

Broken Hearts Mended.

Broken hearts are now being mended. Not the hearts shattered by unfortunate romances, but the valvular organs pierced by knives. Time mends the first kind, but only the skilful surgeon, Zeldler, can be depended on to operate successfully on the knife-torn heart.

Dr. Zeldler has a little hospital at Obuchow in Russia. Thirty-one persons brought to the hospital with hearts pierced and slashed by knife wounds have successfully had their organs repaired and have recovered entirely, to all appearances, from their remarkable experiences.

One patient has lived seven years and shows no signs of having been affected by the heart wound and subsequent sewing up. The patients were all put under the influence of ether very soon after the injury, part of the chest wall was removed, the heart lifted from its bed, and the stitches quickly introduced between pulsations. The bony chest wall over the heart was not put back into place, that organ being left protected only by skin and muscle. This was done to give the heart room to expand and to prevent adhesions from embarrassing the heart's action.

Curious Big Game Hunting.

The gramophone is sometimes put to strange uses. The leader of an African hunting expedition, who set out on a motor trip from the Cape to Cairo, recently used it as a decoy for tigers and hippopotami. In tiger hunting it is usual to tether a lamb to a tree; its bleatings attract the tiger within reach of the hunters. Before leaving England the explorer had some records made by bleating lambs, and, says a recent writer, he tried them on the unsuspecting tigers of the African jungle with considerable success.

The record makers gained one of their greatest triumphs when they succeeded in getting good nightingale and blackbirds records. The chief difficulty was the objection that birds pay to the sounds of the recording machines. The clever men got round that by setting up a dummy recording machine, in the horn of which they put some of

SOUTHERN DRUG MERCHANT MAKES UNUSUAL STATEMENT

Great Business Losses Due to Neglect

W. WITHERS MILLER

President of the Polk-Miller Drug Company, Richmond, Va., is authority for the following extraordinary statement:

"I estimate that the business men of this country could increase their efficiency fully ten per cent by taking an occasional laxative and not neglecting the bowels as most of them do."

He also said that if the Department of Commerce in Washington would present each business man in the country with a box of Rexall Orderlies, it would be of great benefit to the national welfare. Rexall Orderlies are prompt in action, pleasant to take and never gripe, can be used by men, women or children, and are just the thing for toning up sluggish livers.

We have the exclusive selling rights for this great laxative. Trial size, 10 cents.

When the bird entered the horn to get the food the clock-work was set in motion. The little creature soon grew accustomed to the sound, and so, after much tedious and discouraging labor, successful records were made. These records are selling in thousands all over the world.

Nine Negroes Killed.

A race war in Early county, Ga., and across the Chattahoochee river, in Alabama, has recently resulted in the killing of nine negroes, the wounding of several whites and the burning of four negro lodge buildings.

The trouble grew out of the murder of J. Villipigue, a white plantation overseer, by negroes—grandison Goolsby and his sons, Mike and Ulysses. The killing of the white man is said to have been caused by a beating which he gave to one of the young Goolsbys.

Immediately mobs and posses started in pursuit of the slayers and are said to have killed nine negroes in the conflict which followed. In retaliation the blacks wounded a number of white men.

Reports that a negro secret organization had delegated Goolsbys and his sons to kill Villipigue caused the burning of four negro lodges. The elder Goolsby was known as one of the leading spirits in negro Ma-on and negro Odd Fellow's lodge in that section and also as a member of several negro organizations.

Typhus and Influenza.

In Mexico there are 250,000 cases of typhus fever, while in the United States more than a million people are now suffering from influenza. The death rate from typhus is abnormally high, while that from influenza is rapidly approaching the figures set by "the grip" which swept the country 20 years ago. Both results from insanitary conditions, both being germ diseases.

In Mexico climatic conditions, utter failure to give attention to sanitary matters, and the ravages of war largely account for the prevalence of typhus fever. In the United States the open winter, exposing decaying vegetables and animal matter, may be the principal contributing cause of influenza. Mexico is without physicians or other medical assistance, Carranza having banished the Red Cross. In the United States doctors are plentiful and are able to afford relief if summoned in time. But beyond all these the people themselves must give attention to cleanliness about homes and premises, and take such other

Bowels are Basis of Child Health

The careful mother, who watches closely the physical peculiarities of her children, will soon discover that the most important thing in connection with a child's constant good health is to keep his bowels regularly open. Sluggish bowels will be followed by loss of appetite, restlessness during sleep, irritability and a dozen and one similar evidences of physical disorder.

At the first sign of such disorder give the child a teaspoonful of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin at night on retiring and repeat the dose the following night if necessary—more than that will scarcely be needed. You will find that the child will recover its accustomed good spirits at once and will eat and sleep normally.

This remedy is a vast improvement over salts, cathartics, laxative waters and similar things, which are altogether too powerful for a child. The homes of Mrs. Carrie McDonald, 1635 Trigg Ave., Memphis, Tenn., and Mrs. Sallie E. Griffith, Veechdale, Ky., are always supplied with Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, and with them, as with thousands of others, there is no substitute for this grand laxative. It is really more than a laxative, for it contains superior tonic properties which help to tone and strengthen the stomach, liver and bowels so that after a brief use of it all laxatives can be dispensed with and nature will do its own work.

Anyone wishing to make a trial of this remedy before buying it in the regular way of a druggist at fifty cents or one dollar a large bottle (family size) can have a sample bottle sent to the home free of charge by simply enclosing Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 1635 Trigg Ave., St. Monticello, Va., the following address on a postal card with the name of the measures as will surpress disease germs, if the public health is to be conserved.

The one great animating principle of medicine and of sanitation today is the prevention of disease, not the cure of it. For nearly a generation in this country public schools and newspapers have been educating the people along health lines, and if what they have been told is put into effect by them influenza and kindred diseases can be stamped out on their first appearance. Upon the people rests the primal responsibility of being well and staying well.

Chamberlain's Cough Remedy Most Effectual.

"I have taken a great many bottles of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and every time it has cured me. I have found it most effectual for a hacking cough and for colds. After taking it a cough always disappears," writes J. R. Moore, Lost Valley, Ga. For sale by Paull Drug Co. Adv.

Paper Made of Grass.

As a means of conserving the forests in this country, the Department of Agriculture is experimenting with wire grass as a source of supply for pulp for making paper instead of wood pulp. Wire grass, as it is commonly known in the West, grows on the Pacific slope and in Western Mexico. It forms a dense mat of roots and yields in fertile soils sometimes as high as three tons of grass. It is fibrous and tough and can be reduced by the soda process. The use of the "nog," by which wood is reduced to pulp, is entirely done away with.

The paper manufactured from the stock has proven as satisfactory, in physical tests, as a first grade, machine-finished printing paper. It has, moreover, a very satisfactory appearance and feeling. For bleaching however, the experiments showed that more bleaching powder was required than with poplar stock.

It has been estimated that the growth of wood in the United States is being removed at the rate of 36 cubic feet per acre each year, while the natural increase is at the rate of 12 cubic
