

DOES IT PAY TO BE SICK?

Let's forget about all the disagreeable and painful part of sickness, and ask ourselves if it PAYS to be sick.

Perhaps you are only HALF sick—maybe you are dragging yourself around, with a "dead tired" feeling. Perhaps you wake up in the morning with a heavily-coated tongue, a bad taste in your mouth, and hardly any appetite. Quite likely you are bilious. Maybe you have dull aches and pains, CONSTIPATION, headaches.

You go about your daily duties. You tell yourself you will feel better to-morrow—but when to-morrow comes you feel just about the same. You try this and that remedy, without getting real relief. Or if you get some relief, it doesn't LAST! You soon feel just as bad as you did before. DOES IT PAY to let yourself stay in this half-sick condition? Think of all the ENJOYMENT of life you are missing! You can't enjoy your food, or the society of your family and friends. You can't enjoy anything as you should, because your senses are dulled and your brain oppressed by the effects of a SLUGGISH LIVER.

Say, friend, does it PAY you to lug around that sluggish liver when you can promptly make it ACTIVE and so get rid of all those depressing, disagreeable symptoms—by letting

Russian Proverbs.

The cynical humor of the Russian is admirably illustrated in their proverbs. Here are some:

A fool shoots; God guides the bullet.

If you are not caught you are no thief.

When money speaks truth keeps silence.

The spoken word can not be swallowed.

Dogs bark and the wind carries it away.

It is a stupid mouse that knows only one hole.

You cannot sew buttons on your neighbor's mouth.

It is a bad soldier that does not aspire to be a general.

A woman laughs when she can and cries when she wishes.

Where God builds a church there the devil has his chapel.

The greatest king must at last be put to bed with a shovel.

The czar is generous, but his generosity passes through the ministerial sieve.

If you go to war, if you go on a sea journey, pray twice; but pray three times when you are going to be married.

Even in hell the peasant will have to serve the landlord, for, while the latter is boiling in a cauldron, the former will have to put the wood under it.

Hot Weathes Rules for Horses.

1. Load lightly and drive slowly.

2. Stop in the shade if possible.

3. Water your horses as often as possible. So long as a horse is working, water in small quantities will not hurt him. But let him drink only a few swallows, if he is going to stand still. Don't forget to water him at night after he has eaten his hay.

4. When he comes in after work, sponge off the harness marks and sweat, his eyes, his nose and mouth and the dock. Wash his feet but not his legs.

5. If the thermometer is 75 degrees or higher, wipe him all over with a damp sponge. Do not turn the hose on him.

6. Saturday night, give a bran mash, lukewarm; and add a tablespoonful of saltpetre.

7. Do not use a horse hat, unless it is a canopy-top hat. The ordinary bell-shaped hat does more harm than good.

8. A sponge on top of the head or even a dry cloth if kept wet. If dry it is worse than nothing.

Lovers Reunited by War.

Tobias Boskuhl, an officer of an interned German vessel lying at New Orleans, has just married Miss Albertine Dehner, a girl of Steelton, Pa., for whom he had been searching 14 years. Voskuhl met the girl of his dreams when she was 16 and he was a petty officer on a liner plying between Germany and the United States. The girl, whose mother had died, was on the way to Steelton to live with her uncle, Otto Dehner, a brewer.

The boy and girl became engaged, but the stern old German uncle refused to countenance the match and when his niece insisted that she would wed Voskuhl, he sent her to other relatives in Germany and refused to give the young officer her address.

Believing Miss Dehner's love affair dead, the uncle sent for her again and she has been living with him for ten years. Recently she saw her lover's name and wrote to him. The wedding followed.

John D. Rockefeller's estate is now estimated at one billion dollars according to recent figures given out which makes him the richest man in the world.

Italy Accusing Germany.

A strong demand has arisen in the press and among the public of Italy for cancellation of the agreement between Italy and Germany, whereby the rights of citizens of each country within the other's domain were to be respected. Violation of the agreement by the Germans is alleged in Rome. The situation is such that the relations between the two nations have reached a greater tension than at any time since the war begun.

No state of war exists between Germany and Italy and the agreement negotiated by Prince Von Buelow still is in force. Italy, according to official opinion, has faithfully observed the agreement, refraining from touching German property and freely allowing subjects of the German empire to reside there.

On the other hand, Germany is accused, unofficially, of violating the agreement in depriving Italians in Germany of their liberty of action, preventing Italians of military age residing in Belgium from leaving the country, suspending payments due Italians and treating them as subjects of a hostile power. Accordingly a demand is now being voiced for abrogation of the agreement.

Short Stops.

A man may boast of his ancestors because he has nothing to look forward to.

It is easier to acquire a reputation for greatness than it is to make good.

One of the ambitions of the average man is to do those he has been done by.
