AMMONIA PIPE BURSTS.

Accident at the Paducah Ice Factory this Afternoon.

People in the Neighborhood Almost Suffocate.

An ammonia pipe burst at the factory of the Paducah Ice Company, on First street near Broadway, about 2:30 o'clock this afternoon in charging a drum, with the effect that for half a square around was rendered suffocating. People seated on the pavement at Hotel Gilbert and others in the neighborhood rushed north and on in the search for pure zone.

The coil of pipe in question is located in a lattice work dome on top of the middle section of the building and it happened that none of the employees were near at the time. The fluid has been shut off from flowing pending the escape of the vaporized ammonia when workmen will be able to get up there and make the necessary repairs. The damage was slight.

The shoot Monday will be for club medal. All the members are expected to contest.

A USEFUL INVENTION.

Two Local Steamboat Men Have a New Fan.

Engineers Jim St. John and Fay Lyon, of the city, who run on the steamer Clyde, have applied for a patent on an ingenious fan operated in the engine room of their boat.

It in shape and general appearance resembles a steamboat wheel, and is run by a rope attached to the electric dynamo which generates electricity for electric light. It is very convenient and simple for steamboat use, and steamboat men believe the inventors have a good thing in it.

DESTITUTE FAMILY.

It Was Sent to Evansville This Morning.

A family named Blevins, who have been living in a shanty at the foot of Campbell street, were sent to Evansville this morning by Mayor Yeiser.

There are besides Blevins and his wife three small children, and the woman is about to become a mother. They were sick, destitute and without friends, and desired to go where they have relatives. The family had been here for some time, and Blevins was never known to work.

FAMILY TROUBLES.

Overtook the Yeltema Family Last Evening.

Justice Winchester issued a warrant last evening against Alex Yeltema charging him with assaulting his wife, Maud Yeltema, at La Belle park last night.

The particulars of the trouble seem to be that he charged her with being with another man at the park, and struck her several times. Her face is badly swollen and bruised, and Yeltema has not yet been arrested. He lives on the North side.
