SOCIETY

Hampton—Moore

Mr. W. C. Hampton, of this city, and Miss Fannie Moore, of Mt. Sterling, were quietly married in the parlors of the Calvary Baptist church, at Lexington by the pastor, Rev. T. C. Eeton, on Thursday afternoon at 5 o'clock.

Mr. Hampton is a son of Mr. Jas. M. Hampton, of this city, and has been actively engaged in insurance work of various kinds for a number of years.

The bride is the attractive and accomplished daughter of Mrs. Phoebe A. Moore, of Mt. Sterling.

The happy couple will spend a few days in Lexington and Georgetown, after which they will be at home to their many friends at 210 West Broadway, this city.

Delightful Dinner

A very enjoyable birthday dinner was given at Lock No. 10, at Ford, by Mrs. John A. Walters, assisted by Mrs. Ross, in honor of the 35th anniversary of the birth of Mr. Walters.

The table was beautifully decorated and the participants, numbering more than twenty of his friends and relatives did ample justice to the choice viands that were displayed in the most approved form to tempt their palates.

After dinner some of the latest vaudeville songs and musical selections were rendered, and the delighted guests, departed, after wishing Mr. Walters many happy returns of the day.

Several nice presents were received by the honor guest.

Christopher-Crow

John Christopher and Loula Crow both of Clark-county, were married in the office of the County Clerk's Saturday morning.

Unique Social

A unique party was given by the Philaetha Class of the Central Baptist church, on Friday evening.

Each guest had been requested to bring a lemon and a few pennies.

For every seed in each lemon, a penny was donated towards the furnishing of a room in the new church. This feature caused a great deal of amusement, some of the lemons contained only one seed and others having as many as twenty or even more.

A number of games were played, and the hours passed without the knowledge of the merry-makers.

Dainty sandwiches and delicious coffee were served.

The "lemon" scheme and the candy table realized a nice sum for

STATISTICS.

Washington, Jan. 26.—More males than females, more married people than single, more infants than adults, died during the year 1910, according to the death statistics gathered by the Census Bureau in its registration area, containing a little more than half the continental population of the United States.

Infant mortality occasioned by a variety of children's ailments as usual was most conspicuous in the figures. Of the 805,412 deaths registered for 1910, 365,674 were single, 276,694 married, 149,846 widowed, 4,380 divorced and 8,818 "of unknown or unstated conjugal conditions." Among the single are included children below the age of marriage. The total number of males was 439,757 and 365,655 females.

Classified by color 753,308 deaths of white persons, 49,499 negroes, 1,055 Chinese, 886 Indians and 664 Japanese. The maximum death rate was reached in March, and the minimum in June.

Tuberculosis in different forms claimed 86,309 persons, or 4,474 more than in 1909. This increase was said to be due to the increased area now covered by the Census Bureau, since the death rate per 100,000 population for 1910 was slightly less than that of the previous year.

NOW THE TURKEY TROT ENTERS GRAND OPERA

Enrico Caruso Makes It a Striking Feature of Puccini's Mining Camp Work.—The Audience Interested

(From New York Times)

Little did Giacomo Puccini know what was coming to him when he conceived the brilliant idea of putting a waltz in the first act of "The Girl of the Golden West." He may have known that Mr. Caruso would surely impersonate Johnson, but did he realize that the famous tenor was far more iconoclastic than himself in matters of time and fashion? If he had been present at the performance of the opera last evening, he would have seen the great singer introduce a startling innovation among the fashions of the Forty-niners.

At the end of a certain episode in the first act Johnson and Minnie waltz from the stage into the dance hall while the miners sing the music Mr. Caruso never was a graceful waltzer. He always lumbered. But last night the audience sat up and stared. What was this! The humped shoulders, the bowed back the sidling sway, the magic embrace—it was, it was—yes—the turkey trot!

From California it came. To California it was returned. Caruso and Destinn were the trotters. For the first time on any stage in genuine bona fide grand opera the turkey trot. Will it be permanent? Has it come to stay? And if so, can it not be forever preserved to countless future generations by moving picture films? Ah, oh, horror! will the police or the Alderman try to stop it?

Anyhow last night's audience saw it. There was no grizzly bear or bunny hug about it. It was just the old original trot, and when Emmy Destinn discovered what Caruso was up to she joined in with both feet and made the thing a perfect success. These two great artists have added new laurels to their crowns. They now do the biggest song and dance act before this public. If the trot does not give new life to "The Girl," a good many people will miss their guess.

Sheriff Rance Amato did not seem to like the new deal. It was bad enough to see a whiskey and water drinker come into camp and get a shine on the buly girl right off the bat, but to see him in less than ten minutes after the meeting lead her into the guleful mazes of the trot—well, that was too much altogether. After that Rance slid away into the background like a scolding jack-rabbit. There were some other singers in the cast too, Dan Gilly, with the midway name and the Harry Howard shirt, but he held no cards. No one was in it. There was nothing to it but the Caruso turkey trot. Let Maurice look to it. His fame is in danger.

POLICE ARE INVESTIGATING

Death of Woman Who Was Found Lifeless in Philadelphia—Circumstances of Hand-Writing Are Peculiar.

Philadelphia, Jan. 26.—The police of this city are investigating the circumstances surrounding the case of Mrs. Edith Marvel, 28 years old, a trained nurse, who was found dead in her home Thursday with a bullet in her head.

There are signs of suicide. A note found near the body stated that her husband had lost his affection for her, and that he was now at liberty to bestow them upon another woman.

Another note stated that her husband was not responsible.

William Marvel, the husband, who is 48 years old and also a trained nurse, has been detained by the police as a witness to await the action of the coroner. The police say they are not satisfied with the handwriting in the notes.

Marvel was put to a severe examination by the police, but it is reported that they were unable to learn anything further than what was shown at the hearing Thursday morning. A letter, addressed to Mrs. D. R. Trimble, Pittsburg, Pa., was found in the woman's room. It is supposed to have been addressed by her, but the handwriting differs greatly from that of the two notes.

Charles Daham, Lovington, Ill., has succeeded in finding a positive cure for bed wetting. "My little boy wet the bed every night clear thro' on the floor. I tried several kinds of kidney medicine and I was in the drug store looking for something different to help him when I heard of Foley's Kidney Pills. After he had taken them two days we could see a change and when he had taken two-thirds of a bottle he was cured. That is about six weeks ago and he has not wet in bed since."
