

SUFFERING ENDED.

Mr. J. J. Guthrie Died Last Night After a Lengthy Illness—Was 60 Years Old.

The Deceased Had Been a Hopeless Invalid for Nearly a Year—The Arrangements for the Funeral.

Mr. J. J. Guthrie, one of Paducah's oldest and most prominent citizens, died last night about 9 o'clock at his residence, 304 court street, after an illness of nearly a year.

Mr. Guthrie was prostrated by a stroke of apoplexy early last January, and although death was expected for several weeks, his tenacity to life was almost marvelous. Owing to his constitution his condition at times bore evidences of improvement, but he had not been seen by his old friends during his entire illness. At times he was partially conscious, but his continued illness reduced him to almost a shadow of his former self.

The deceased was born in Buckingham, Va., in 1837, and was consequently 60 years of age. He came to Kentucky to reside when three years old. His early life was spent in Calloway county, but in 1864 he entered the grocery business here and a year later changed to the dry goods business, which he gradually upbuilt until he was among Paducah's foremost merchants.

Always conservative and honest, he reaped the reward of his business methods and was stockholder in the City National Bank, and at one time president of the Paducah and Mayfield gravel road. He owned fifty-six acres of suburban property, now a part of the city, an eight acre block with improvements and other property, besides his handsome residence, in addition to a fine farm in Calloway county.

Mr. Guthrie was a life-long Baptist, and for years was a deacon in the First Baptist church, and church treasurer. Mr. Guthrie married a daughter of the late Mr. Richard Hatfield, president of the City National Bank, who preceded him to the grave several years ago. His only child is a daughter, Mrs. Chas. K. Wheeler.

Mr. Guthrie leaves one sister, Mrs. M. A. Belcher, of Alto, Ky.; He leaves two cousins, Mr. Ell Guthrie, of the city, and Mr. Buford Guthrie, of Murray.

The funeral of the late Mr. J. J. Guthrie will take place tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock from the First Baptist church.

JAS. SAMMONS

Is the Name of the Stranger who Fell Dead. Since he was Embowed His Beard Has Grown One-eighth of an Inch.

Coroner Nance yesterday established the identity of the man who dropped dead in "Catfish" Jones' restaurant several days ago. The engineer of the engine used at the trenching machine yesterday called at the undertaking establishment, and after looking over the papers found on the dead man, declared him to be James Sammons, of Dixon, Webster county, Ky.

This is the name contained in the book found among the man's scanty possessions, but it was so illegible that those who saw it read it "Sam-mory."

The man belongs to large and well known family of that section, and the gentleman who gave Coroner Nance the information says that some of them reside near Pool's Mill. The county judge and postmaster have been written to. The body has been embalmed and is still at the establishment.

Undertaker Nance reports an unusual feature in the case. Since the man's death the stubby beard on his face has grown fully one-eighth of an inch, and bids fair to keep growing.

ARM SHOT OFF.

Reckless Handling of a Shot Gun Causes Misfortune. Tom Davis Loses His Right Arm as a Result of Carelessness.

Thomas E. Davis, a colored section hand of the Illinois Central, had his right arm shot off last night at Box Station, where he lives, by Arch Dawson, another section hand, and both men claim the shooting was accidental.

dence of the railroad physician, who amputated the arm near the elbow. Davis and Dawson both came to the city on the 8 o'clock train, and the former was admitted to the railroad hospital.

As the victim sorrowfully remarked to a reporter, his "railroading is forever done for."

COL. DALE'S RUNAWAY.

Today He is in the Buggy Repairing Business. While Green, the little son of Col. Bud Dale, was hitching up the horse Saturday afternoon to come to the city after his father, the animal ran away, not stopping but once, and that was when he struck the Ohio river. The buggy was so badly demolished that Col. Dale had to bring a two horse wagon to town this morning to carry back enough material to patch it.

TO BE, OR NOT TO BE?

The Question that Now Agitates Democrats.

Will the Caucus Slate Be Broken, or Will It Remain Intact?

The paramount question in political circles now is, will the slate made up at the recent democratic caucus be taken. Quite naturally there is a diversity of opinion on the subject. Some of those personally interested say that it will, while others say that it will not. Then there are those who say they are too disgusted to give the matter any thought.

The article in Saturday's Six has created considerable stir among the democrats, and has occasioned no little comment. Today membership of the council could be seen hobnobbing together in many places, indicating that something is up. The Six simply gave the facts Saturday as an item of news deemed interesting to chronicle.

There is much dissatisfaction manifested among some of the Democrats, and while many are indifferent as to whether the slate is elected or not, others are open in their opposition to some of the nominees. But whether there are any grounds for discontent or not, it is nevertheless a fact that there is discontent. It is equally certain that a great deal of influence is being brought to bear on some of the councilmen to repudiate the caucus. The defeated candidates, or many of them, are living in hope, while many of them are living in "hot water." Whether the slate is broken or not, there is promise of a little fun among the Democrats until the matter is settled one way or the other. It is said that one councilman is so disgusted that he seriously considers the advisability of declining to qualify when the time comes.

This Six has been criticized by some for publishing the facts in the affair. It has no interest whatever in the matter except to give the news, and that it is reliable news one can readily learn by getting out among the people and keeping his ears open. The Six doesn't care what kind of slate the Democratic council makes up or what is on it. It never expected any Republicans to be nominated, although one of the nominees is said to be a Republican, despite the fact that he is registered as a Democrat. As long as there is any dissatisfaction in the ranks, however, the Six will continue to publish the facts as near as they can be obtained.

REV. FISMER

Preached at the German Evangelical Church. He May Be Called Wednesday as Pastor of the Church.

Rev. Fismser, of Pomeroy, Ohio, left this morning for his home. He preached yesterday at the German Evangelical church to a large congregation.

A meeting of the congregation will be held Wednesday night to decide on whether or not to call him as pastor of the church.

Interesting Family Reunion. A family reunion took place Saturday at Wickliffe, Ballard county. For the first time in 25 years the living children of the late Jacob Corbett, who for 42 years was county clerk of Ballard, were all together. Those present were: Mrs. Jas. M. Engell, of the city; Mrs. Judge C. S. Marshall, of Wickliffe; Mrs. Lafayette Rich, Montana; Col. Tom Corbett, recently of Oklahoma; and Mrs. Dr. Terrell, of Bladenville. The late Mr. Letch Corbett and Mrs. Dudley are the two who are dead.

F. D. T. A. The 26th semi-annual meeting of the First District Teachers' association meets next Friday and Saturday at Clinton, and a party of teachers from the city, headed by Supt. Geo. O. McBroom, will likely go down to attend. Prof. Stone, of Clinton college, will deliver the address of welcome, and Supt. McBroom, of the city, will respond. The association is composed of teachers from eleven counties, and from one hundred to two hundred visitors are expected.

MULHATTON LOOSE AGAIN.

A Lying Illinois Newspaper Correspondent Tells the Biggest Lie and Wears the Belt.

He Telegraphed to the Globe-Democrat that Paducah was in the Hands of a Receiver.

Mayor Yeiser was very indignant today when he was handed a dispatch clipped from the St. Louis Globe-Democrat of yesterday, dated Spring Valley, Ill., stating that Spring Valley had been placed in the hands of a receiver.

The dispatch wound up by stating that so far as is known, Paducah, Ky., was the only other city in the United States in the hands of a receiver. This is a reflection on Paducah that might do her a vast amount of harm. There is no city in the United States on sounder financial footing, and Mayor Yeiser wrote at once to the Globe-Democrat that there was no truth in it. The paper is not to blame, however, as the mistake was due to either the mendacity or mistake of the Illinois correspondent.

TONS OF PAINT.

Mr. Pete Johnson, of the County, Finds Ochre.

While Digging He Uncovers what Proved to be 10 Acres of It.

Mr. Pete Johnson, a farmer living in the Gum Springs section of the county, about eight miles from the city on the Broadway road, made an important discovery on his farm one day last week. While making an excavation on his land he found a fine ochre bed, which is said to be one of the largest and finest quality in this section of the country.

The clay covers an area of ten acres or more, and Mr. Johnson will at once proceed to take it out in large quantities and ship it to St. Louis, to be sold and converted into paint. The find is considered quite a valuable one.

HON. J. M. DROMGOOLE.

Death of Miss Will Allen Dromgoole's Aged Father.

Passed Away Suddenly Yesterday at Mayfield, Ninety Years of Age.

Hon. J. E. Dromgoole died yesterday afternoon at the age of over 90 years at Mayfield, Ky. He was the father of Mrs. Welton Mooney, wife of the pastor of the Methodist church at that place, and of Miss Will Allen Dromgoole, the Tennessee writer. He came here a short time ago from Tennessee and was the oldest lawyer in that state. His death was sudden and unexpected.

Needs Delicacies. John Parrott Tells the Mayor a Hard Luck Story.

John Parrott, formerly of Zanesville, Ohio, but now a citizen of Paducah, applied to Mayor Yeiser this morning for aid. He said his wife was dangerously ill, and his financial condition was distressingly bad. He applied to the county for assistance, but was given only the coarsest food, while the condition of his wife rendered her unable to eat only delicacies.

Mayor Yeiser did not feel justified in helping the man in his official capacity, but gave him an order and had it charged to his individual account.

STEAMBOAT MEN HAPPY.

Navigation Resumed on the Ohio River. There was great activity and cheerfulness down about the wharf today, and it looked a great deal like old times.

The Dick Fowler, for the first time in six weeks or more, left on schedule time for Cairo, while the Gus Fowler departed for Evansville at 10 o'clock. The W. K. Phillips is tied up for chimney repairs.

In a few days the big boats will begin passing, and then the river man's cup of Lappiness will be overflowing.
