OUR STREET PARADE

At 10 a. m. daily is the finest ever put on the streets. A sunburst of splendor. A triumph of art, money and good taste, with lavish luxury of spectacular effect, and greatest professional features conceivable.

Excursions run on every line of travel. No gambling devices tolerated. Never divides; never disappoints.

Observations ....at Random.

"Clumfoot died after a nurse had taken charge of him," remarked a Sunday paper. That's pretty tough on the nurse. And as the paper proceeds to say that the nurse will be retained for other cases, that's pretty tough on the patients.

Some of the gentlemen who think they hear the voice crying aloud to them from the wilderness to run for the council, and read with infinite satisfaction the urgent calls made o them to become candidates should not be mislead. Flattery is a fickle creature, and oftentimes there lurks amid her mellifluous murmurs the most delusive of motives.

A crowd of gentlemen were heard a few days ago laughing at a scheme to hush the still small voice of a well known "bolter." In order to curb his volubility, they sought to tickle his vanity by calling him to run for the council. Of course if he accepts he will be expected to cease his abuse of the so-called regular Democratic nominees. In fact, if he wants the office, it will be a natural consequence for him to court the favor of both factions, and thus the object of the men who called him as "Many Voters" will be attained.

"I haven't heard him say a word about politics today," laughingly remarked one of the men the day after one of the above calls was made, "although we've all tried to rope him into an argument all day."

This is a characteristic Go bel scheme.

A strange looking monkey—all monkeys are more or less strange looking—but this one was particularly so, created some little excitement Saturday on the North Side by escaping from his captors. The simian was brought from Manila by Mr. Ed Crossland, a son of Mr. Sam Crossland, the attorney, and was bought here by two younger children of the family who were on their way from Mayfield to the county on a visit. The Philippine monkeys are quite different from those usually seen in America in circuses and other shows. The fugitive was recaptured after a gymnastic exhibition extended over various house and tree tops to the amusement of the populace and the intense anxiety of the youthful owners.

There are a few things worse than shooting craps, drinking whiskey and beer, or using tobacco, as a n old darkey from the county learned to his sorrow Saturday in Justice Winchester's court. He was charged with the indiscreet application of improper language towards a female neighbor, and told the court that he never used tobacco or intoxicants and never gambled. It is unfortunate that his sundry virtues stopped here, as the language he used cost him just $22.70. The fine was $5 and the remainder was costs. Summer resorts, by the way, aren't in it with magistrates' courts when it comes to expenses.

How two popular young men missed the dance Thursday night is going the rounds of the society folks. One of the young men was initiated into the Elks and the other young man was his friend during the ceremony. After the initiation they called a carriage, the cars having stopped running, and instructed the Jehu to take them to the dance at the park. They then began to discuss the events of the evening, and did not notice whither they were driving. In the course of fifteen or twenty minutes the driver stopped and opening the door said: "Boss, dey ain't no dance out heah. It mus' be ovah."

When they looked out they perceived that the hackman had taken them to Rowlandstown to the old pavilion in Ramona park. They reached La Belle park just as the last waltz was being played.

A well known police officer is nothing if not kind hearted. Some times, however, he has his own welfare as much at hearts she does that of the beneficiary, as was the case the other night, when he arrested a man for being drunk and after a skirmish or two released him, explaining that the man insisted on fighting him. The man is doubtless glad he got off so easily—and so is the policeman.

The following letter was received Saturday by Attorney Ed. Puryear from Corpoarl Carroll M. Smith, Co. A, First Tennessee infantry, who formerly lived here and will be remembered by a great many people. He says:

CEBU, Phillipine Islands, June 18. —Dear Sir: As you see from my heading, we have again changed our address, and are now about two hundred miles further south.

This was the first island of the group discovered by Magellan in his tour of the world and is almost in sight of the place where he was killed.

The city of Cebu is the oldest in the islands, and seems to have made less progress in the advance of civilization than any of the others. Everything except a few houses built by the Spaniards is very primitive. Most everything in the way of buildings, furniture, cooking and eating utensils are built of bamboo. All their clothes (the few they wear) are all hand made, woven mostly from the fibres of pineapple, cocoanut and banana plants. One of the most remarkable features of the place is the small amount of clothing required by the inhabitants. The children to the age of ten or twelve years wear nothing at all, and the older people wear the next thing to it. There are a few of the uppper class mostly part Spanish, who dress very well, but the masses (laboring people, etc.) as the expression goes, "don't wear enough to pad a crutch."

Fruits and native products are very cheap, and as we have become thoroughly acclimated we eat anything we want with perfect safety. We are not altogether as pleasantly situated here as we were at Hollo, but I suppose it will be all right when we get used to it.

Everybody is very friendly towards us, and I think after we are better settled and become more familiar with the place, our guard duty will be lighter. There has been no fighting here yet, but some of our officers expect trouble. The people of Cebu are friendly and requested that troops be sent here to protect them against another party or tribe who live in the surrounding country. It is from these outside people that trouble is expected and the citizens here say it is the first time in ten years that they have missed coming in and looting the town.

We are hoping that they will make an attack, as they are armed only with arrows and spears, having no fire arms at all, and in addition to the excitement it would cause we would have an excellent opportunity to collect battlefield souvenirs.

I hardly think we will have an, however, as every precaution has been taken against it, and all the natives seem to be afraid of American soldiers.

We have a light line of outposts out and patrol at night. There are 100 or 150 native police, armed with "bolos," who help to keep order and are supposed to give us the alarm in case anything happens.

We expect to be retired here and return to Hollo the latter part of this month or the first of next, but of course there is no certainty about it. We also expect to sail for the States in the next two or three months, but that is equally as uncertain. Yours truly,

CARROLL M. SMITH.

A paragraph is being much handed around to the effect that a flour mill at Warrensburg, Mo., ships its product to Kansas City in barrels, has it repacked in sacks, and employs a stranger to come to Warrensburg and sell it as hard wheat flour made in Kansas. It "goes like hot cakes," and has almost run the home product out of the market.

North and South are joined in the material of the national capitol. The central building is constructed of Virginia sandstone, painted white. The extensions are of Massachusetts marble, and twenty-four columns of the grand central portico are monoliths of Virginia sandstone thirty feet high, and one hundred columns of the extension portioes are of Maryland marble.

Wichita is a typical "boom" town. Twelve years ago it had a population of 40,000. Today it has perhaps 25,000, which is a considerable recovery from low tide in 1895, when it had less than 19,000, according to estimates based upon the number of names in the directory. In 1886-8, before the boom broke, Wichita real estate was selling at New York prices, and they point out lots on the main street that sold for $2,500 a front foot for which the owners would now be glad to get $300 or $400. The real estate exchanges in New York in good times will reach about $92,000,000 a year; in Chicago, in 1893, just before the world's fair, the transfers, as shown by the recorder's books, were about $90,000,000, but at Wichita during the five months preceding the collapse in 1886, more than $35,000,000 in town lots changed hands. —Correspondence Chicago Record.

The sons and daughters of the princely families of Rome are said to have a pretty hard lot. They are generally very poor, yet they have to live in enormous houses and keep up a tradition of magnificence. The young men drive in dog carts which, according to rumor, are owned jointly by a dozen of them. The young women are to be seen driving on the Pincio, arrayed in stylish hats and coats, wearing good gloves and carrying pretty parasols. "And yet," says the English correspondent who is responsible for this gossip, "their distrait expression shows that they are uneasy in their minds. The particular form of guilt which burdens their souls is a dread that some one will invite them to descend and stroll about the bandstand, revealing the fact that their skirts are by no means so smart as their coats or waists, and their boots more open to criticism than their gloves."—New York Sun.

Two hustling advertising agents are trying their utmost to buy all the available space on each side of the Reading railway, from Philadelphia to Norristown, in order to display the merits of their numerous wares. Being backed by plenty of capital, they are enabled to offer tempting sums for the spaces desired. Farmers owning ground along the line are only too glad to get their old fences torn down and have high ones erected in their stead. They also receive a handsome sum per foot from the agents for the privilege of the advertisement. The agent makes up the cost in width by the height of the fence, which is sometimes twenty feet. It is apparently the purpose of the advertisers to have all the pretty landscape shut from the view of the passengers and instead to offer them a continuous panorama of patent medicines, pills, bicycles, biscuits, etc.—Philadelphia Record.

High-Priced Manuscripts.

The highest price ever paid for a piece of manuscript was $8,000 for Homers Iliad, written on vellum, probably in the eighth century. It is now in the British Museum. A manuscript Bible which was presented to the Emperor Charlemange upon the occasion of his coronation, in the year 800, was sold at auction some years ago for $7,500. That is also in the British Museum. The original manuscript of Scott's "Lady of the Lake" brought $6,450 at auction. The autobiography of Lord Nelson in his own handwriting, as prepared for the press, brought $5,250. The manuscript of Keats' "Endymion" was once sold for $3,475, and the manuscript of Scott's "Old Mortality" for $3,100. Sir John Thorall paid $3,900 for a manuscript Bible of the seventh century, and Lord Crawford paid $2,860 for a handsomely illuminated manuscript of the New Testament.
