ORATORICAL CONTEST WAS GREAT

All Contestants Acquitted Themselves in Splendid Manner

AUDITORIUM WAS WELL PACKED

The Oratorical and Elocutionary Contest held in the school Auditorium last night was a splendid success. There were eight boys competing for the gold medal on oratory and four young ladies competing on elocution. It may be truthfully said that each of the contestants did well but some did a little better than others. The judges decided that Thos. Featherston was entitled to first honors in the boys contest and Miss Elizabeth Long in the young ladies, their subjects were "The Unknown Speaker" and "Dolores Defies the King." The judges were: Attorney J. D. Sory, of Madisonville, Prof. Miller and Prof. James, of Providence, the decision was reached in both cases on first ballot and met with universal approval. The pupils of Prof. Hammond Loving rendered some delightful music to the large and enthusiastic audience during the contest and they were rewarded with vigorous applause. The closing exercises of the school will be held Thursday night at Temple Theatre and a cordial invitation is extended to all who wish to attend.

Pioneer Citizen Gone

Dennie Bergen passed away Monday afternoon at the home of his stepdaughters Mrs. M. Gilfoy and Miss Sanie Victory. Mr. Bergen was probably one of the oldest citizens of this place, he came here while the railroad was being constructed and has been a resident since that time. He was somewhere near 80 years of age and has long been an employee of the St. Bernard Mining Co. Mr. Bergen was a member of the Catholic Church at this place. On account of the absence of Rev. McParland who is in Chicago, the funeral services were held by Rev. Lyuch, of Henderson, in the church of Immaculate Conception at 9 o'clock this morning and the interment took place at the catholic cemetery immediately afterwards in the presence of a number of friends and acquaintances.

Giving The Auto Credit

Set a man with an automobile down in any given spot surrounded by wonderful sights, just out of sight, and he will begin shouting for good roads. An average farmer can pull mud patiently with a team for indefinite years. But let him buy an automobile and he gets forward in good road civilization three generations in three months. A few years ago the call for good roads was confined to a few hoarse voices crying in the wilderness. They were calling to the farmers to prepare a way to get the grain to town. They might have been shouting to this day had not the town man bought an auto. Previous to this town auto the town man looked on the country roads question as he did on missions in China--strictly the other fellows business. It is different today. And the auto did it.--The Commercial West.

THE BEE'S ANNUAL GREEN RIVER CONTEST TRIP

Will Start Monday June 1st. and Close Monday August 10th. at 3 O'Clock P. M.--Will Send Six Ladies Free.

AND GIVE A $50.00 CHAMPION DROP HEAD SEWING MACHINE TO LEADER

The Semi-Weekly Bee will send six ladies from Hopkins County on a (5) days steamboat trip up Green and Barren Rivers Free. The party will leave Earlington on train 52 Thursday Aug. 13th in a special coach and will return on train 93 Sunday Aug. 16th. In addition to this we will give the party holding highest number of votes a $50 "drop head sewing machine" with full set of attachments. The Bee's annual Green River trips have become so popular and well known it is scarcely necessary to do anything but announce them. The beautiful scenery along both Green and Barren rivers have been thoroughly advertised every year and the large number of contestants who have won trips and friends who accompanied them have in turn told their friends of the pleasures and wonders of these trips until practically everyone in Hopkins County knows about them. This year we expect to have quite a large party and will charter the Steamer Bowling Green for this trip in order to have the entire boat exclusively for our party, should the number reach 60 or more. In the past we have been running only young ladies as contestants, but this year it will be free for all and any one between the ages of six and sixty may enter. Anyone wishing to take this trip with the winners may do so by paying $12.50, and this covers the cost of entire trip.

HOW TO ENTER CONTEST

As usual anyone wishing to enter this contest will fill in their name or the name of friend they wish to nominate in the Nominating Coupon and mail or bring it to this office. You will be entered with 1000 complimentary votes, and the standing of contestants will be published in each Friday's issue. All votes will be deposited in a locked box and a final count will be made by a committee of disinterested parties.

HOW TO GET VOTES

Five thousands votes will be given for every dollar turned in on subscription and 2000 for every dollar paid on job work or advertising. A coupon good for 500 votes will be printed in every issue of the paper and may be clipped from the paper and voted on or before date of expiration.

RULES OF CONTEST

- RULE 1.--Votes cannot be transferred after they are deposited in ballot box.
- RULE 2.--Any lady, young or old, who is a residence of Hopkins county may enter contest.
- RULE 3.--Any candidate may be rejected for cause.
- RULE 4.--Votes will not be issued except for cash paid on subscription, job printing, advertising or accounts.

MEM FROM HOPKINS AND WEBSTER ATTENDING PRACTICAL MINE SCHOOL

Taking Examination For Mine Foreman Certificates

A large number of practical miners from various parts of Kentucky are at Lexington taking the eight weeks' course in practical mining conducted under the direction of Prof. C. J. Norwood, State Mine Inspector, at the School of Mines, State University. All of the members of the class were taking the mine foreman examination yesterday. Those attending this class from Hopkins and Webster counties are as follows: Dell Bowles, Earlington; J. C. Cloren, Earlington; M. V. Gaddis, Providence; J. E. Leeper, Providence; W. B. Melton, Providence; J. C. Mills, Shamrock and William O'Brian, Mertons Gap.

In an interview at Frankfort Saturday, Prof. Norwood said modern mining methods and the new mining law in Kentucky require more technical knowledge on the part of a mine foreman and the special course is designed to meet this need.

BECKER AGAIN FOUND GUILTY

Jury Takes Five Ballots to Convict Former Police Officer of Murder

HIS ATTORNEY TO APPEAL

New York, May 24.--Twelve men decided Friday for the second time that Chas. Becker was the arch conspirator responsible for the Rosenthal murder, which nearly two years ago awoke New York to a realization of corruption in the police department and opened a new era of police reform.

Becker, once a police lieutenant, was found guilty of murder in the first degree. Only a pardon or interference again by the court of appeals, can save him from following to the electric chair the four gunmen who shot Herman Rosenthal, the gambler, early on the morning of July 16, 1912. The jury Friday decided that the gunmen were Becker's agents.

Accidents will happen, but the best regulated families keep Dr. Thomas' Kidney Oil for such uncertainties. Two sizes 25 and 50c at all stores.

PREMIUM CONTEST GETTING WARM

Contestants Working Like Beavers and Piling up the Votes.

MUCH INTEREST BEING DISPLAYED

The Grand Premium Contest is going some, all of the leading contestants are hard at work and the votes are piling up rapidly. There seems to be more real interest displayed in this contest than in any previous one. Possibly one reason is the large number of valuable premiums that are being given away on July 18th. Two pianos, a diamond ring, a $50.00 White sewing machine and a $50.00 gold watch are not picked up every day and some one will get these premiums free on the above date. Some of the contestants are complaining about their votes not being counted correctly, this makes no material difference, as there will be a final count by a disinterested committee at the close of the contest, and all errors will be rectified. The Semi Weekly Bee, still gives 2000 votes on subscription and 1000 on jobwork and advertising.

Child Cross? Feverish? Sick?

A cross, peevish, listless child, with coated tongue, pale, doesn't sleep; eats sometimes very little, then again ravenously; stomach sour; breath fetid; pains in stomach, with diarrhea; grinds teeth while asleep, and starts up with terror--all suggest a Worm Killer--something that expels worms, and almost every child has them. Kickapoo Worm Killer is needed. Get a box today. Start at once. You won't have to coax, as Kickapoo Worm Killer is a candy confection. Expels the worms, the cause of your child's trouble. 25c at your Druggists.

Evidently Had Hookworm

Jack Shanks, the well known contractor, of Madisonville, is responsible for the following. Jack claims while he was in the Greazy Creek neighborhood a few days since, he saw a farmer riding a horse and dropping corn with an umbrella over him. On being asked if it was not Uncle John Simms, otherwise known as the "Tall Sycamore of Greazy Creek," he said it looked like him but would not say positively.

"Tell It By The Bell"

SENATOR BRADLEY

"The Old Campaigner" Died Saturday Night After Short Illness

SENATE PAYS HIS MEMORY MARKED AND TEARFUL RESPECT

Frankfort, Ky., May 25.--An effort is being made here by the friends of the late Senator W. O. Bradley to secure the consent of the family for his body to lie in state in the old State Capitol tomorrow.

Washington, May 25.--The Senate of the United States is a cold, reserved body of elderly men, used to death and change. But the crepe that was draped over the vacant seat today of the Senator whom his colleagues knew as "the old campaigner" brought tears to their eyes. When Senator Ollie M. James arose to make his formal announcement he faced men who were much moved. For William O'Connell Bradley the dead senior Senator from Kentucky, was in Washington, as in Kentucky, one of the most popular men personally with an overwhelming majority of his associates.

Elevator men, pages, Capitol policemen, messengers and all the army of Senate servants mourned for him, too. Their faces were to be seen here and there, at gallery doors, at the portals of the Senate chamber and in the balconies.

Sketch of Senator Bradley

William O'Connell Bradley was born near Lancaster, Garrard county, March 18, 1847, being a son of R. M. Bradley and Ella (Totten) Bradley, the elder Bradley being a distinguished lawyer of his time. At 18 years of age W. O. Bradley began the practice of law at Lancaster. At that time the law provided that no one was eligible to practice the profession under 21 years of age. An appointment of the legislature was necessary in the case of young Bradley, and after undergoing an examination before two Circuit Judges he was found competent and granted his license and admitted to the bar.

In 1870 he was elected County Attorney of Garrard county; in 1872 he was Republican elector for the 8th Congressional district, and later he made the race for Congress as a Republican, but was defeated. In 1876 he again made an unsuccessful race for Congress in the Eighth district. He was four times chosen Republican National Committeeman for Kentucky, and went as Delegate-at-Large from Kentucky to five Republican National Conventions. Four times previous to this he was chosen as the Republican caucus nominee for United States Senator.

Losses for Governor--Then Wins

He made the race for Governor against Gen. Simon Boliver Buckner in 1887, being defeated by 17,000 majority, the preceding Democratic majority in the gubernatorial race being 47,000. He was appointed by President Harrison as United States Minister to Korea in 1889, but declined to accept the place. He also declined the appointment made by President Arthur as special attorney to prosecute the noted "Star Route" cases.

His successful race for governor was made in 1896 against Gen. P. Watt Hardin, the Democratic candidate, whom he defeated by a majority of about 9,000. Gov. Bradley served four years as chief executive of the State, and on his retirement went to Lancaster for a short while, going from there to Louisville where he was a resident for several years, and engaged in the practice of law. During his career as a lawyer, stretching over a period of 43 years, Gov. Bradley was connected with many celebrated cases in all the courts of the state and nation.

Noted Political Campaigners

He was noted as a political campaigner, and his services on the stump were given to his party in many states of the union. He was one of the 306 who at the Republican National Convention held in Chicago in 1880, voted for thirty-seven ballots for Gen. U. S. Grant for a third term of President. He seconded the nomination for Gen. Grant in that convention, and also officiated in a like capacity for Theodore Roosevelt, at the Republican National Convention held at Chicago in 1896.

Gov. Bradley was married in 1867 to Miss Margaret Robertson Duncanson of Lancaster. Two children were born to this union, a son, George Robertson Bradley, who died at the age of 24 years, and a daughter, Christine, who christened the battleship Kentucky, and married Dr. John G. South, of Frankfort.
