

FRANKFORT ROUNDABOUT.

Entered at the post-office at Frankfort, Kentucky as second class mailable matter.

TO OUR PATRONS.

As the ROUNDABOUT has reached its sixth birthday, and as our columns have been so crowded with advertisements that it has been impossible to give our subscribers as much reading matter as they desired, we to-day present them with a much larger sheet, and promise to issue in the same form every Saturday hereafter. It will be our aim in the future, as it has been in the past, to give all the local news, and our correspondents will be sure to see their communications in print each week if sent in by Friday morning.

As the change was made hurriedly yesterday, we have not gotten everything in as good shape as we would like, but hope by our next issue to present the same neat appearance as usual.

It will be observed that we have made a slight change in the heading in order to make the name of the paper conform to what it is known as abroad; but while we have dropped the word "weekly," its visits will be the same—every Saturday.

As we have attained an age that justifies us in lengthening the tail of our jacket, and in broadening it across the shoulders, we trust we shall never grow "too large for our breeches," and shall always merit the esteem in which the paper is held wherever it goes.

Elder George Darsie preached his sixth anniversary sermon at the Christian Church last Sunday morning to a large congregation, reviewing his year's work and showing that the church was in a more healthy and prosperous condition than for years. The ladies of the church, under the leadership of Mrs. Dr. W. H. Hall had beautifully decorated the altar with flowers and hot house plants, and as he addressed his people Elder Darsie had the appearance of speaking to them from a garden of flowers.

Immediately over the altar, suspended from the arch of the alcove, was a large crown, beneath which hung a cornucopia, representing the idea that the abundant good works of the minister had been crowned with success. In front of the altar, and attached to it, was a sickle, and underneath the sickle six sheaves of ripened grain, indicating that the harvest of the six years had been gathered. On the right of the altar was a shield indicative of the guard which God kept upon him, and on the left was a heart to represent that his heart had always been in his work. The number six was maintained throughout to represent the six years of his ministry. There were six baskets of flowers, six lilies, and in the centres of each of two square baskets of flowers was the figure six, one in tube roses on a background of maroon leaves and flowers, and one in heliotrope, on a ground of white flowers. Over the organ was a lyre to represent the music of the soul.

There is no more popular minister in the city, with all denominations, than Elder Darsie, and his own congregation is devotedly attached to him. May his ministry continue in this city until he has preached his fiftieth anniversary sermon.

There was no service at either of the churches Sunday night on account of the failure of gas.—Yeoman, Sept. 19.

What was the matter with you, neighbor, on Sunday night? There was service at several of our churches that night, and no lack of light so far as the congregations were advised. Don't mix things, Major.

We are under obligations to Mrs. Dr. W. H. Hall for an elegant basket of flowers and a beautiful bouquet.

The Post-office hereafter will be closed fifteen minutes after six instead of half past, on account of the train coming in sooner.

Get you a fall suit of clothes made at Berberich's before the cold weather comes that Vennor has predicted for the first of October.

We regret to know that the Rev. Dr. C. W. Miller is lying very ill in Lexington and his life is nearing its close, as there is no hope of his recovery.

The City and County Court have given the right of way to the Capital Gas and Electric Light Company to lay their pipes across the bridge to South Frankfort.

We are glad to know that Mr. H. R. Cammack will probably be one of the clerks on the City of Frankfort or will have charge of the wharf boat at this place.

Mrs. Sol. Harris returned yesterday from her trip East to purchase goods for the Arcade. M'lle Wallerman, who will have charge of the millinery department, will not return until next week.

Mr. Wm. M. Bristow has laid on our table a large Bermuda red sweet potato weighing four pounds, about ten inches long and five inches in diameter, which was as delicious to the taste as anything we have eaten lately.

Mr. John Morris, of this county, passed through this city Monday afternoon, bound for Long Branch, New Jersey, having in charge eight yearling colts and fillies belonging to Messrs. Appley & Johnson which he will winter in that place and train, together with seven others already there, for those gentlemen in the spring.

The sad news reached this city Wednesday that Mr. L. Harvie Blanton, formerly of this city, but now of Indianapolis, Indiana, had one of his hands caught in the machinery of his mill, several days since, two of the fingers being cut off, and that he was dying from lockjaw produced by the wound. Later intelligence, however, reports him as improving.

The following gentlemen were elected officers of Frankfort R. A. Chapter for the ensuing year, at the regular meeting on Tuesday evening:

Frank C. Hughes, High Priest.
J. R. Stafford, King.
Jas. A. Murray, Scribe.
V. A. Kaltenbrun, Captain of Host.
Gus. Shafer, Principal Sojourner.
Geo. A. Lewis, Royal Arch Captain.
Sam. J. Shea, Grand Master of 3d Veil.
J. B. Veach, Grand Master of 2d Veil.
Frank G. Montgomery, Grand Master of 1st Veil.

E. Whitesides, Secretary.
W. T. Reading, Treasurer.
W. H. Phythian, Guard.

Messrs. P. F. Smith and James Norwood have been appointed to positions on the police force to fill the vacancies occasioned by the death of Capt. Jerry Lee and the promotion of Mr. H. J. Hyde as Chief. The following letters of the Mayor to Mr. Hyde explain themselves. The last instruction is being followed and everything is moving on smoothly. It is to be hoped that there will be no occasion for complaint of the force in future. Mr. Hyde has announced his determination to see that every man does his duty and keeps sober while on watch.

BOARD OF COUNCILMEN,
CITY OF FRANKFORT, KY.,
Sept. 19, 1882.

H. J. Hyde, Esq.:

You are hereby commissioned Chief of Police, subject to approval of the Council. The Police force, through yourself, will be held to rigid accountability for the peace and perfect order of the city. You will see that each policeman discharges his duty in every detail. I am properly held responsible for the peace and order of the city. And intend both shall be preserved. You will report to me the failure of any policeman to discharge his duty, and his suspension will promptly ensue.

E. H. TAYLOR, JR., Mayor.
By F. V. GRAY, City Clerk.

BOARD OF COUNCILMEN,
CITY OF FRANKFORT, KY.,
Sept. 19, 1882.

H. J. Hyde, Esq., Chief of Police:

Sir: During the hours of the night or day police are on watch they are prohibited from entering any house except in discharge of an official duty, and from engaging in any protracted conversation with citizens. They are strictly conservators of the peace and order, and have officially no social obligations whatever. You will see this order enforced literally and report promptly to me any infraction of same.

E. H. TAYLOR, JR., Mayor.
By F. V. GRAY, City Clerk.

FOR RENT.—A house with seven rooms in it. Apply to C. Shubinski.

Council Proceedings.

The following letter was received from His Honor E. H. Taylor, Jr.:

I entered yesterday into an engagement requiring me to leave the city to-day. Since I have been deeply distressed to learn of the deplorable death of Jerry Lee, Chief of the Police. As my engagement cannot be postponed, I write this asking that you will take such actions regarding Capt. Lee's death and obsequies as will be something of a recognition of the services of an officer who desired to discharge conscientiously his duties, and as a tribute to his manly courage. In my life I never knew a man whom I know to be so absolutely void of all fear.

E. H. TAYLOR, JR.,
Mayor.

Sept. 19, 1882.

On motion of Councilman Todd, it was resolved that the Council and city officials attend the funeral in a body.

Gen. Lindsay, on behalf of Col. Orlando Brown, presented a bill for about $900 damages done his farm and crop by laying water mains through it.

On motion of Councilman Williams, the Bridge Committee were ordered to have repairs made, in connection with the county court, upon one of the pillars of the South Frankfort Bridge.

On motion, Council refused to rescind the order revoking the license of Harrison Anderson to sell beer.

The Street Committee were directed to enforce the order to have gutter made by property owners on Broadway, between Madison and Washington.

Numerous accounts were presented and allowed.
