WHILE riding over his knob land a few days ago Mr. J. A. Givens was attacked by a mad dog, which lacerated his horse's leg and left the imprint of his teeth on that gentleman's stirrup. The canine was a spotted hound.

THE republicans have nominated Messrs. K. D. Noakes in the Crab Orchard district for magistrate and J. A. Singleton in the Waynesburg district. Both good lams for November slaughter.

THE Germans of Ottenheim will have a celebration on Sept. 25th, it being the 25th year since their settlement at that place. They propose to have a big time. Plenty of music will be furnished and some speeches will be made by the local talent here.

PROF. J. D. CLARK, of Lexington, addressed the tobacco growers at the court house here yesterday, urging them to pool their tobacco and help the State organization down the tobacco trust. He made a good speech and impressed our people favorably.

FROM what we could learn from republican sources yesterday on the street, all is not lovely in the republican camp by long odds over the late "machine" convention. The bosses seem to be having a hard time satisfying the rank and file of their party by running over them in steam roller fashion. It is love's labor lost at any rate, for what the democratic nominees will do to them will be a plenty in November.

WHEN the republican machine of Lincoln county issued its call for a convention to nominate county officers, it contained a paragraph that in order to place a candidate before the convention he had to send to the chairman of the republican county committee written notice to that effect and for what office he aspired to. We have been informed that no such notice was ever sent by Thos. N. Butt, the republican nominee for jailer, but the machine wanted to "choke off" clever Isaac Terry whom a great many people thought defeated Mr. Butt before the convention. What do the people of Lincoln county call "machine rule?" Is it a fact you suppose that Mr. Butt didn't know his name was to be presented before the convention? It must have been, for we have been told he said he was not a candidate for the nomination. William Jennings Bryan says, "Let the People Rule," which, as a rule, is a safe policy.

FOR SALE OR TRADE.—One 16 horse power Nichols & Shepherd traction engine and two mounted saw mills, log wagons, etc. All in good condition. Call on or address O. W. Potts, Richmond, Ky.

VANHOOK WITHDRAWS.—Before he had gotten well into his race for county clerk of Pulaski, Mr. J. Harvey Vanhook, formerly of this county but now a thriving citizen of Burnside, withdrew. Mr. Frank Limeville, a republican, entered on the independent ticket, which Mr. V. thought meant certain defeat for him. He is very thankful to his many friends in Lincoln and adjoining counties for their words of encouragement and expects at some to again enter the political arena.

AN old adage goes: "Fools build houses and wise men live in them," but the handsome new court house that the people of Lincoln county are erecting will be occupied by as capable and as clever a set of public officials as ever Lincoln county had, after Jan. 1, 1910. The democrats present to you a most excellent ticket from top to bottom to be voted for at the November election and it will be elected by an overwhelming majority. The party is in good shape and ready to do battle with the "machine-made" candidates of the common enemy. Democrats, put your shoulder to the wheel, trust in the justice of your cause and your blessings will be bountiful in the end.

DANIEL BOONE ON THE TRAIL, which comes to Walton's Opera House one night only, Wednesday, Sept. 15, is a play conceived by both press and public to stand pre-eminent among all melodramatic productions of the season's offerings. Mr. Morris has spared neither pains nor money to make this production complete in every detail, the cast having been carefully selected and the scenery painted from photographic views taken in and around the mountains of Kentucky where the famous pioneer, Daniel Boone, spent his early days. A most realistic and thrilling scene is the great snow storm and Boone's fight for life with the ferocious wolves carried and used in this production. The scene being played back of a large net curtain carried by the company is alone a great expense and when the curtain falls on the climax many are heard to remark: "Was Boone hurt by the wolves?" Another feature is the introduction of Bounding Elk, a full blooded Sioux Indian and a direct descendant of the famous old warrior, Sitting Bull. He is a graduate of Yale and is the only real Indian actor to-day playing a responsible part with any dramatic production. The costume is historically correct and all in all the production of Daniel Boone on the Trail is without a doubt the best of all the season's melodramatic offerings.

Weak Kidneys surely point to weak kidney Nerves. The Kidneys, like the Heart, and the Stomach, find their weakness, not in the organ itself, but in the nerves that control and guide and strengthen them. Dr. Shoop's Restorative is a medicine specifically prepared to reach those controlling nerves. To doctor the Kidneys alone is futile. It is a waste of time, and of money as well.
