Tow HENRY, the mountain boy, has come out of his great controversy with certain Kentucky editors with his tail up.—Louisville Argus

The peppering he has received appears to have had a good effect.

Ir is reported on authority, said to be good, that Mary Anderson, is to marry the Duke of Portland. Mary should bring him to Louisville and make a Democrat

THE opening date of the Kentucky Association has been changed from May 15 to May 14, and the annual sale of the yearling thoroughbreds will be on the 13th, 14th and 15th. The Louisville races begin on the 16th.

Or the 10,746,254 gallons of whisky in bond in this, the Seventh District of Kentucky, on December 1st, 36,538 gallons were made during November. During the some month 161,841 gallons were withdrawn from bond, of which 7,983 were exported.

CHRISTMAS as an occasion for good cheer and the indulgence and interchange of kindly sentiments, has gained sway even where the sublime and simple faith on which it is founded has not. Hence the importance of the part our stores take in the festivities of these holidays. Washington Irving's quaint Knickerbocker theory that the stomach was the seat of the human soul thus finds some measure of verification, and the prevailing spirit of Christmas cheer is rightly expected to quicken the charities of all, and to tighten the chords of universal human brotherhood.

FRED the birds this cold dreary weather, especially when we have snow upon the ground. They can get little or no food order for high priced whiskies under two ground. They can get little or no food and therefore perish. Their plumage is handsome, and in the warm months of the year they give us sweet music. They are valuable in a dollars and cents point of view. They destroy the worms and insects which destroy our fruit, grain and vegetables, Many complain because they eat the fruit and grain. They are entitled to it, and it is an ascertained fact that for every dollar's worth of fruit and grain they take, at least five dollar's worth is saved to the owner. Take a small paper tray, such as the grocers have, put it in a tree or nail on top of a post six or eight feet from the ground, tie a few osage orange or other thorn bushes around the post to keep the cats off (cats have a horror of thorns). Let the distance be twenty feet or so in the rear of the kitchen, and give the birds some scraps from the table once or twice every day. It is but little trouble and no expense. If the birds could talk they would thank you for the kind act.

THE Philadelphia Press in an article on the subject of caring for pauper children says: If we are to prevent the in color. growth of a class which will always be a burden upon the more fortunate of the present and future generations, pauper children must be taught not only the commonest and cheapest forms of labor, but the hand or brain must be trained until the pauper child has at least an equal start in life in this respect with dren who are not paupers. In the average private family the poor-house child is hardly likely to gather enough information by snatches to overbalance the depressing knowledge of the fact that he is a pauper. The training with which the pauper child should have he can hardly acquire outside of an industrial school, and the establishment of industrial schools in the counties, while more expensive at the outstart, would in the in end prove more economical than permitting the pauper children to grow as Topsy did, to increase the class of criminals or to relapse into a state of vagabondage and worthlessness.

The Local Paper.

The Chicago Tribune, one of the lead-ing papers of the west, tells a great deal of truth in a few words in the following

What tells so readily the standard of a town or city as the appearance of its paper? And its youth or its age can as well be determined as by a personal notice. The enterprise of its citizens is depicted by its advertisements, their liberality by the looks of the people. Some papers show a good, solid, healthy foundation, piethoric purse, a well-to-do appearance generally; others show a striv-ing to contend with the grasping thousands around them, trying to wrench out an existence from the close-fisted community around them. An occasional meteoric display in its columns show what it can do if it had the means, but it cannot continue its expensive work until support comes which ought to readily be granted.

A newspaper is like a church; it wants fostering; then it can reflect credit on its location. Take your home paper. It gives you more news of immediate interest than New York or other papers; it talks to you when other papers belie you; it stands up for your rights; you always have a champion in your home paper, and those who stand up for you should certainly be well sustained. Your interests are kindred and equal, and you must rise or fall together. Therefore it is to your intesest to support your home pa-paper; not grudgingly, but in liberal spirit; as a pleasure, not as a disagreea-ble duty; but as an investment that will amply pay the expenses.

THE POTATO AND THE ONION.

The potato went out on a mash,
And sought an onion bod;
"That's pie for me!" observed the squash,
As all the beets turned red.
"Go away!" the onion, weeping cried:
"Your love, I cannot be;
The pumpkin be your lawful bride;
You cantelope with me!"

But on ward still the tuber came, And laid down at her feet; "You caul flower by any name, And it will smell as wheat; And I, too, am an early rose,
And you I've come to see;
So don't turnip your lovely nose,
But spinachat with me!"

"I do not carrot all to wed:

Bo go, sir, if you please!"
The modest maiden meekly said,
"And lettuce, pray, have pease;
Go think that you have never seen
Myself or smelled my sigh!
Too long a maiden I have been
For favors in your rye?"

"Ah spare a cuss!" the tuber prayed:

"My cherryshed bride you'll be!
You are the only weeping mid
That's carrent now with me!"
And as the willy tuber spoke
He caught her by surprise,
And giving her an artichoke,
Devoured her with his eyes,

The Girls Who Marry Titles.

New York World. American girls who marry foreign adventurers are much in the same position as men who buy mining claims with their eyes shut. They must trust to luck for the yield and sometimes for the title, and they ought not to be surprised if they get dirt instead of gold dust and pieces of stone in place of nuggets. A mine worth owning is never sold for never makes a market of his title. But when a fool with money buys a mine in the dark he has no right to grumble if he finds himself swindled. When a girl solls herself for the sake of wearing a flimsy handle to her name, she ought not to cry if she finds hersel wedded to a worthless vagabond. For Philadelphia Call. A whisky salesman from Kentucky called on a Market street dealer with a view to selling him a bill of liquors.

"I am glad to see you," said the dealer to the agent from Kentucky. "I am Silk Mufflers getting low on fine grades, and I wish you would have a few barrels shipped at once by express."

"I am afraid you will have to wait a short time," said the salesman. "I hate

Terrible Accident at Denver.

DENVER, Col., Dec. 23 .- A heart-rending accident happened in the switch yard of the Burlington Road. A number of boys, while crossing the yard on returning from school, made an attempt to pass between two sections of a freight train, which were coming together. The leading boys got through all right, but the ones who blind-ly followed their leaders were caught. George Miller, a six-year-old son of John Miller, who lived near by, had his head caught between the two bumpers, almost crushing it from the body. The oth r boys were more lucky and succeeded in scrambling out from under the cars. The train men observed the boys when it was too late, but the engineer stopped the cars just as the bumpers met, which was the means of saving some of the boys' lives.

A Bachelor Takes His Own Life. GALENA, Ill., Dec. 28.-Jack Stanley, a single man, and well-known hunter of Southern Wisconsin, residing at Bloomington, is dead, having taken his own life by shooting himself through the temple with a revolver Stanley was missed from his usual rounds by his friends, who suspected he had gone hunting. Later his bachelor quarters were searched and he was found lying dead in his bed, with his hands crossed over his breast and a pistol in his under hand. He had shot himself in the temple, the ball passing clear through and out the other side of his head. The deceased was the possessor of large property in bonds and real estate, and owned a valuable drove of cattle at the time of his death. He has been afflicted with melancholy of late, from some unexplainable

Durham, Ia., March 2, 1882.

"Fight years ago I had an attack of Rheumatism so severe that I could not move from the bed, or dress, without help. I tried several remedies without much if any relief, until I took AYER'S SABSAPARILLA, by the use of two bottles of which I was completely cured. I have not been troubled with the Rheumatism since. Have sold large quantities of your SARSAPARILLA, and it still retains its wonderful popularity. The many notable cures it has effected in this vicinity convince me that it is the best blood medicine ever effered to the public.

E. F. Harris."
River St., Buckland, Mass., May 13, 1882.

"Last March I was so weak from general de-bility that I could not walk without help. Fol-lowing the advice of a friend, I commenced taking AVER'S SARSAPARILLA, and before I had used three bottles I felt as well as I ever did in my life. I have been at work now for two months, and think your SARSAPARILLA the greatest blood medicine in the world. JAMES MAYNARD." 520 West 42d St., New York, July 19, 1882.
