GEORGE YOUNG IMPROVING.

George Young, who was almost killed by a blow in the mouth while in his stable a few weeks ago, having both jaw bones broken, is improving. There is considerable mischief surrounding his injury, as he informed Constable Anderson Miller that it was impossible for him to have been kicked, as the horse was 10 feet away when he was struck. Thus far, nothing has been learned of who struck him.

Getting on The Inside

The outward appearance of fashionable clothing is usually good. That depends on the tailor—but it's inside that should be taken into consideration. Pretty near time to think about the Fall suit, but it's not quite so high now as we will be in a few more months. So be sure everything is perfect. Drop in and examine the fall suitings.

The new school building on West Broadway will not be finished by next Monday, the opening of the schools, as it has been impossible, according to Superintendent McBroom, to get sufficient lumber to complete any part of it except that for the high school building.

The result will be that none of the grades under those in the high school can be accommodated in the new building for some time, but for how long it is not known. The portion allotted to the high school, however, will be ready for occupancy by that time.

Superintendent McBroom, by next Monday, will have fitted in all the school buildings, and cobbles in each room. In addition he will encourage, although not require, individual cups among the pupils as a sanitary measure. Many of the pupils are very anxious for the permission.

Many entrance cards have been issued to pupils since last Monday, but another rush is expected this week and next.
