaked with naphthaline to keep off moths. A farmer near Parkersburg, W. Va., claims that one of his mules was scared to death by lightning. The lightning knocked down a shed under which the mule was standing and the animal started to run, and kept it up until it dropped down dead.

The most forgetful young man in Snyder county, Pa., recently went to town with his best girl, and when the time came for his return, actually left without her and proceeded several miles before he happened to think that he had forgotten something. Bolivia has one of the most interesting exhibits at Paris. It is a practical and natural size model of a lead mine—a famous one—out of which many large fortunes have been made. The entrance to it is through a special pavilion, erected by the Bolivian government.
