STORIES OF THE DAY.

Had No Escape, So He Just Let Him Eat Him Up.

"Speaking of accidents," said the Boston man, "I had a most singular one happen to me upon the East Tennessee road two weeks ago. I was in the rear sleeper coming down the mountain when it jumped the track and went down over a cliff 85 feet into the bed of a creek."

Silence reigned for the space of five seconds, till a tall, quiet gentleman of the name of Courtney leaped over to the Boston man and mildly inquired, "Did you say 85 feet?"

"Yes," said the man from Boston. "Is that list?" said Mr. Courtney. "No! It is not list," thundered the Boston man. "The car went down 85 feet and a little girl had her arm broken, although I did not get hurt myself."

"My dear sir," said Courtney, "I would not want you to think for a moment that I doubted your word, and speaking of the mountains reminds me of an adventure I had about five years ago up in the Rockies. There was a party of us out there from Chicago hunting and fishing. We were camped on a trout stream away up in the Ute pass, and as I would rather fish than lug a gun about all day I made daily trips up the stream. One day I went much farther than ever before, and finally came to a pool that lay between two high rocks. To reach it I had to climb up the mountain side and out on a shelf of rock that overhung the pool 20 feet below. I dropped my fly and as fast as it struck the water I had a speckled beauty on the end of my line. But all at once I heard a scratching on the rock behind me, and on looking around I saw a big she grizzly bear coming for me with her mouth wide open. There I was, without gun, pistol or even a penknife to defend myself with, and sure death if I jumped into the stream."

"What did you do?" cried the Boston man in great excitement. "Do? What could I do? I just sat there and let the blanked thing eat me up." In the rear that followed the Boston man took no part. He looked across at Courtney's placid face, in which there was not the shadow of a smile. Then he laid his napkin on the table and sneaked out of the room.—Chicago Times-Herald.

A Mean Trick. It was the meanest trick ever played on the streets of New Orleans. There was no humor in it, no fun. Simply a piece of asininity such as men of a very ordinary and groveling habit of mind love to indulge in. These were the circumstances: It was high noon on Canal street, and all the city was out in gala attire. Through the midst of the crowd that thronged along Canal street passed the tall and proud form of one of New Orleans' most distinguished beaux. With his eyes on the passing show, the beau took no notice of who walked by his side. Now, it just so happened that a party of darkies were out for a promenade on Canal street. They were female darkies, country female darkies, gaudily attired in red and blue, with fat, savage faces, black as the inside of a crow. It further just so happened that these darkies in making their way along Canal street walked immediately by the side of the well known and popular beau. Of course he didn't notice it, or if he did notice it he was contemptuously unmindful of it. It was out of the question that any one should think he was walking with the country negroes dressed in red and blue. Then the mean man came along and perpetrated the mean trick. It was a very simple trick, a very grave trick, and didn't take a half second to execute. As the mean man approached the well known beau he glanced at him and then glanced at the array of darkies. Then he smiled graciously and took off his hat ceremoniously. With the spontaneous good breeding of a true, well known and popular beau, the well known and popular beau thus saluted returned the salute, and a half dozen ladies who were passing by at the time looked at him wonderingly and then feigned to see something the other way. It was really a very mean trick, and, as has been intimated, utterly without humor. At all events, that's what the well known and popular beau most emphatically declares.—New Orleans Times-Democrat.

Her Anticlope Position. Mrs. Dr. Annie Lemmon Griffin has introduced a new act at the Muncie theater that is being applauded all over the city. Thursday night at a show she was one of a small theater party of women, and she occupied seat No. 4 from the aisle. The next two seats were occupied by well dressed but very nervy young men. As soon as the curtain dropped after the first act the two men requested that the ladies arise and let them out. Mrs. Griffin politely informed them that she would not get up for them. Both remained standing and finally appealed to the house policeman, who called Manager Wisor. He stated that the seat occupied by the woman belonged to her, and she could do as she liked. Finally the men were compelled to sit down, and the house fairly shook with applause made by the audience, who had become acquainted with the trouble. Mrs. Griffin will be given a medal by other Muncie women who are calling in person and extending their congratulations.—Indianapolis Journal.

Both Will Be Scarce. If the bicycle craze continues unabated for a few years more, one of the attractions of the twentieth century dime museum will be the man who never rode a wheel.—Omaha Bee. No, the man who never tried to ride one.—Cleveland Plain Dealer. Making It Easier to Lose. In a new poker deck the number of cards is to be increased to 60. Can't a man lose enough money with the old deck?—New York World.

FIFTY CARAT DIAMOND.

It Was In a Mass of Plumbago and Unfortunately Was Ruined.

Shipments of plumbago are frequently received at Newburg from the island of Ceylon, in which traces of gold are found. Mr. Tillinghast, the superintendent, said the other day that he had found a diamond, about 50 carats in weight, which had been in a pile of plumbago. Unfortunately the diamond was not found until after it had gone through a furnace which was heated to 1,000 degrees. The precious stone had been cracked in pieces and filled with flaws by the intense heat. The largest piece is the size of a hazelnut and so badly cracked as to be of use only as chips. The stone, Mr. Tillinghast says, was originally as large as a walnut.

The balance of the lot of plumbago in which the stone was found is being examined before it goes into the furnace.—New York Herald.

Arrested by a Dog. Bill, a shepherd dog belonging to Sheriff Sherry of Muncie, Ind., executed a feat recently that was wonderful. A couple of vagrants in jail broke away as a crowd was being taken to the workhouse. Sherry ran after one of them. The officer was surprised when a policeman marched the other one back soon afterward. The dog had seen his master chase one of the men, and he took after the other, who ran in an opposite direction. In the courthouse yard the dog jumped at the man's throat, finally setting his teeth in the prisoner's coat and vest collar, pulling him down and holding him. A crowd ran to the man's rescue, thinking a mad dog had him, but a policeman recognized Bill and took the runaway back to jail. Bill will have a collar presented to him inscribed with an account of his exploit.—Chicago Tribune.

Only Fierce For His Country. Guillermo Mencaza, one of the Cuban insurgent leaders, said to be now dead, was a negro, black as coal, of huge stature and vast strength. He is described as being as gentle as a woman in his ordinary disposition, and to gain more private ends would not hurt a fly. It was only when fighting for Cuban independence that he became fierce and warlike.—Philadelphia Ledger.

A Nuptial Innovation. A rather remarkable marriage took place in this city yesterday. It is remarkable in that it took place at noon and not at high noon. As the observant reader must have noticed, all recent fashionable marriages, when they have taken place at any noon at all, have taken place at high noon.—San Francisco Report.

To Perpetuate the Indian Religion. A. J. Blackwell, a rich and erratic Indian, who owns the cities of Blackwell and David City, in the Indian Territory, has decided to build a temple in David City to cost $300,000. He wishes in this way to perpetuate the Indian religion.—New York Tribune.

Morgan Denmark. Morgan Denmark is a bay stallion, 15 1/2 hands high. He is splendidly bred as a glen at his pedigree will show. He will make the season of '95 at my stable on Danville & Lancaster pike 1 1/2 miles north of Hubble, at $7 to insure a living colt.

Care taken to prevent accidents but responsible should any occur. Lien retained on colts for season money. Morgan Denmark was foaled in 1889. He is by Tom Time, son of Stonewall Jackson, 1st dam Lady Morgan, by Stonewall Jackson, 2nd dam by Virginia, 3rd dam by Matchless, 4th by Transby. Morgan Denmark is one of the best bred saddle stallions in Kentucky. Has good mane and tail and good, long, rangy neck. Don't fail to see him. S. DUNBAR, Hubble Ky.

ABDALLAH MAMBRINO, 3715. Sire and grandsire of 17 in the list—Gereva S. 2195, Bettie Jones 2195, Mattie H. 2195, Soto 2195, Charlotte 2195, Wavona 2195, Wheeler F. 2195, 2195, Telephone 2195, Reward J. 2195, Sigma Nu 2195, Elkin 2195.

BY ALMONT 31. 1 dam Lyd, dam of Lady Mojolica 225. 2 dam Faava, dam of Polly, dam of Crarina 225. Director 227, sire of 11 in 20, Onward 225 1/2, sire of 12 in 20, Thorndale 225 1/2, sire of 7 in 20, John F. Payne, sire of 3 in 20. His colts are fine, large and stylish. Their way of going never fails to win admiration and their gameness is remarkable, with wonderful natural speed and they improve very rapidly.

WASHINGTON 54. Will serve mares at $15 to insure a mare with foal. Washington is black, 15 1/2 hands high, large boned, has a fine mane and tail, and is a perfect as well as a natural saddle horse.

Sired by Cromwell by Washington Denmark. Cromwell's dam by Old John Dillard, Washington Denmark, by Halcum, dam by Crusader, 3d dam by Cocksap. I consider this one of the finest horses in Kentucky and his family on both sides has produced the best saddle horses in the state. He has proven himself as good a producer as any of his family. He and his colts, consequently, have taken more premiums than any horse in the state. It is not at all improbable, if not already true, that in a few more years the monetary value of his colts will be greater than that of any other stallion.

LIQUOR 19002. Sen of Clay 4779, son of Electioneer, sire of 149 in the 20 list.
